Springer Brothers

We take pleasure in announcing the completion of our extensive alterations, giving us nearly three times the floor space on Washington street in which to exhibit our magnificent display of fashionable cloaks. In capes we have one of the choicest assortments ever shown—over two hundred styles from which to select. We especially invite all ladies to examine our unmatchable collection of tailor-made street costumes, suits and separate dress skirts, also bicycle and outing suits. In coats our line is complete with all the latest novelties. Misses' and young ladies' reefers, very stylish—shirt waists in an endless variety.

As we manufacture and import largely, many choice and exclusive styles can be found in our store not shown elsewhere.

We wish to impress upon the public that fashionable, first-class, well-made garments can be purchased of our house as low, if not lower, than at any other place.

We have also added to our stock a line of high-grade Bicycles for Ladies and Gentlemen. Price $75.00.

NEWTON.

—Pianos, Farley, 433 Washington St., N.

—Patrolman B. F. Burke has been detailed for night work at Newton.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Crowell have returned from their trip through the South and West.

—Miss Mary Worden is visiting her parents at their home on Pearl street, during the Easter vacation.

—Fine watch and clock repairing at A. Hodgdon's, 326 Centre street, Frontis block.

—Mrs. E. H. Hames of Walnut Park has returned from Clifton Springs, somewhat improved in health.

—Miss Marguerite Crowell of Hunnewell Hill is expected home this week from her school in New York.

—The theatre bill boards opposite the depot have been removed by their owner, James McDonald.

—The annual meeting of Grace church as an incorporated parish will be held at 7.30 p. m., Monday, April 6th.

—Mrs. John B. Goodrich arrived home from Europe on Tuesday. Mr. Wallace Goodrich will not return until June.

—Watch, clock and jewelry repairing, clock called for and delivered. All work guaranteed. Theo. L. Mason, Eliot block.

—The work of excavating the cellar for the new block, corner of Centre street and Centre place, began on Monday morning.

—Big gymnastic entertainment in St. John's hall, Eliot block, next Monday evening. Admission 35 cents. Reserved seats 50 cents.

—Miss Oliver should have a fine audience at her recitals from the Bonnie Brier Bush next Wednesday evening at the Episcopal church, Newtonville. See adv.

—Mr. T. J. Hartnett has removed his plumbing shop to his house at 5 Fayette street, owing to the clearing out of Howes' block, and orders can be sent there, or a postal addressed to box 361 Newton P. O. will receive prompt attention.

—The next meeting of the Social Science Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Sawyer, Bellevue street, at 10 o'clock, Wednesday, April 8. Mrs. Ada Spaulding will read a paper on "A Retrospect." Guests may be invited.

—Easter will be observed by Immanuel church as follows: Morning, sermon by Rev. G. E. Merritt, D. D., at 8.30 a. m. in the chapel, the first celebration of the holy communion; at 10.45 a. m., the full morning service with sermon; at 12, the second celebration of the holy communion; at 3.30 p. m. the young people's service, including carol singing. At 7.30 p. m. the evening service with sermon.

—The Good Friday union service will be held this evening in the Eliot church at 7.30 o'clock. The singing will be led by the choir of the Methodist church. The devotional services will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Shinn, and addresses made by Dr. Merrill, Dr. H. Hornbrook.

—Services will be held in Grace church Easter Sunday as follows: 8.30 a. m. in the chapel, the first celebration of the holy communion; at 10.45 a. m., the full morning service with sermon; at 12, the second celebration of the holy communion; at 3.30 p. m. the young people's service, including carol singing. At 7.30 p. m. the evening service with sermon.

—An electric car on the Newtonville & Watertown railway ran into an express team owned and driven by Thomas Nally, on Watertown street, Saturday afternoon. The wagon was smashed. Bystanders say the motorman was running at a high rate of speed and did not ring his gong. Nally drove from behind a blacksmith's shop and was crossing the track near a curve when struck by the car. A case of beer and ale, labelled for West Newton, was broken. Patrick O'Brien, riding with Nally, received injury to his legs.

—Since the recent bold burglary in Eliot block in early February, store keepers in this vicinity have been much more cautious in caring for money or valuables left in their safe. One evening last week a store keeper was busily engaged in looking over his profit and loss account, long after business hours, when suddenly he heard a loud noise which sounded like an explosion. Fears of burglars attempting to blow open the safe before his own eyes, flashed across his mind and he started out to find a policeman. The officer began a thorough search for the alleged thieves and found a guilty can of corn which had been blown up.

—A special Easter service will be held in Eliot lower hall, next Sunday at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Society. The topic of the pastor's morning sermon will be "The First Lord's Day," and the following musical selections will be rendered: "Christ is risen," Bruche; "Approach and Behold," May; "Easter Day," Kowley. The Epworth League will hold its meeting at 6.30 p. m., and at 7 o'clock a Sunday school concert will be held under the leadership of Mrs. G. W. Barber, Hugh Campbell, director. An Easter cantata, "Festal Chimes" will be given and a solo entitled "Christ is Risen," by Sudds, with violin and piano accompaniment, will be sung.

—Mr. Edmund E. Blake of Hollis street returned this week from a recent business trip in the South.

—Prof. George K. Morris of Wesley street lectured at the conference held in New York this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barber, formerly of Roxbury, are occupying their new home on Newtonville avenue.

—Mr. Henry Crowell and Mr. J. Irving Gilbert are soon to leave for a trip to the latter's home in the West.

—Prof. Rishell of Newtonville avenue led the meeting of the Epworth League at Eliot lower hall last Sunday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. James W. French and Miss Margaret French of Hunnewell Hill are absent in Washington for a couple of weeks.

—Rev. C. E. Spaulding of East Cambridge preached at the meeting of the Methodist society held in Eliot lower hall last Sunday morning.

—The ladies of the Social Science Club desire to express their thanks to all those who assisted in the way of money and Nonantum Industrial school fund.

—Only a slim crowd witnessed the removing of the St. James street bridge Sunday. The work was done very skillfully and occupied nearly the whole day.

—Miss Stella M. Field is visiting Mr. Andrew S. March of Park street. Miss Clara D. March will return to New York with her next week.

—Miss Harvey of the Wesleyan Home spoke before a meeting of a Woman's Missionary Society held at the residence of Mrs. Silas Pierce on Columbus avenue, Boston, Wednesday afternoon.

—The annual dinner of the Newton Bicycle Club will be held at the United States Hotel, Saturday, the 11th inst. The leading league officials and officers of the leading cycling associations have been invited.

—Mr. D. B. Kileup and family have purchased a home in the Province, and will soon remove there. Judson Kileup, who has been a clerk for G. P. Atkins for some time, will leave his position to go with them.

—Residents on the north side and other pedestrians who patronize the tunnel have good reason for complaining. The railroad has piled a large mound of earth in the centre of the alley, which, when softened by the rain, Thursday, made the walking horrible.

—Wednesday morning a small boy disappeared, a key - lead for $4 which was the property of a local expressman, to a rag merchant, saying that he had been told to sell it by his mother. A police officer was notified, who after investigating the case, found the money, and the lead to the proper owner. The expressman did not push the case but warned the boy against doing it again.

—Ward Seven has the candy table of the Hahnemann (Homoeopathic) Festival on Wednesday, Apr. 8th, and many of our young ladies are interesting themselves in it. Miss Miriam Townbridge is chairman of a committee consisting of the following names: Misses Peck, Emily Cooter, Bessie Holmes, Ida Barker, Bessie Hood, Jessie Nelson, May Fane, Florence Elms, K. Van Voorhis, the Misses Evans, Loring and Coppins. Mrs. F. D. Adams and Mrs. Townbridge are the matrons for Wednesday.

—Wards One and Seven (together with Newtonville) have charge of the Hahnemann Festival on Monday next. All articles intended for these tables should be sent to the committee as early as possible, not later than Saturday, Apr. 4th. The committee consists of the following ladies: Clara Whitman Reed, M. D., Mrs. J. F. Bothfield, Mrs. E. P. Ellison, Mrs. H. M. Bates, Mrs. W. O. Townbridge, Mrs. G. O. North, Mrs. Stephen Moore, Mrs. Hiram Leonard, Mrs. F. D. Adams, Mrs. J. D. Barrows, Mrs. J. A. Conkey and Mrs. E. M. Springer, chairman.

—Miss Martha A. Saunders died quite suddenly at her home with Mrs. Daniels, a Washington street, Wednesday afternoon. She had been in failing health all winter, but no immediate danger was apprehended. The sad news was a great surprise to her many friends, as she was well and was greatly interested in the work which she was doing. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her death was a great loss to her family and to the church.

—The funeral service will be held at Grace church at 1 o'clock on Saturday, the vessel, choir will sing, and Rev. Dr. Shinn will be assisted by Rev. Mr. Fales of Waltham.

The interment will be in the family lot at Mt. Auburn.

—The Methodist Episcopal society netted about $200. from the Old Folks concert recently given in Eliot hall.

—Mr. Henry C. Daniels has commenced the work of his new residence on Washington street opposite Park street.

—Everything up to date at new barber shop opened by Frank T. Feled, at 66 Elmwood street, stylish hair cutting by three first class barbers.

—Mrs. Frank H. Howes of Billings park has sent out invitations for a dance in honor of her daughter on Monday evening, April 6, from 7.30 to 11.

—Mr. John C. Chaffin and family are expected to return from California today. Miss Mary Chaffin stopped over in St. Louis, where she will remain for some weeks.

—Among the guests at the dinner of the Middlesex Club, held at Young's Hotel, Boston, Saturday last week, were Judge Kennedy and Col. D. W. Farquhar.

—The house belonging to John Flood, has been sold to John F. Griffin, who will remove it to vacant land owned by him on the corner of Waban and Thornton streets.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells Hall will observe the 25th anniversary of their marriage by a reception, on the evening of April 13th, at their residence on Waverley avenue.

—At the quarterly conference and official board meeting of the Methodist Episcopal society held last Tuesday evening, the same board of trustees were elected for another year.

—In the last issue of "The Union Signal," the official organ of the W. C. T. U., a very appreciative notice appeared regarding Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson of W. C. T. U.

—Those who attended the fourth district Y. M. C. A. conference at Franklin last Saturday and Sunday were F. M. Norton, D. J. McNeel, Geo. H. Safford and P. F. Parker.

—Miss Emily Stanley of Franklin street has been entertaining Miss Moore and Miss Engles of Wellesley College, and Miss Moody of Auburn. Mr. and Mrs. Gross have returned from the Easter vacation.

—The Boston chapter of the Mayflower descendants contains two Newton men, Chas. Peter Clark, Jr., through Elder Brewster, and Marcus Morton, through Gov. Wm. Bradford.

—Mr. Wm. Lloyd Garrison will read a paper this evening, at eight o'clock, at the dinner of the Hill Club, subject, "The Problem of the Unemployed." He will also speak on the "Single Tax."

—Messrs. Stephen Moore of Newton and Chas. A. Vinal and Stephen Greene of Newton Centre were elected, Monday night, on the committee on Christian Work of the Boston Baptist Society.

—At a special meeting of the Newton board of health, held at the clubhouse at Riverside, last Friday evening, a nominating committee was appointed to report a list of officers at the annual meeting, and it was voted to incorporate the club.

—Notices have been posted at the different points where workmen are engaged in depressing the tracks, warning people that they must not walk or loiter on the tracks. Engineers will now have better security.

—The police patrol wagon, which has been held at the clubhouse at Riverside, and being re-varnished, has appeared again with a heavy canvas top, partially lined with wood, painted black. The top will make the load 500 pounds heavier for the horses, but is a great improvement.

—A very successful Musical and Tea in aid of the Summer Industrial school was given at the residence of Mrs. Charles W. Loring on Park street last Monday afternoon, at which society was well represented. Several well known musicians took part and helped make the afternoon an enjoyable one.

—Atwood & Prescott opened up April 1st in their new store on Centre place, and have one of the neatest and handsomest stores in the city. It is said they have decided to remain there until September 1st, when they will move to the stores occupied by Arthur Hudson and A. J. Gordon, in Warner's block.

—The third anniversary of the Garden City Lodge, 7191, I. O. O. F., was observed last Friday evening with a social and dance at Cole's hall. There were about 100 couples on the floor, which was in charge of Mr. Ingram Bishop, with Mr. William Walke as assistant and Messrs. Archie Wagstaff, Henry Urquhart, N. H. Matson, C. White, Al x. Ogg and F. Reid as aids.

—"Easter Thoughts" will be the subject of the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building, held at 8 o'clock, with crayon sketches by the General Secretary. Synopsis: 1—The stone rolled away; 2—Why seek the living among the dead? 3—He is risen; 4—The walk to Emmaus; 5—All new is given from heaven and in earth; 6—Blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed.

—The evening of readings and music to be given by Mrs. Walter Stearns and the Treble Clef Quartet, will take place at the parlors of Channing church on Tuesday evening, April 14th, instead of Monday evening, as announced in last week's edition. It promises to be a most successful affair. The subscription list already comprises a hundred names of representative Newton people. A large number of the young set will be present to assist at the tea. The ladies are requested to remove their bonnets and, it is hoped, all will remain to enjoy a social time at the close.

—The Monday Evening Club met this week at the residence of Mr. George T. Coppins, Centre street. There was an unusually large attendance of members and invited guests; among the latter Mayor Cobb, Alderman Degen, S. L. Powers and others. Instead of the usual five minutes talk, from eight to nine followed by the essay of the evening, the practical and interesting question, "Should Street Railway Companies be Compelled to Compensate," was the theme for discussion. Dr. E. Frisbie presided and promptly called the club to order at eight o'clock. Mr. G. D. Gilman opened the discussion in favor of such taxation, presenting a strong array of facts, figures and reasons, and concluding with extracts from various reports and publications in support of his position. Mr. S. L. Powers was the next speaker in opposition to such tax. He made a strong and able plea for that side of the question. However, there was an audible smile in the room when it was told sub voce that he had said he could talk on the other side just as well. This remark can well be appreciated by those who know how readily and easily Mr. Powers can think and talk on his feet, a rare accomplishment. Other speakers followed till nearly every one had taken part. It was a most interesting discussion and many valuable points were brought out. It is really to be regretted that a full report of the meeting could not be published. As touching the lively interest in the subject the gentlemen seemed reluctant to close the discussion and retreat to the dining room where refreshments were announced. Somewhat past the usual hour the company assembled around the well laden table and proceeded from labor to refreshment, enjoyed the good things prepared by the genial host.

—Mr. and Mrs. Odin Fritz are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—Stylish Easter hair cut at Burns' Cole's block. Three barbers, no waiting.

—Buy your Easter eggs of G. P. Atkins. He is selling 7 dozen for $1. Every egg warranted fresh.

—Mrs. C. J. Emery of Jewett street has returned home from Florida and the Bahamas, where with friends she has spent several weeks.

—Everything up to date at new barber shop opened by Frank T. Feled, at 66 Elmwood street, stylish hair cutting by three first class barbers.

—Mrs. P. H. Robinson read a paper on "Social Work" at 4th District Conference of Y. M. C. A. Auxiliaries, held in South Framingham last week.

—Work will begin on the tearing down a portion of Cole's block about the middle of May according to the orders given to the tenants who are affected by the change.

—The civil service examiners will hold an examination on April 13 for vacancies in the police department. The purpose is to fill out the list of eligibles, as it is almost exhausted.

—Ground was broken on Wednesday for the new block on the Tremble land and a large force of men and teams are at work. The old house is being removed to the rear of the lot.

—The city sheds and stables and the rear of Sumner's block are now pretty much cleared away, to make room for the extra railroad track to be laid as soon as the ground is levelled.

—Mr. J. J. Johnson has purchased Mr. Currier's house on Waverley avenue, formerly occupied by Mr. Simmons. Mr. Johnson's house on St. James street has been bought by Mr. Livermore, who is moving it to his vacant lot on Orchard street.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Baker have sent out cards for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Katherine Francis, to Mr. Stephen Matherson, Jr., on April 14th, at 12 o'clock, at the New Old South church, Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Matherson will be at home to their friends, on May 5th and 12th, from 8 to 10 p. m., at 21 Cumberland street, Boston.

—Among those gentlemen especially invited to attend the Monday Evening Club this week were Mayor Cobb, Alderman Degen, Alderman Noyes, Councilman Wing and Councilman Bailey. As the subject for discussion that evening was "Should Street Railway Companies be Compelled to Compensate City Franchises," will probably come up before the city government for its action it was thought advisable to invite these gentlemen to participate in the discussion.

—Jackson Hayes, a colored man who was known to most of the residents of this part of the city, died at the Newton Hospital last Saturday, and the funeral was held from his home on Adams street on Tuesday. He was born a slave at Culpeper, Va., and served during the war as body servant for his master. Soon after the war he came to Newton and has been a flagman at the railroad crossing, taking care of furnaces, and doing anything that came handy. He did not know his exact age, but says he has been seventy years old. His wife died just a year ago, and he leaves four children.

—Mr. Frank L. Gross, of the firm of Moore, Smith & Co., wholesale hatlers, died at his home on Church street, Thursday morning, after an illness of some months of an affection of the heart. Mr. Gross was born at New Gloucester, Me., in 1847, where his aged parents still reside. Twenty-six years ago he entered the service of the firm in which after a few years he became a partner, and was well known and highly esteemed in business circles. He was a man of kind and generous nature, of most exemplary character, and greatly beloved by his friends and associates. He leaves a widow, daughter of the late Deacon Ebenezer Woodward of Newton, but no children. His brother, George P. Gross, resides in this city, and two other brothers are in business in New York and Chicago. Funeral services will be held at his residence on Church street, on Sunday at 3 p. m.

EASTER BONNETS.

The Juvenes on Elmwood street has been the great attraction for ladies this week, as the annual spring opening began on Wednesday and continued through the week. Before 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning the ladies were on hand, and one crowd has succeeded another, the great majority of them being buyers, which is an excellent tribute to the taste of Miss Robbins and her assistants. That this is to be a flower season is shown by the multitude of flowers which line the walls of the store, roses, violets, hyacinths, and many varieties that can not be classified by botanists, but are of every shade of color. This is to be a gay season for bonnets, and flowers are seen on every hat, and sometimes seem to comprise the whole of the bonnet. Tulle is all the rage, also, and some of the hats have yards of it bunched high on the back of the hat. Poppies are the favorite flower, some of them being seven inches in diameter. Pom-pom hats of white ecru give an airy effect to the hats, and the ornaments are of the most dazzling character, imitating almost every kind of precious stones, diamonds, sapphires, pearls and rubies. Fancy straws are in great favor, and come in all colors, violet tints being the favorite, and yellow straw combined with the same shade of flowers are used on many hats. Some tasteful black hats were shown, made striking by feathers, jet and other ornaments. The picture hats are to be again in favor, and a beautiful plum leghorn, trimmed with long white plumes and tulle was shown. A very striking hat was made on a large lace frame, trimmed with quantities of jeweled and spangled bands.

Another charming and very fashionable novelty shown was the Marie Antoinette hat, which is one of the favorite styles. The variety shown was so great that every taste could be suited, and in spite of the large preparation made for the opening, so many were sold that the stock had to be replenished every day. The opening will continue to-morrow.

NEW STREET RAILWAY.

THE COMMONWEALTH AVENUE LINE OPENED FOR BUSINESS.

The Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway began running regular cars last Saturday, one every half hour, from Auburn street to Lake street in Brighton, and the cars will be increased as patronage demands.

There is no railroad around Boston that runs through a more attractive stretch of country, with more beautiful and extended views, and this in itself will attract a large number of patrons, especially in the summer season. When the line is extended to Charles River, and the West End lays its tracks to connect with the Reservoir end of the road, the business will be largely increased.

Last Saturday at 3 o'clock, a special car was waiting at Newtonville, to convey a large number of prominent railroad officials, representatives of the city council and directors of the company, over the road, to inspect the road bed, and equipments of the road.

The company filled the handsome car, and reached the boulevard by way of Walnut street, whence a turn was made towards the Boston end of the road, now at Lake street, Brighton, along side of the reservoir. Boston is at work on the extension of Commonwealth avenue across the reservoir grounds, and when this street is completed, the West End will lay a connection with the Newton road, giving Newton patrons a direct line to Boston. The transfer will be made under shelter, and this will be a popular route for visitors to Boston. Until the West End tracks are laid, connection with the Chestnut Hill terminus is made by barges.

The guests spent a short time looking over this end of the line, and the car then started back up the hill, from the summit of which is one of the most beautiful views to be found in the vicinity of Boston. On a clear day Mt. Wachusett can be seen, and a wide stretch of country including the hills in Waltham and the line of hills beyond. The car had no difficulty in mounting the grades along the avenue, and the four and one half miles to Auburn street in Auburndale were soon covered. The beautiful country all along the route was commented on by the party, as it comprises the most desirable sites for houses in Newton, which is saying a good deal.

The smoothness and solidity of the road bed was highly praised, and showed that the directors had not spared expense in its construction. The rails are laid in a space between the two roads on the avenue, some 30 feet wide, which is to be grassed over, and trees have been planted on either side, so that it will be very attractive in summer.

Returning to Washington street, through the courtesy of the Wellesley & Boston and the Wellesley & Natick roads, a clear track was given to a point beyond Wellesley College, the quick run being much enjoyed. Returning, the car ran back to the Newton Clubhouse, and the three hours trip in the sharp air made the lunch that was served in the Clubhouse very acceptable.

The road is equipped with five box cars of twenty-five horse power and seven open cars of thirty horse power. Opportunity was given to inspect the workings of the car which were carefully explained by President A. D. Claffin and Superintendent McLain.

The guests of the company on the trip were Mayor Cobb, Aldermen Dagen, Green, Downes, Tolman and Allen, City Clerk Isaac F. Kingsbury, Chief of Police Chas. Richardson, Superintendent of Streets Ross, Mr. Harrison Harwood, president of the Newton & Boston Street Railway, Treasurer Richardson of the same company, Austin R. Mitchell, President Coffin of the Newton Street Railway, Mr. Frederick Cutler of Newtonville, Mr. A. D. S. Bell of Boston, Mr. Moses Richardson of Boston, Mr. Charles H. Richardson, treasurer of the new company, President A. D. Claffin, Mr. E. W. Pope, Mr. N. B. Phillips, Mr. Samuel Harwood, Mr. A. D. Chandler of the Brookline street railway and others.

All Looking for Wheels.

Wheels are the great topic of the day and now that weather fit for riding has come every bicycle agent in Newton is surrounded by a cluster of interested people, all on the lookout for the best wheel. Every agent has it, of course, and while some are easily convinced of this, there are others, alas for the agents, who are not so easily won over. Prices range from $50 up to $110, and while some of the well known makers have only one price and agents are under bonds to keep to it, others are more flexible, and bargains are reported on all sides. The number of new wheels is endless, all having or claiming some special excellence, and would-be buyers are apt to get their minds unsettled, if they visit too many agents, and some solve the problem by "tossing up," and are probably just as well satisfied, in most cases, as those who try to make a more conscientious decision. The great thing is to get a wheel and ride it.

Some are so constituted that the mere fact that they have bought a wheel settles the question that that is the best, and others are more unfortunate and settle the question the other way, and regard every other one as possibly better. The beginner who has never owned a wheel is probably in the greatest trouble, but he (or she) can comfort themselves with the reflection that their choice does not very much matter, provided they get a strong one, as after the first two months of falls and collisions and the other usual accidents, their wheel will hardly be a thing of beauty, even if it is a joy for the rest of the summer.

Dad's Under the Load.

(Springfield Republican.)

By the way, we observe that the Massachusetts state board of trade, at a meeting last week, passed a vote of thanks to Senator Hoar "for his noble and patriotic course regarding the Cuban question." This was before the meeting of the republican state convention, and of course nobody thought of commending Senator Hoar's course. This is a sidelight upon popular sentiment, as the state board of trade represents 43 commercial bodies. It goes to explain the ardor of the defense made by the junior senator. "Sonny" said the traveler to the exceedingly diminutive lad who was trying to pitchfork a big load of hay that had been returned on the public highway, "you can never do that—why don't you get help?" "I must do it, mister," the fearful youth declared, never interrupting his labors—"dad's under the load!"

NEWTON ATHLETES.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION GIVES A GOOD LOT OF TRACK AND FIELD EVENTS.

Associates' Hall at Newton Centre was comfortably filled last Saturday night at the indoor games of the Newton Athletic Association. The program proved to be a lively one, even the shot putting appearance to such advantage that an exceptionally good performance evoked a "hand." When a shot-putter arouses enthusiasm his doings become sporting news indeed, and E. L. Hopkins, who did the best in the event, with 39 ft. 7 in., was rapturously applauded.

W. E. Putnam, Jr., was the star of the big high jump, and earned no end of flattering notice. He did 5 ft. 10 1/2 in. with comparative ease, and failed of 6 feet by only a hair. He was at scratch, and lost to a "4 in." jumper, R. Henderson of Boston.

The 15 yard dashes and the potato races made the major portion of the meeting, and offered a rapid succession of lively and closely contested races. Redpath of Harvard got the handicap dash; Benedict, the closed dash; Brown of the Cambridgeport gymnasium won the shot putting, and A. H. Waite of the club, the three standing jumps.

The prizes were handsome silver cups, and the games were run with commendable promptitude. Summary: Fifteen yard dash (closed handicap)—Winners in trials, C. V. Moore (4 ft.), 2 3/8 s.; W. D. Rising (4 ft.), 2 3/8 s.; H. P. Crowl (3 ft.), 2 1/8 s.; L. W. Redpath (1 1/2 ft.), 2 s. Best second man, W. C. Benedict (2 ft.), 2 1/8 s. Final won by W. C. Benedict (2 ft.), second H. P. Crowl (4 1/2 ft.), third L. W. Redpath (1 1/2 ft.); time, 2 1/8 s.

Fifteen-yard dash, open (scratch)—Winners in trials, E. R. Crane, H. A. A. and N. A. A., 2 1/8 s.; W. R. Mansfield, H. A. A. and N. A. A., 2 1/8 s.; W. H. Vincent, N. A. A., 2 2/8 s.; L. W. Redpath, H. A. A. and N. A. A., 2 2/8 s.; W. D. Fuller, 2 1/8 s. First semi-final, won by W. R. Mansfield, H. A. A. and N. A. A.; second, W. C. Benedict, time, 2 1/8 s. Second semi-final, H. A. A. and N. A. A., and F. Mason, H. A. A.; time, 2 1/8 s. Final won by L. W. Redpath, H. A. A. and N. A. A.; second, W. C. Benedict, H. A. A. and N. A. A.; third, W. R. Mansfield, H. A. A. and N. A. A.; time, 2 1/8 s.

Putting 16-pound shot—Won by D. F. Brown, C. G. A. (4 1/2 ft.), 34 ft. 6 3/4 in.; second, J. C. Manning, B. Y. M. C. A. (3 1/2 ft.), 34 ft. 6 1/2 in.; third, W. W. Coe, N. & G. (3 1/2 ft., 8 in.).

Running high jump—Won by S. R. Henderson of Boston (4 ft.), 5 ft. 10 1/2 in.; second, W. E. Putnam, H. A. A. and N. A. A. (scratch), 5 ft. 10 1/2 in.; third, F. Holt, H. A. A. (1 1/2 in.), 5 ft. 10 1/2 in. Potato race—First trial heat, won by J. J. Hallahan, K. S. H. (owes 3 ft.); second, C. J. Sweeney, C. G. A. (owes 3 ft.); time, 1 1/8 s. Second trial heat, won by F. C. Rising, N. A. A. (owes 2 ft.); second, W. C. Benedict, N. A. A. (scratch); time, 36 s. Third trial heat, won by J. J. Crowley, S. M. G. (owes 10 ft.); second, A. L. Bennett, B. A. A. (owes 4 ft.); time, 31 1/8 s. Final, won by J. J. Crowley; second, Sweeney; third Bennett; time, 31 s.

Junior potato race—Won by C. B. Knapp; second, C. R. Fish; third, C. R. Heintzman.

Three standing jumps—Won by A. H. Waite (6 in.), 30 ft. 5 in.; second, W. D. Rising (3 in.), 29 ft. 5 1/2 in.

All records given above are actual performances. Take a dose of DeWitt's Little Early Risers just for the good they will do you. These little pills are good for indigestion, good for headache, good for liver complaint, good for constipation. They are good. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. ## Hahnemann Centennial Festival.

The necessary arrangements for the Festival and Bazaar, to be held in the buildings of the Boston University School of Medicine on East Concord street, during next week are about complete.

Newton ladies are responsible for one room during the week and the various committees will take charge as follows: Monday, April 6th, Newton and Newtonville.

Tuesday, April 7th, Auburndale and Wellesley Hills.

Wednesday, April 8th, Newton Centre.

Thursday, April 9th, Newton Highlands.

Friday, April 10th, West Newton.

Saturday, April 11th, the chairman of each committee.

There will be tables of useful and fancy articles, as well as booths for tea and chocolate, a confectionary table, and a chafing dish table.

A valuable course of demonstration lectures on cookery, by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln will be given each day, except Saturday, beginning at 2 30 p. m. A children's paradise has been arranged to delight the little ones each day. A series of entertainments will take place each evening and several afternoons.

Monday evening, Legerdemain—Mr. E. P. James, assisted by Mr. Edward F. Wiley, Mrs. Eliza James, accompanist. Tuesday afternoon, lecture on Heredity, by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore.

Tuesday evening, musical selections, baritone soloist, Mr. Clarke Ashenden, male quartet, violinist.

Wednesday evening, stereopticon lecture, "The other side of the Hemisphere," by Mr. George H. Worthly of Brookline.

Thursday afternoon, A Talk by Capt. S. E. Howard of West Newton, subject, Rounding Up. Soprano soloist, Mrs. H. P. Perkins, Jr.

Thursday evening, Gibson Tableaux, violin solo by Miss Webster.

Friday afternoon, A Flag Drill by Ladies of the Rebekah Lodge.

Friday evening, lecture by Rev. Mr. Vanness, subject, Parsifal, assisted by members of the Cecilia club.

Saturday evening, concert, details not yet arranged.

The tickets for these entertainments, as well as entrance and season tickets, for the Festival may be obtained at the office of the executive committee, No. 685 Boylston street, Boston, and during the week at the college building.

It's all the same, a slight cold, congested lungs or severe cough. One Minute Cough Cure banishes them. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Auburndale.

ADAMS' STORY DENIED.

WITH HIM IN PLANNING SAFE-BLOW-ING JOB.

Langdon W. Moore came out to Newton on Tuesday, accompanied by a Herald reporter, to see City Marshal Richardson, and prove his statement that he was in no way connected with young Adams, who is accused of the safe-blowing job in the Life Insurance office in Eliot block. Mr. Moore is a gentlemanly appearing man, with white hair and a white mustache, and the last man one would suspect of being a burglar, although he made his name famous throughout the country some years ago, for breaking into banks. But he gave that all up some years ago, and has since been leading a quiet life, supporting himself by the sale of his book, which gives an account of his life.

Adams claimed to be a "pal" of Moore's, and that the latter had helped him to plan burglaries, and had introduced him to Myron J. Dolloff.

Mr. Moore says he never met a young man by the name of Adams, and was confounded when he read Adams' story, as he knew nothing of him. "He had met another Newton young man, who called on him to talk about his book, and from the picture of Adams in the papers he thought this might have been he, though the card bore another name. He came out to Newton to see this young man, and found that evidently Adams had stolen or borrowed the card and passed himself off under another name, when he came to see him."

Mr. Moore says "The one point I cannot explain in the story of this boy is the question: How he knew I was going to, or was in New Orleans, certainly did not tell him. I did not tell any one in Boston. It was not because I was afraid, but because I did not care to get a lot of notoriety. I did not declare to any one in Boston an intention of departing, and I am as much mystified as any one on that particular point—how this number of people from Boston, as well as from other sections of the country, and it is possible, of course, that in this way he learned where I was, but his story that he was going to join me there is a lie from beginning to end, as well as his statement that I wrote or wired him from New York or New Orleans."

"This leads up to his statement of his acquaintance with me, and I proved that matter to the bottom this afternoon. On Oct. 19, I received a letter from Newton, addressed to me at my former lodgings on Warren street, asking me where the writer could get a copy of my book. I replied that I would send a copy on receipt of price, and a day or two later I received a money order, and an address to which to forward the book. I forwarded the book without delay, and though I did not receive the money order, some days later, when, as I was standing in a bar-room, talking with some friends, a young man walked up to me and handed me a card, stating that he had sent for a book from Newton, and wanted to talk with me about it."

"The name on the card was the same as that of the writer of the letter. The card further stated that the person whose name it bore was a correspondent for a Boston paper. The young man was an excellent talker, and really impressed me with his bearing. He was one of the brightest chap I ever saw. He said he wanted a story on some points in the book which were not quite clear to him, and I talked the matter over with him. He came two or three times to see me, and his talk ran to a considerable extent on explosives. He wanted to know my opinion on making a dynamite bomb, but I told him that I only used gun powder when I was in the business, and that I knew nothing of the value of any other. He finally got so persistent that I told him that I had told in the book all that was going to, and that if he felt he had not got his money's worth I would refund his payment to him if he would send back the book."

"This talk, I think, took place some time later in November. In December I went away, and heard nothing more from him until I read in the New Orleans papers of the charges he made against me. I could not recall him at first, but I did not know Dolloff under the name of Stevens, so I said very truly at the time that I did not know either of the parties mentioned."

"Then I recollected about the young fellow who had written from Newton, but I could not recall his name. I felt that I could find his card in my belongings when I returned, and the first thing I did when I reached Boston on Monday was to look over my effects. Sure enough, there was the card he gave me, together with the letter I had received from Newton. The same name was on both the letter and the card, and my first impression was that Adams had prepared both, and was masquerading under that title. When I investigated, however, I found that a young man in Newton, who knew Adams, had sent for the book, and that it was the card of this young man that Adams, without his authority, presented to me."

"That settles that part of the matter. I knew Adams, but I knew him only according to the name on his card, and my acquaintance was so short, and so far from being intimate, that I could not recall the name he gave me when he called on me. All the information he ever got from me he got on the representation that he was a reporter for a Boston paper, and was desirous of getting a story. I certainly never wanted him as a partner. As I said to the city marshal, I have not been engaged in any criminal work since 1879. Had I been disposed to do so, I could have found many older and more experienced partners than this boy."

Mr. Moore says that he knew Dolloff when in prison, but thought he had given up the business after getting out. He may possibly have introduced Adams to him in the bar-room where the boy found him, but does not think so; but the lack of an introduction would not phase so confident a fellow as Adams seemed to be. He, however, knew nothing of any plans the two had, and in fact had not been in Newton in 30 years.

City Marshal Richardson believes Moore's statements, and thinks there were many untruths in Adams' story.

TWO SKELETONS.

GRAVEL DIGGERS UNEARTH BODIES OF MURDERED PERSONS.

Workmen unearthing a skeleton in the gravel pit on Washington street, Auburndale, opposite Woodland Park Hotel, about 7 a. m. Tuesday. The discovery was communicated to the police, and the remains were dug up and carried to the police station. The skeleton was in a remarkably good state of preservation and was perfect, except for the absence of the feet and leg bones.

One side of the head was crushed in as by a blow from a heavy, blunt instrument. The bones were evidently those of a woman about 35 years old, and had been buried about 30 or 40 years.

The body had evidently never been enclosed in a box, and was found not more than three feet under the surface.

Tuesday afternoon the workmen discovered a second skeleton in the gravel pit. The two were taken in charge by the police, after being viewed by Medical Examiner Meade, and will be handed over to the poor authorities for burial in the Potter's field.

The second skeleton is that of a large, well-grown man, evidently in middle life, and buried evidently about 30 years.

The spot where the man's skeleton was found was only about ten feet distant from where the woman's skeleton was unearthed in the morning. These bones lay only a few inches below the soil, and bore marks of several old fractures.

The condition of the remains has led to the belief that both the man and woman were victims of foul play. The spot where the two skeletons were found was covered until recently by thick woods, and no one among the oldest residents of West Newton can be found who can recall any burial in this locality.

The finding of these remains has revived the old stories of the "haunted house" at Auburndale, which is close to where the bodies were found. It is one of the oldest houses in this section. It is generally regarded, even by those who have no faith in ghost stories, as remarkable that the bodies should have been found just back of this house.

A quarter of a century ago the house was an object of dread to children and superstitious persons, and was avoided after nightfall. At the period in question, who occupied the house told of strange noises and calls for help coming from the woods back of the out-buildings. Occupant after occupant left the house on account of these sounds, and the building remained vacant for a number of years.

An Affidavit.

This is to certify that on May 11th, I walked to Melick's drug store on a pair of crutches and bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for inflammatory rheumatism which had crippled me up. After using three bottles I am completely cured. I can cheerfully recommend it.—Charles H. Wetzel, Sunbury, Pa. Sworn and subscribed to before me on August 10, 1894—Walter Sherman, J. P. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by A. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

The Coming Carnival.

The "Hayseed Carnival" is the original name of a very original entertainment to be given by the Newton Young Men's Christian Association in Eliot hall next Monday evening. Seventy-five men and boys from the gymnasium will be dressed as farmers and will represent hired-men and boys from Woodchuck Hollow. The stage will be transformed into the interior of old St. Jowde's bar, and a very comical yet excellent gymnastic exhibition will be given. The performance will be under the direction of Dr. A. G. Howard, the Y. M. C. A. physical director, who originated it. It has been given in Brockton and Wincheser with great success and bids fair to make a decided hit here.

$100 Reward, $100

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. ## THE SINGLE TAX.

SOME ARGUMENTS ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It is claimed for the single tax system. A-That it will practically confiscate all unoccupied land held for speculation. B-That it will cause rents to be lowered.

C-That by means of free trade it will reduce the price of all the necessities of life.

D-That it will raise wages, and increase the number, and improve the quality of buildings.

E-That it will help to abolish poverty.

It is axiomatic, A-That the land having been created by God for the benefit of the whole human race, should be free to all men, and should pay a tax to the government amounting to the full rental value of the land, without the improvements thereon.

B-That all personal property of every description, is, by its nature, as the product of industry, untaxable.

C-That there should be no duty on exports, or imports, and no internal revenue tax.

The lecturers, and pamphleteers of the single tax propaganda usually commence by citing the cases of the Duke of Argyll, Scully, Astor, Vanderbilt, and other large land owners, and stating the immense number of acres they possess, and then they ask, "Is this right?"

Conveying an idea to the casual mind that if the single tax system was in force these owners would be compelled to relinquish a part of their land for the use of the people.

Now, whether "this is right" or not.

If we are to take the single tax pamphleteers' own statements, under the single tax these large land owners could hold as much terra firma as they do now, for on page 193 of "Natural Taxation" they say:

"Thus the farmers would save much more than one third of their present tax burdens by the concentration of taxes on ground rents alone."

Now if a farmer, holding a farm, say of two hundred acres, could save say more than one third of his taxes, under the single tax system, his buildings being worth, say fifteen hundred dollars, and the land worth four thousand dollars, or say with the present system, a tax on buildings at $9. on 1000 = $18.20, and on land at $4000 = $36.00

Total tax $54.20
Deduct at single tax rates 1-3 or 16.20

Leaves $38.00

This would be the whole tax on the land with the house on it under the single tax system.

Now if the house was off the land the tax would be just the $38. on the land alone, or in other words the vacant farming land would be taxed $3. less under the single tax system than under the present one.

Now, all, or most, of these large tracts of land held by the Duke of Argyll, and the other millionaires mentioned, are land only adapted to farming, or grazing, so that their taxes would be actually decreased under the single tax mode.

But if some poor widow was left in possession of a lot of unimproved land in a city, if the land was valuable it might result in practical confiscation.

Or suppose that a laboring man has, with much toil and economy, saved enough money to purchase a small lot of land.

His first act after buying the land, would be to borrow enough money, with the value of the land as equity, to build him a house.

What savings bank or capitalist would loan money on a lot of land, when the state had a right to tax the land for its full rental value?

Then as the tax would fall so heavily on the unoccupied land in cities, the tendency would be, to build houses, for the poor especially, on as small lots as possible, thereby defeating an idea, which is now popular, and with reason, namely, to give every human being plenty of space, light, and air.

The single tax lecturers ask "why are the vacant spaces on the Back Bay not built over?"

Well, for the same reason that the whole state of Massachusetts is not built over, because there is not population enough to fill the houses and empty houses, too many of them, do not always attract population, but sometimes just the contrary, and the enforcement of the single tax law would be more likely, for the reasons before mentioned, to result in the building of twelve story apartment houses, and hotels, crowded as closely together as the law would allow, than in the spreading of the city.

While the farmers might hold larger farms, the squalid tenements of the poor would be jammed into the smallest conceivable space, to save land.

There is another case; let us suppose that a laboring man owns the equity of a house worth, say, two thousand dollars, with the land worth one thousand more; total value three thousand dollars.

He has borrowed on this, his home-stead, on mortgage, two thousand dollars. The mortgage falls due, but in the mean time, the single tax law has been passed, putting a tax to the amount of the full rental value on the land upon which the house is built. What bank would loan him the same sum on a diminished security?

Then the mortgagee takes possession, but the value of all real estate has depreciated so, that when the mortgagee sells the property, he cannot get back the money that he has loaned.

If this is not confiscation what is? The original owner has lost his home-stead, and the mortgagee part of his money.

The single tax advocates boast that "the real estate owners cannot escape. I do not think they could, but they would, doubtless, in many cases, try to, and there would be such a tumble in the real estate market, fifty per cent, at least, caused by the single tax law trying to sell out at once; that persons disposed to speculate, if they had their assets in untaxable bank stock, for instance, could make money by buying up real estate, and then getting the law repealed.

With regard to the abolition of the internal revenue tax, it would be well for temperance people and all others, to consider what the effect would be, of reducing the price of whiskey to the price of from 15 cents to 40 cents per gallon. The single tax advocates say that "the cheapness of whiskey would cause the drinking of it to become unfashionable, and that the "glittering palace" style of saloon would cease to exist, and the drunkards would reform.

But if what we read in the papers is true, this has not been the case in Kentucky or in other places where moonlight whiskey is sometimes made.

The free trade portion of the single tax theory, I have scarcely patience to discuss.

Any person who can look on the ruin and destruction, caused during the last few years, by a comparatively small reduction of the tariff, and can then advocate free trade, would deserve all the misfortunes that free trade would bring on the country.

The advocates of the single tax are constantly proclaiming that "the single tax is a religion" it may be a religion, but it is not according to the Bible.

I would call their attention to the story of "Naboth's Vineyard," and also to Deuteronomy xix: 14 "Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's land mark which they of old time have set in thine inheritance, which thou shalt inherit in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it."

Also on the year of jubilee if any man's land had become alienated, it was to be returned to him without cost.

The single tax advocates together with the socialists, claim that "the land belongs to the public," because "the sole value which attaches to it, is derived from the population, and the results of labor that surround it."

Let us see if this is true. Suppose that I reside on a piece of land, or even own it, or cultivate it.

My neighbors on three sides are Smith, Brown and Jones, on the fourth side is the public highway. Smith owns my land by residing near it, but I, in return, benefit his land by living near him. "A fair exchange is no robbery," and neither one has any claim on the other, by reason of proximity, the same may be said in regard to Brown and Jones.

With regard to the side of my land, bounded by the highway, I am supposed to pay taxes enough on the real estate, to discharge any obligation that I may be under to the public on that account.

What this country needs to make it prosperous is rest from fads.

W. JENKS.

During the winter of 1893, F. M. Martin, of Long Reach, West Va., contracted a severe cold which left him with a cough. In speaking of how he cured it he says: "I used several kinds of cough syrup but found no relief until I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which relieved me almost instantly, and in a short time brought about a complete cure." When troubled with a cold use this remedy and you will not find it necessary to try several kinds before you get relief. It has been in the market for over twenty years and constantly grown in favor and popularity. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newtonville; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Quarterly Meeting of the Newton Hospital.

The regular quarterly meeting of New-Hospital trustees was held in the parlors of the Nurses Home, Thursday, March 26th, at 3.30 p. m., President J. R. Leeson occupied the chair and the following members were present: Hon. Henry E. Cobb, Messrs. Bullens, Burr, Emerson, Erickson, Pettet and Travelli; directors Crockett, Frisbie, Seales and Thayer; Mesdames Bacon, Billings, Blake, Gould, Haskell and Paine.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and the special meeting held for organization were read and approved.

The treasurer, Mr. Bullens, presented his report for the quarter, showing income from donations, subscriptions, etc. $1,396.60, interest on bank balances and income from investments $819.88 and from the work of the Hospital $2,940.57, a total of $5,157.05.

The current expenses of the quarter were $431.55; extra expenses including laundry machinery, drainage and sundries $3,276.21. Balance on hand $2,972.74.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Pratt no report was made from the finance committee, and as the secretary of the executive committee was also absent, Dr. Thayer's verbal report took place of a formal paper. He explained that progress was being made toward establishing bacteriological and pathological departments at the Hospital, and stated that a fuller report would be made later.

The Hon. Henry E. Cobb, Mayor of the city, addressed the meeting, stating among other things, that he felt great pleasure in assuming the share which appertains to the office of the chief executive of the city in the management of the Hospital. He assured his audience of his high regard for the Hospital, and promised his most earnest and cordial assistance in maintaining the high standard of efficiency which the institution has attained through the untiring efforts of its friends. The Mayor concluded his remarks with the statement that he considered the hospital one of the most important institutions of the city; and one that he would be proud to see constantly grow in usefulness and prosperity during his term of office.

The remarks of the Mayor were warmly applauded, at their conclusion President Leeson responded briefly to Mayor Cobb's address, thanking him on behalf of the Hospital for the kind interest and appreciation he had expressed, and assuring him of the deep gratification of all present at his promise of help and sympathy in promoting the success of the institution.

An informal discussion as to the best manner of distributing the annual report, just published, followed. It was finally decided to distribute the report through the officers and members of the Ladies' Aid Association, the various church societies and clubs, and the physicians and clergymen of the city, and the clerk was so ordered.

The meeting adjourned at 4.10 a. m.

Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers does its work thoroughly, coloring a uniform brown or black, which, when dry, will neither rub, wash off, nor soil linen.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Maybe it isn't so. Maybe it seems so because consumption is the most frequent of all diseases. Consumption kills more people than wars or Cholera or Yellow Fever. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. And consumption can be cured. Doctors used to say that it was incurable, but the doctors were merely mistaken. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. Many things were once considered impossible. The ocean steamer, the locomotive, the telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all these were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent of all cases of consumption. Consumption is a disease of the blood. It used to be considered a disease by itself. It is not. It is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. Purify the blood and restore the healthy action to the various organs of the body and consumption will be cured. It is by weakness and loss of vitality in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness of the blood—surely, certainly cured. Those who have consumption or any lingering bronchial, throat or lung disease, and those who are on the road to them, have a positive remedy at hand. Any condition of the body that indicates weakness, any indication of impurity in the blood, should be attended to at once. Loss of appetite, loss of flesh, loss of vitality, nervousness, weakness and unnatural weariness, are indications that the body is running down. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite good, the digestion strong. It builds up solid, healthy flesh and vigorous strength. Thousands of people have testified that it has really saved their lives. Some of these testimonials, together with hundreds of things that everybody ought to know about health, sickness and medicine, have been embodied in Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated, will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

AN IMPORTANT HEARING.

A matter of great importance to Newton people comes up before the board of aldermen, next Monday evening, on the petition of the Newton & Wellesley, and Newton & Boston roads, for permit to lay a track on Washington street as far as Newton. The scheme is for these roads to lay one track, and the Newton & Waltham the other, to be used by all the roads, thus giving a double track service from West Newton to Newton. This would prove such an accommodation to people all over the city, that there ought to be no question of the granting of the petition. It would give a 5 cent fare from Newton to Newton Centre, Highlands and Upper Falls, and Lower Falls, and would unite the different sections of the city.

With all the cars starting from Newton the present discomfort of changing cars and long waits, besides paying an extra fare, would be done away with, and getting from one village to another would be a pleasure, instead of a disagreeable necessity.

The two roads which go to the south side of the city were built with this end in view, but owing to the grade crossings which are soon to be abolished, they had to stop half way, and ending as they do nowhere in particular they could not be expected to pay expenses until the lines are completed. Newton, being the centre of population of the city, is the natural starting point for all Newton roads.

Washington street has been widened, or is to be, at great expense, mainly on account of the street railway located upon it, and as the people have to pay the bills, they ought to get all the advantages possible out of it. Cars should run direct from Newton to the termini of all the roads, for a 5 cent fare, and the case is so plain that a lengthy hearing would not seem necessary to convince the aldermen of the absolute necessity of granting the petition.

The stories about the finding of the skeletons in Auburndale have caused rather sensational rumors of murders, but there seems to be no foundation for such rumors. Some of the older residents tell us that the finding of skeletons all through that vicinity is no new thing, and boys of about 160 often found such gruesome relics, and some had quite a collection. Their theory is that these skeletons belonged to the victims of the small pox epidemic, which swept through the colony in the early days of its history, and infected whites and Indians alike. There was evidently once a large settlement on the hills about Auburndale, as traces of it were frequent before the country became developed, and it is well known that the epidemic was so terrible in its ravages as to wipe out entirely many of the smaller settlements. Some think it was the traces of this settlement that led Prof. Horsford to think he had come upon the site of Norumbega. In the early days of Newton many of these graves were still discernible, but since then they have been overgrown with brush. What leads probability to this theory is that many of the skeletons found in this vicinity are those of Indians, who also perished by thousands in the epidemic. They have been buried so many years that all danger of contagion was over long ago, so the finders need not be alarmed.

The letter of Gen. Draper, refusing to accept another term in Congress, was read with regret all through the district. He says that his business demands his personal attention, and this obliges him to give up his public duties. Gen. Draper has made a creditable record during his term of office, and in comparison with the class of men Massachusetts is sending to Washington in these days, he has been remarkable for exhibiting other qualities than those of the petty politician. He has not courted notoriety, at the expense of everything else, but has done good service on important committees, and the district would gladly have given him a reelection. There will be now a great scramble for the office, and the chances are that fitness will be the last thing considered in nominating his successor.

The New Hampshire Republican convention has been the political sensation of the week, and Senator Chandler's letter of explanation has only added to the general hilarity. But New Hampshire politics are on a very low plane, or the state would not be represented by such men as Chandler and Gallinger. The resolutions on the candidates and the currency, have given great delight to the silver men, who are also for McKinley, and they interpret it as meaning that the high protectionists will surrender to the silver element. Possibly they are mistaken, but the outlook for an honest currency is not as bright as before the New Hampshire convention.

The spring weather is being taken advantage of by the highway department, and several large gangs of men are at work on the widening of Washington street, removing the top soil and preparing for the filling for a new road bed. The railroad also has several gangs of men at work along the track, and from West Newton to the Boston line there is an evident air of hustling that promises well for the completion of the work without any needless delay. Other gangs are at work in other streets of the city and our highways ought soon to be in their usual good condition. The severe rains and the winter's frost have made many bad places, which are receiving attention.

The committee on cities has reported against the bicycle lantern bill, and the lantern manufacturers will be terribly disappointed, as they would have made a grand thing out of it, if they had got the bill through the legislature. This bill is a striking commentary on the origin of many of the bills before our legislature, and would have passed had not the wheelmen been organized to make an effective protest. It only shows in a small way how manufacturers regard the government as existing merely for their benefit, and they think the chief duty of legislatures is to pass laws compelling the people to pay tribute to them.

A prominent Newton official is reported to have publicly made the statement that either of the Newton papers could be bought up by an order for fifty copies of the paper. He did not say what he himself could be bought up for, but probably a proportionally low price would get him. However, we think he made a mistake about the number of copies, and he ought really to have added another cipher. The Newton papers are sometimes persuaded to do very foolish things, and support unfit candidates, just like a majority of other Newton citizens, but they never support such a candidate for a second term.

The eleventh district convention was held on Tuesday, and two Reed delegates were unanimously elected, Col. Everett C. Benton of Belmont and John S. Richardson of Ward 21, Boston, and both are Reed men. Wilbur H. Powers of Hyde Park was chairman and Col. D. W. Farquhar, secretary. As the latter is an enthusiastic McKinley man, the honor was a very magnanimous one. Speeches were made by Mr. Powers and ex-Mayor E. U. Curtis of Boston. The alternates are Chas. H. Uley of Brookline and Burrill Porter, Jr., of No. Attleboro.

HON. J. R. LEESON would make an admirable successor to Gen. Draper, if he could be prevailed upon to accept the office, and men of his sterling character are needed at Washington, even in the Massachusetts delegation. In these days, when even the nomination to the highest office is under the suspicion of being sought by corrupt influences, it would be a great satisfaction to the people of this district to nominate and elect such a man as Mr. Leeson, solely upon his merits. He has done so much for Newton that he ought to receive the unanimous support of the citizens.

The act giving authority for Newton to issue 40 year bonds for the widening of Park and Tremont streets on the same basis as the Washington street widening, was signed this week, so that the money for this work will be forthcoming. The West End agreed to the city's terms this week, which removes all danger that the widening would not be pushed through, if there ever was any, as has been rumored.

COKE AND GAS AS FUEL.

SOME OF THE GOOD FEATURES OF THE WHITNEY BILL.

It has been a common thing to hear it said that the oil and coal fields of the country are inexhaustible, but the former are already showing signs of exhaustion, and the latter, no reasonable man will contend, can last forever. It is, therefore, inevitable that the near future is to witness improvements in existing methods which will not only serve to restrict the demands on the coal fields, but will give the people all that they now have and more at a much lower price, with a corresponding saving of labor.

Already coke and gas are in use as fuel in many parts of the country, and no one disputes that both can be used to greater advantage than coal. The question is whether they can be produced at a price which will make it desirable to substitute one or the other of them for the present fuel. It is not expected that the present generation will, in their use of fuel, and in the application of improved methods, reach the point where they do the cooking for a large family for a year for one or two dollars. Such a result is not necessary to be attained, but the question to be considered is, can the bituminous coals be so treated as to produce a coke and gas, not to mention the other by-products, at a cost which will make it possible to deliver the products to the consumer at a price low enough to warrant a change from existing methods. The evidence before the committee of the legislature makes it possible to unhesitatingly answer this question in the affirmative.

Mr. Whitney has shown, from figures taken from the reports of the gas commissioners of Massachusetts, that where gas is sold at a comparatively low price it is in general use, while in places where it costs more, the consumption per capita is far less. And as an illustration of this fact, in the territory about Boston, which has a population of about 500,000, there is consumed annually about 581,000,000 feet, while in Manchester, England, which has 200,000 less population, the consumption in the same period of time is nearly 3,000,000,000 feet more. In the latter city gas is sold at 60 cents per thousand.

The opposition to the Whitney bill is beginning to assume a more virulent character at the State House as it is being slowly but surely developed that the essential principles of the measure will pass the legislature. If the great and general court of 1896 shall give to the people cheap gas, cheap coke and cheap fertilizers, all of which will be produced under the Whitney bill, it will establish a name for wisdom second to none of its predecessors.

—Tuesday afternoon a party of section hands while at work on the Boston & Albany railroad tracks, between West Newton and Auburndale, found several more bars of dynamite scattered about the tracks. The finding of the explosive recalls the accident two weeks ago at this point, when an Italian laborer was nearly blown to pieces by a bar of dynamite which he was handling. How the stuff came there in such quantity is not known, but the theory has been gaining ground that it was placed there by some malicious person with the intent of destroying railroad property.

—Mrs. T. G. Bruce recently received a letter from her son, Lewis G. Bruce, who is on the flag ship, Olympia, Nagasaki, Japan. Mr. Bruce has recently received a promotion, and will have only a few more months before he reaches his goal of gunner at a salary of $1800 per year. The following is quoted from his letter concerning the late Edward Elder of West Newton: "Edward Elder was a cadet on this ship and left but a few months before I came on board, having gone home to take his examination for ensign. His death is mourned by many aboard who thought much of him. It seems that he was liked much more than the average officer, and many of the crew send their heartfelt sympathy to his family in their bereavement."

ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE NEWTON CENTRE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

Associates Hall, Newton Centre, was filled by over 400 people, Wednesday evening, who came to attend the annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association.

As chairman of the executive committee, Mr. Rand reported for that body, saying that a number of important matters had come up during the past year and that the committee had met nine different times for their consideration.

Among the things accomplished by their efforts was the enlargement of accommodations at the Rice school, which was brought before the city government in the spring and settled in the early fall.

They have succeeded in obtaining better lights on the B. & A. cars, and having two new trains placed on the schedule.

The waiting room had been placed at the terminus of the Newton Centre line of electric cars, in the square, and the Fourth of July celebration successfully conducted by a very efficient committee.

They had brought to the attention of the city government the necessity for the abolition of grade crossings on the south side and with the assistance of the ladies had given a fair, which netted the sum of $1000. The society numbered at present about 70 members and had $1500 in the treasury. He closed by thanking the officers and members for their support and calling upon Mr. A. L. Harwood to report in reference to the proposed plan of enlarging the reading room.

Mr. Harwood said that his committee had conferred with the Newton Centre Women's Club and that some proper result would be soon brought about. He spoke of the appropriations made for the same purposes in the other villages and urged that a petition be sent to the city government, so that when the appropriations for next year a sum could be appropriated for the needed improvements on the reading room at Newton Centre.

Mr. Rand said it had been purchased by five different gentlemen at a cost of between $7000 and $8000, and he thought very favorably of the idea of the society's purchasing it and adding it to the playground.

He called upon Judge Bishop, as one of the five purchasers.

Judge Bishop produced a map and gave a geographical description of the property, closing by urging that the proceeds of the recent fair be appropriated toward a fund to purchase the land, and making a motion to that effect.

Mr. Walworth, as another of the party of five gentlemen, said that the actual cost, dating from June, would be $7486; that the society had at present $2150; and if the city paid half the entire amount, or $3750, it left only $1690 to be raised. At this point a vote was taken and the motion of Judge Bishop was carried.

Mayor Cobb said he was happy at the opportunity of being present and congratulated the society on its work in the past year. He caused a laugh by saying the picture referred to by Judge Bishop, a piece of scenery at the back of the stage representing a large river surrounded by mountainous scenery, was not what the proposed park would be after it was completed, but Bulloughs pond as it will be.

The mayor went on to speak of the interest the citizens felt in the city's welfare, and warning them against any spirit of sectionalism that might develop. He closed by suggesting that one society be formed by the citizens of all parts of the city which would strive for the general improvement of Newton.

An election of officers followed and these were chosen: President, Albert H. Roffe; vice-president, Frank Edmunds; treasurer, Appleton Smith; secretary, R. F. Alvord; executive committee for three years, George Sumner Smith, W. H. Claxton, E. A. H. Leonard; for one year, H. L. Ordway. The retiring officers were extended a hearty vote of thanks.

Suggestions were offered by Rev. Mr. McDaniel and others, as to the advisability of asking subscriptions from the present, and on motion of Mr. Haskell was referred to the executive committee to be acted upon at some later date. The evening closed with the following program, after which refreshments were served: "Spring Song," Miss Alice Schellabier Clement; "Fantasia," for violin, Miss Florence M. Merriam; sketch from "Tom Sawyer," Mrs. May Rayner Whipple; "The Two Grenadiers," Mr. B. P. Ayer.

THE LAST STRAW.

These are the letters she sent me—
Sad little spendthrift of a ink—
Vowing her love to content me,
Fifty times over, on pink.

These are my foolish old letters—
All that I wrote her—returned,
Shackled in dainty silk fetters,
Captives condemned to be burned.

Please for forgiveness or pity,
Questions and tender replies,
Missives inclined to be witty,
Dozens, and none of them wise.

Stay! Here's a sensible billet.
Ah, 'tis her ultimate note:
"We have been long enough silly, Please return all that I wrote."
—Cleveland.

THE TRACER.

How He Follows Up Dishonest Purchasers on the Installment Plan.

One of the most important men in the employ of a firm that makes a specialty of selling goods on the installment plan is the "tracer." His duty, as his name signifies, is to find out the whereabouts of delinquent customers, who think to get out of the trouble of future payments by quietly moving away and neglecting to leave their new address.

Nothing could be more foolish than such a course, for this is a feature of the business that the installment houses have reduced to a science. It is obvious that in this city the great majority of those who purchase goods on weekly payments live in flats. This makes it a comparatively easy matter for the dealers to keep them under surveillance, for one of the first things the collector does is to see the janitor and inform him which families in the house have bought goods on the installment plan. It pays to see the janitor for this service, for he is in a position to know when any moving is about to take place, and the information he gives the collector has been the means of nipping in the bud many a well laid scheme to get out of paying a furniture bill.

Sometimes, of course, it happens that a dishonest family will move away in such a hurry that the janitor is unable to inform the firm in time. In such an event the "tracer" is put on the case. He sets about his work with the method of the trained detective. He is familiar with the name and address of every furniture mover in the city, and his acquaintance among the helpers is so extensive that it is more than likely he has a personal friend among the men who moved the family he is seeking. With such advantages his task is not nearly so hard as the uninitiated would imagine, and there would be fewer attempts made to "beat" the installment dealers if it were better known how little chance a person has to succeed.—New York World.

Ministering to a Quiet Kentucky Folk.

In a pleasant, social little Kentucky town not long ago a new minister arrived. Fervent in his mission against the world, the flesh and the evil one and not duly considering the points of his compass, he delivered from his pulpit the first Sunday a tirade against card playing. On Monday the wealthiest member of his flock called on him and said:

"Oh, dear Brother Parker, your sermon was very unwise. You will offend half your people if you talk against cards. We are just a little quiet community all by ourselves here, and we play cards whenever we want to. Don't say anything more about card playing."

So the next Sunday the new preacher launched out on dancing. Again the wealthy member visited him to say that his church people had always danced all they wanted to, and he must not say anything more against dancing. The evil of horse racing was his subject the following Sunday, and this brought the rich member to him in great distress of mind.

"Great goodness, Brother Parker, this is one of the finest horse sections in the state! You are beside yourself when you try to put down horse racing."

"Well," said the despondent preacher, "if you say so I'll have to let these evils alone. Next Sunday I'll abuse the Jews."

"All right," remarked the wealthy member, "but don't overlook the fact that I'm the only Jew in your congregation."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dolasses.

The dolasses of the Kaffirs and Hotentots used for divination are not our dice, but substitutes for them. Precisely the same things served in the most ancient time for dice, and these are knuckle bones, which, under the name of astralgi, children played with in old Greece and Rome. We have today a beautiful knuckle statue of a girl playing with knuckle bones. The Mashonas use something made of bone which resembles the Roman tali. These dolasses do not bear numbers, but peculiar, small incised pictures. Mr. Bent, in his "Ruined Cities of Mashonaland," describes these dolasses.

When Solid Iron Floats.

Experiments lately made in England show that if a ball of solid iron is lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork. But in a few seconds it leaves the prongs and rises to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball, due to heating, whereby it becomes, bulk for bulk, less dense than the molten metal.

Nemesis.

Nemesis is lame, but she is of colossal stature, and sometimes, while her sword is not yet unsheathed, she stretches out her huge left arm and grasps her victim. The mighty hand is invisible, but the victim totters under the dire clutch. —George Eliot.

The Cypripis, a peculiar water insect, propels itself with a pair of paddles which both in shape and general appearance closely resemble those in use by carmen.

The Venus fly trap produces juice that to nearly all insects is a deadly poison.

NEWTON STREET RAILWAY.

SOME OF THE IMPROVEMENTS NOW UNDER WAY.

The Newton Street Railway is preparing for the extension of their tracks to Bemis, from Waltham, and for other improvements to get ready for their great summer traffic.

The cars are being fitted with electric headlights permanently set into the dashboards, and the use of these lights will cause less trouble than the temporary attachment each day of lanterns for the burning of kerosene. The open cars built at Newburyport and Amesbury, numbered 14 to 21, are being repainted in accordance with the company's standard design.

The crossing for the new River street line at the Bleachery will probably be constructed next Sunday, and then about a mile of track that is upon the side of the street between West Newton and Newton corner will have to be relaid in the center of the highway, to make room for the change of grade of the Boston & Albany railroad. After this street railroad work is done the construction of the new line will be begun.

The track will leave Main street in Waltham at its junction with Newton street, and run through Newton street to River street, terminating for the immediate present at Bemis's station, as the permit for laying the rails in Newton is not yet given the company. When the line is completed, it will join the Newton line of railway at the corner of Washington and Adams streets.

The line will not be a circuit one, probably. At present, when it is built as far as Bemis's, it is intended to run the cars between terminals there and the Waltham postoffice. Additional rolling stock will then be needed, and two new open cars will be bought, probably from the Amesbury manufactory.

CLIMBING TO 100,000.

L. A. W. MEMBERSHIP IS INCREASING AT A GREAT RATE.

If the league of American wheelmen continues to grow in membership as it has the past month or six weeks, it will have 100,000 by the beginning of summer. Each week during the past month the great number of applications has been a surprise to Sec. Bassett, but the week ending March 30 is a record breaker. From March 23 to March 30, 1033 applications were received, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania furnishing more than one-half of them: New York 257, Pennsylvania 240, Massachusetts 115, New Jersey 80, Missouri 47, Iowa 40, North Carolina 35, Connecticut 20, Rhode Island 17, Indiana, Kentucky and Nebraska 16 each, Illinois and Wisconsin 13 each, Ohio 11, Michigan and Colorado 10 each, Minnesota 9, Maryland 7, Oregon 6, southern California 5 each, West Virginia 5 each, district of Columbia, Maine, New Hampshire and Tennessee 4 each, Alabama 3, Arizona, Texas and Vermont 2 each, and Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Mexico 1 each.

Newton A. A. Base Ball.

The schedule games so far arranged by the Base Ball committee of the Newton A. A. is as follows:

April 20, Harvard at Newton Centre; April 25, Tufts at Newton Centre; May 2nd, Cuban Giants at Newton Centre; May 9, Boston University at Newton Centre; May 16, Boston College at Newton Centre; May 18, Harvard at Cambridge; May 23, Harvard Second at Newton Centre; May 30, a. m., Somerville at Newton Centre.

June 1, Harvard at Newton Centre; June 6, Providence A. A. at Newton Centre; June 13, Newtonville Club at Newton Centre; June 17, p. m., Newport at Newton Centre; June 18, Boston League at Newton Centre; June 20, North Shore Athletic Club at Newton Centre.

July 22, Providence A. A. at Providence; R. I. July 23, Newport at Newport; R. I. July 25, Orange A. C. at Orange, N. J.

August 4, Newport at Newport, R. I. Almost every mail brings applications for dates from various clubs now organizing, and by the close of this week the schedule will be completed.

Several new players will be seen with the nine this season, and as the club will play on the home grounds every Saturday and holidays until July 23rd, Newton lovers of the sport will be given a rare treat.

The rapidly with which croup develops calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

Newton Boat Club Bowling.

The Newton Boat Club rolled the Harvard College bowling team at Riverside, March 28, and won by the following score.

The Newton Boat Club goes to Lexington, Saturday night, April 4th, and contests with the Old Buller Club in bowling and whist. A very exciting match is expected on the bowling alleys. A large barge will leave for Lexington, from Cate's stable, West Newton, at 6:30 P. M.

The N. B. C. team has won eleven matches and lost two. The team has the following averages to date:

Per string, Bancroft, 174 4 33; Burrage, 173 10 39; Bixby, 171 29 39; Langley, 171 22 36; Coffin, 168 26 36; average total pins per game, 2580 10 13.

On Wednesday evening, April 8th, at Riverside, the Boat Club will roll the Newtonville Club of Cambridge. This club defeated the crack 900th artillery team only two weeks ago. Members with their lady friends are cordially invited to attend this match, which will begin at 7:45 p. m.

It may save you time and money to be informed that when you need a blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the kind most in favor with the medical profession. It is the standard and, as such, the only blood-purifier admitted at the Chicago World's Fair.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

IN THE DAYS OF ADVERSITY.

"In the Days of Adversity," by John Blount de Botton, who is the author of a number of stories of adventure, is a romance of the days of Louis XIV. full of good hand-fighting, perilous exploits, lonely rides over hostile roads, and all the other standard incidents of historical romance. The hero has the misfortune to be of noble family without being able to prove it, so that while he enjoys none of the substantial benefits of his rank, he incurs the hostility of those in whose way he stands, and who would gladly make an end of him and of his infant daughter, left him by his wife, who died soon after the birth of the child. Everything ends as happily as everything should in tales of this character which make no pretense of portraying real life. The story shows good inventive power, and moves along in a way to hold the interest of the reader. It is published in this country by D. Appleton & Co., price, 50 cents.

SLEEPING FIRES.

George Gissing is unquestionably one of the stronger of the younger novelists of London life. "Sleeping Fires," the latest story, falls short of the excellence of "The Odd Women," "Eve's Ransom," and "In the Year of Jubilee," but shows both strength and delicacy in the handling of a difficult theme in the psychological complications to which the problems of the story give rise, and in the study of Langley's complex emotions at the discovery of his son lies the strength of the story. The two chief characters are strongly brought out. D. Appleton & Co. have given it a very artistic cover, price 75 cents.

HARPER'S.

The special features of Harper's Magazine for April are "Musk-Ox and Desolation," (8th and concluding paper of "On Snow-Shoes," by the "Ban Grounds," by Caspar W. Whitney "Mr. Lowell in England," by George W. Smalley; "Mad Anthony Wayne's Victory," by Hon. Theodore Roosevelt; "A Phase of Modern College Life," (the Christmas Associations, illustrated) by Henry T. Fowler; "The German Struggle for Liberty,"—X, by Poulton Bigelow. The concluding chapters of the "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc" are given, and Mr. Black's "Brisers" approaches the climax of its action. The fiction includes a number of unusually good short stories.

SCRIBNER'S.

The April number of Scribner's Magazine contains a very unusual number of articles of immediate interest in connection with current events of the first importance. The leading article is a sympathetic review of the late Lord Leighton, P. R. A., by Cosmo Monkhouse. Another article of interest is "The Quarrel of the English-Speaking People," by Henry Norman, the correspondent of the London Chronicle, whose telegrams from Washington were so influential in modifying British opinion on the Venezuelan question. Cathode rays is explained in an article on "The New Photography," and there is an attractive paper on the Olympic Games. In short fiction this number presents two of the most popular American writers: Richard Harding Davis contributes a new Van Bibber story entitled "Ci derella," which is in his brightest vein; and Joel Chandler Harris writes a story of the siege of Atlanta entitled "A Baby in the Siege," which is dramatic and full of quaint character. The installment of Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy" contains one of his most humorous efforts—an account of a characteristic Thrum holiday known as "The Muckley."

THE FORUM.

The Forum for April has a rather ingenious article by Senator Sherman on the tariff with some remarks on the currency; "Two South African Constitutions," by Hon. James Bryce, M. P.; "The Cañon de Ray—Its Character and Effects," by A. W. Wright; "Teaching—A Trade or a Profession?" by President J. G. Schurman; "Fables of the New Woman," by Ella W. Winston; "The Present Outlook of Socialism in England," by William Morris; "Francis Joseph and his Realm," by Dr. August Fournier; "On Reaching the Taste of the Public," by Brander Matthews; "Holmes's Care for his Poor," by Professor J. H. Green; "Rumor of War and Resultant Duties," by J. W. Miller, and "Glimmerings of a Future Life," by Richard Hodgson.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—The next production at the Boston Theatre in the repertoire of Fanny Davenport will be Sardou's magnificent "Cleopatra," which still remains as a pleasant memory to all who witnessed the performance when last given by this popular American actress. From the first act on to the very last, including the great storm episode, a series of charming Egyptian pictures will be presented. Miss Davenport's reproduction of the famous "Cleopatra barge," with its accompaniment of music, singing, crowds of swaying, adoring figures, armed Roman soldiers, brilliant colored surroundings, and her own gorgeously attired personage, make a picture rarely witnessed on the stage. For this production, as well as "Fedora," which is in rehearsal, the cast has been greatly strengthened, the chorus enlarged and the orchestra augmented. Something extraordinary in scenic picturing is promised.

Those who are troubled with rheumatism should try a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If that does not bring relief dampen a piece of flannel with Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain and prompt relief will surely follow. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Single Tax Class and Club.

So much interest is manifested in the Single Tax as to seemingly justify a continuation of the form of a class or club, and all who would like to aid and abet such a movement are invited to meet at 230 Bellevue street, Tuesday evening, April 7th, to effect some simple organization and plan of work. Come, if only for once; all are welcome.

THE STUDIO GIRL.

An Interesting Letter From a Young Ladies' College.

Race Between the Sexes for Education, Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

The race between the sexes for education is to-day very close.

Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt, through having sacrificed the physical to the mental.

Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence;

these are positive signs that women's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

College, Mass.

You dear Woman:—

I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was a very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Yours sincerely friend, MARY

Use It in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as loss of breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Rev. Mr. Whitman has removed to South Framingham.
—Miss Nellie Leach of Boylston street is confined to the house with illness.
—The silk mill was closed Tuesday while the annual account of stock was being taken.
—There are letters in the post office for Thomas Ford, John J. Shea and Herbert L. Wood.
—Mrs. M. L. Stevens gave a very pleasant whist party Tuesday evening at her home on Boylston street.
—Through a unanimous vote of the members of the Methodist church Rev. Mr. Fellows will remain in this place another year.
—Mrs. Bridget Perry, for many years a resident on the Needham street, died Monday night in this place. The funeral was held from St. Mary's church.

—A change of running time has been effected at the Newton Rubber Works. The mill will start to work at 6:45 a.m. and close at 12:15 p.m. Saturdays it will shut down at 12:15 p.m.

The Echo Bridge Council, Royal Arcanum, held a banquet in the hall on High street, Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for seventy-five, a number of invited guests from Boston, Waltham, Newtonville, West Newton, Allston, South Boston and Natick being present. Regent A. A. Smith acted as toastmaster, and a number of brilliant speeches were made. The evening closed with a very pleasing musical and literary program.

Timothy Leonard received a bad fall Tuesday afternoon, while driving on a load of baled hay, in the square near the depot. Leonard was seated on the top of the load when the horse gave a sudden lurch, which threw him from his seat, part of the load falling with him. He pluckily held on to the reins, however, which prevented the horse from running away. The driver suffered a severe shaking up but no bones were broken.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Miss Fannie Ball has returned home after a protracted stay in the South.
—Mr. W. R. Dimond, who has been ill for some time, is now somewhat improved and able to sit up at intervals.
—One of the new boulevard cars made a through trip to Natick, Saturday afternoon, taking a party of officials and others.
—The Dwight family have returned to their residence at Indian Springs Park after being absent during the winter.
—The Easter services and decorations at the churches will be appropriately celebrated as formerly. At St. John's church masses at 8 and 10:30 o'clock will be celebrated with evening services at 7:30. At St. Mary's, service with celebration of Holy Communion in the morning with afternoon and evening service.

—Mrs. E. T. Wetherbee and daughter Ruth are making a visit among relatives in Brooklyn, this week, starting last Monday.

—The Dudley Mills resumed running on old time this week by request of a majority of the help. The change gives the half holiday Saturdays.
—The services on Holy Thursday and Good Friday at St. John's church were carried out in the usual impressive manner. Nearly all the children in the parish took part in the procession, making a very pretty, and at the same time, an impressive scene.

Humor in the Stomach.

Billerica, Mass., Feb. 18, 1896.—I was troubled with rheumatism and humor in my stomach, and after taking a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla I experienced great relief from the humor and I am very free from rheumatism." Mrs. George Moore, Box 41.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate.

NONANTUM.

—Last week another unmuzzled dog was captured by Officer McLaughlin.

—William Brosnahan is repairing and improving his house on Watertown street.

—The store recently vacated by Fred Boyle will soon be occupied by a furniture dealer.

—Mr. Felix Roy of Bridge street has been confined to the house with a threatened attack of pneumonia.

—Fred Boyle has removed his grocery store from the Watertown street side to the Adams street side of Boyle's block.

—Mr. John Williams, for a number of years a druggist in this place, has taken a position in Lowell and left for that city.

—Mr. Gregg of West street has removed a large house, which he recently purchased, from Washington to West street.

—The Italian fruit merchant in Stuart's block has recently purchased a horse and wagon and will soon commence to peddle his wares on the street.

—The meeting of the Buelah Baptist Mission, last Sunday, was addressed by Mr. Roy G. Hunting of Cambridge. A large number were present in spite of the inclement weather.

—At both Easter services at the North Evangelical church, next Sunday, special Easter music will be rendered by the church quartet. The Sunday school will hold a concert in the evening.

—Frederic Muriezo, who was taken suddenly ill while at work in his store on Watertown street Monday afternoon of last week, has recovered and is able to attend to his business again.

—Thursday morning of last week a runaway horse belonging to Wm. Brosnahan which had been frightened by the fire apparatus responding to box 24, was captured on Watertown street by Officer Bosworth.

—At the meeting of the P. S. A., last Sunday, Mr. Stockin spoke, taking for his subject "The Bible from a Historical Standpoint." The meeting, next Sunday will be addressed by Rev. Dr. Pelubet of Abundance.

—The P. S. A. Society held a "Grande Old English Tea" in the North Evangelical church, last Saturday afternoon and evening. It was attended by over 200 people and very successful. Supper was served at 4:30 and exercises, including an address by Mayor Cobb, followed.

—St. Elmo Lodge, Sons of Temperance, celebrated its sixth anniversary in its hall on Bridge street, last Friday evening, in the form of a "Basket Party." A temperance lecture was delivered by Past Grand Worthy Patriarch De Lacey Corkum of Everett, which was followed by a pleasing entertainment program. The evening closed with a collation.

Sunday afternoon, March 22, the Buelah Baptist Mission celebrated its first anniversary in St. Elmo hall. The largest number in the history of the mission was present. The platform was covered with potted plants and flowers, while on the altar was a closed Bible and the words, "Our only creed," the whole surrounded by flowers and ferns. Letters were read from friends of the mission in England, Kentucky and Waltham, and addresses were made by Mr. D. C. York, the founder, David Evans, R. G. Woodman, Frank Tolman and others. A duet, "I must have the Saviour with me," was sung by the Misses Elsie Niblock and Grace Hudson. There have been six conversions, the total attendance during the year has been 2,413, an average of forty-seven per Sunday. The total collections have been $84.63; total expenses, $23.40; leaving a balance on hand of $61.23.

We might tell you more about One Minute Cough Cure, but you probably know that it cures a cough. Every one does who has used it. It is a perfect remedy for coughs, colds, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, for children, being pleasant to take and quick in curing. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Abundance.

Lasell Notes.

On Saturday afternoon last the Lasell Seminary girls expected the pleasure of a lecture from Mr. Bartlett of Concord, upon "Famous Authors of Concord," but illness prevented him from fulfilling the engagement. In his stead the students enjoyed a talk by Miss Lunn, of the Boston Deaconess Home, upon the work being done among the poor and outcast by the deaconesses. Miss Lunn explained the methods, the merits and the needs of the work to her young audience, who followed her with absorbed interest and proved, at the end of the lecture, that their sympathies had been touched by voluntary contributions of over $125. Several times made up boxes of cast-off clothing been made up among the Lasell students and sent to this Home for distribution, by the deaconesses, among the needy ones of their district. At the close the girls felt that had it been left them to choose between Mr. Bartlett's lecture and Miss Lunn's interesting talk, the choice would have been made for them.

Among the best entertainments of the year at Lasell was the concert given there on Monday evening last by the pupils of the Instrumental Department of the Seminary Musical Course, aided by Prof. Joseph A. Hill, instructor in piano, and Goldstein, of the violin, and Ernst Ruppel, the skilful cello player. The program was a delightful one and rendered most charmingly. The house was crowded, and the audience testified to their pleasure in the performance by hearty and continued applause.

On Sunday morning a small party from the Seminary heard Rev. Mr. Hughes of the Newton Highlands M. E. church.

School closed Wednesday noon for the Easter recess; re-opening on the 8th, at noon. A number of the pupils visit Washington during the vacation, with Mr. W. T. Shepherd, whose abilities as a conductor of touring parties are surpassed by few, if any. The remainder of the school go to their homes, or visit friends, all expecting about 30, who remain at Lasell during the recess.

It's just as easy to try One Minute Cough Cure as any thing else. It's easier to cure a severe cough or cold with it. Let your next purchase for a cough be One Minute Cough Cure. Better medicine, better result; better try it. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Abundance.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and building up medicine leads everything ever produced. It is positively the best. Others may make the same claim. But there's this difference: We prove it. Not by antiquity, but by merit. Not by what we say, but by what Hood's Sarsaparilla does. It has cured a record of Cures unequalled in medical history. It positively, perfectly and permanently cures when all other medicines fail. That the keen discrimination of the people recognizes its merit and the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, is shown by that they buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference and elation of all others.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has a larger sale than all other blood purifiers. It wins confidence everywhere because the statements in its advertising and testimonials are verified by all who take it. No other medicine has ever received such praise, or so many voluntary testimonials of wonderful cures. No other medicine possesses the peculiar combination, proportion and process used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla, and which give it merit peculiar to itself. This is the secret of its wonderful power, of its wonderful sales, of its wonderful hold upon the confidence of the people. This is why it cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Catarrh, Rheumatism, all Humors, Kidney and Liver troubles, Dyspepsia, That Tired Feeling, builds up the nerves, creates an appetite and strengthens the whole system. Its merit, its sales, its —Miss Susan E. Robinson is visiting for a short time in Cambridge.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Merrill of Lake avenue left today for Milwaukee, Wis.
—Dr. Bandfield has taken a house on Summer street owned by Mrs. Turnbull.
—Mrs. Capron will soon occupy her house on Beacon street.
—Friday afternoon at Trinity church Rev. Dr. Shilb delivered the last of his Lenten addresses.
—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mout, who have been visiting here, have removed to Boston.

—Mr. and Mrs. Parks of Devon road entertained a number of friends at whist, Tuesday evening.
—Rev. Daniel L. Furber, D. D., of Commonwealth avenue has returned from a visit to Munson.

—Miss Lucy Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ayers, is quite ill at her home on Dudley street.

—Miss Ida Herzog, who has been the guest of Mrs. Blaisdell on Green street, has returned to her home in Baltimore.

—The Newton Theological Institution reopened Tuesday morning, having been closed during the spring vacation.

—The next match in the bowling alleys will be played Monday night between the Newton High school and the Newton teams.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Patrick Conoley, Julia Driscoll, Mrs. G. E. Marston, Etta Morrison, Margaret Pease, Geo. E. H. Pierce, Mrs. W. Rogers and Martha B. Stacey.

—Miss Oliver, who recites from the Bonnie Brier Bush at the Central church, (Newtonville) Wednesday evening, had the phenomenal run of thirty-three successive nights in Pittsburg alone this winter.

—Miss Ella Wilson, who had resided with her aunt on Irving street for some time, died Sunday morning. The deceased was a maiden lady who had lived here for a number of years. She leaves a large circle of friends who mourn her loss.

—Miss Bertha E. Gay, residing with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard of Paul street, died very suddenly at her home, Wednesday morning. The young lady had a large circle of friends in this place to whom her death was a sorrowful surprise.

—Unitarian Society—Easter service at 10.30 with choir and flowers. Sermon by the pastor. At 12 the Sunday school will hold a special Easter service with carols and flowers. All are cordially invited. At 4, Rev. McDaniel will conduct services at the Chestnut Hill chapel.

—Miss Bertha Gay, an interesting young lady of 18 years, from New York, who is living in the family of Mr. A. H. Leonard on Paul street, and attending school in Boston, died very suddenly on Wednesday morning. She attended some entertainment in Newton Centre, Tuesday evening, and seemed in her usual health.

—Mr. John H. Staples died at his home on Paul street on Friday last, and the funeral services were held on Monday. He left a wife but no children. Mr. Staples was a carpenter by trade and built many of the buildings about the Centre, and during his long and busy life he always enjoyed the respect and esteem of those who knew him.

—Mr. John S. Cole died on Thursday at noon at his home on Langley road. Mr. Cole came here from Boston forty years ago, and soon bought his beautiful location for three cents per foot, and built the house which he occupied until his death. He leaves a son, his wife and many years ago. He was a social, genial, and a familiar form upon our streets. He was born in Maine in 1811.

—"A Cycle of Holidays" is the form which the women of Trinity church are to give their fair on the 15th and 16th of this month. It is a new thing in this village, and it will doubtless awaken interest here. The preparations are being pushed with vigor and enthusiasm. The "Cycle of Holidays" will consist of a series of booths or tables arranged to represent some of the principal holidays of the year, including Christmas, Easter, Good Friday, St. Valentine's day, Washington's Birthday, May Day, Fourth of July, etc., and articles appropriate to each of these and associated with the day will be exhibited for sale on the corresponding days. The fair will be held at the Association hall, Wednesday, April 15, at 6 o'clock, and will be continued on Thursday afternoon and evening, April 16. Supper will be served on Thursday evening.

—Mrs. Bird's concert in the Unitarian church parlor on Tuesday evening last, was designed to show the progress of her older pupils in the last year. The program given showed a wide range of modern music and the selections being vocal, which Miss Mabel E. Mears rendered with pleasing effect. That bears not interested personally in the pupils would have found much satisfaction in their playing. It is a real commendation. It was intelligent, thoughtful and indicative of real feeling. These are the qualities of Mrs. Bird's own work, and it is plain that she wishes her pupils to share with her. Of Miss Mabel's reading of her parts and her manual skill, her friends had another gratifying witness. The parlor was filled with an audience that rewarded the young players with hearty applause, and as usual the rooms were most tastefully arranged and decorated.

—The Newton Centre Golf Club held its annual meeting at Bray's hall, Monday, p. m., March 30th. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance. Very attractive plans were outlined for the coming season, which include the leasing of a large additional area adjacent to the present links on Langley road and Cypress street, making a total area of 25 to 30 acres. This will obviate the necessity of having any of the courses between the holes crossing each other and will make a total distance between the nine holes of nearly two miles. The natural advantages of the ground for golf purposes are unsurpassed and with the construction of the new putting greens and teeing grounds proposed, the links will be one of the best, if not the best, in this section. The club adopted a new constitution and rules, modeled after that of the St. Andrews Golf Club. They also voted to apply for membership in the U. S. Golf Association. When the limit of membership, which was placed at 100, is reached, it is proposed to increase the initiation fee of $5. The club had 50 members last fall within two months after organization, and with only about that time of actual playing. There will be large additions this spring with the increased facilities for play. Arrangements have also been made so that players may have lockers for their sticks, etc., in the small building now on the grounds. Officers elected were as follows: Herbert D. Ward, pres.; Dwight Chester, vice pres.; Henry Baily, treas.; A. E. Alvord, sec'y.; E. L. Allen, captain. All the foregoing, Miss Sanborn, Mrs. Clinton Hunter and H. Hovey, the governing committee. Committee of the green are the president ex-officio, J. D.

Greene and C. W. Royce. Tournament and handicap committee, the President ex-officio, B. B. Buck and A. E. Alvord.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Turner of Norwood avenue will leave next week for their summer home at Nantasket beach.

—Mr. and Miss Cobb, who attend school out of town, are visiting their parents at their residence on Glenwood avenue during the Easter vacation.

—Mr. L. A. Vachon has removed his pool tables and other furniture from Howes block at Newton, to this place where the goods will be stored.

—The Young People's Society of the First Congregational church, held its monthly social and business meeting in the church parlors, Thursday evening.

—The city has provided a handsome new flag to be hoisted on the flag pole in the common, and to take the place of the old one which has become torn by the wind.

—Rev. Edwin H. Hughes leaves next Tuesday for the New England Annual Conference at Springfield, Mr. Wm. M. Flanders of Lake Terrace will accompany him as lay electoral delegate.

—Mr. William H. Swanton of Warren street has purchased a farm in Foxboro and will remove to that place about the 1st of May. Mr. Swanton will make this change for the benefit of his health.

—At the First Congregational church next Sunday, special Easter music will be rendered by the choir. In the morning the pastor will preach an Easter sermon and in the evening a special Easter service will be held.

—The Garden City riding school was opened Wednesday morning in Associates hall. The hall is a very suitable one for this purpose, and the novices who are now taking their first lessons, bid fair to soon become experts under such a competent instructor as Mr. Gardner Crafts. A large white sign over the door is attracting considerable attention. See adv. on second page.

—A severe collision was narrowly averted by the presence of mind of a motorman on the Newton Centre line, Wednesday morning. Three men in a dump-cart were driving down Lyman street at a very rapid pace and attempted to cross in front of the car at the junction of Willow street. The electric was brought to a very sudden stand still within an ace of the cart, which the driver nearly overturned in his efforts to stop the horse.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—The C. L. S. C. will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Warren White.

—The West End Literary Club will meet with Mrs. Waterhouse, April 6th.

—Garden and flower seeds, all kinds, at Sherman's hardware store. Bicycles repaired at short notice.

—Officer Seaver has nearly recovered from his injury and is on duty at the station house at Newton Centre.

—The Hasbanc family, who have been spending the winter in Washington, D. C., have returned to their home on Lake avenue.

—Rev. Mr. Havens was at church last Sunday for the first time in nearly four months. He is slightly lame, but is looking well.

—Mr. Wm. Hanna has moved from Floral avenue and taken one of Mrs. Cobb's houses on Hillside street, formerly occupied by Lawyer Clifford.

—Messrs. C. H. and A. F. Ireland have the contract for building a house for Postmaster Nash on Lincoln street, next the residence of Mr. E. H. Tarbell.

—The son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Dudley, 2 1/2 years of age, who was injured on Tuesday by getting a match and getting his clothes on fire, died from its effects on Wednesday.

—It is expected that Rev. Chas. E. Havens, the pastor of the Congregational church, will preach Easter morning in his pulpit, for the first time since his long illness. Rev. Lawrence Phelps will preach in the evening.

—A special program of music will be rendered by the quartet appropriate for the occasion. Sunday school concert at 6.30 o'clock, at which music will be a prominent feature, and other exercises suitable for the occasion.

—Easter will be fittingly observed at the Methodist Episcopal church. An Easter discourse in the morning by the pastor and an Easter service of song in the evening with special music by the choir will be the order of the day.

—The South Side Whist Club passed a very enjoyable evening with Mr. and Miss McAdams, Wednesday last. Prizes were awarded to Miss Edith Lentell and Mr. J. Wetmore and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Corey. Next meeting with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Corey.

NEWTON CLUB.

Gen. Charles H. Taylor was the guest of the Newton Club Saturday evening, at the monthly smoke talk and entertainment for club members. The large assembly hall was well filled. He was introduced by Pres. Samuel Leland Powers and spoke on "Modern Journalism," describing in detail the workings of a great modern newspaper. He also considered the Sunday newspaper problem. At the close of Gen. Taylor's address a vote of thanks was extended to him, on motion of Mayor Cobb. Later lunch was served in the dining room.

The Oxford Club of Lynn received a return visit last Friday from the Newton club, about 100 members of the latter, accompanied by Pres. Samuel L. Powers, arriving in special cars on the Revere Beach road and spending the evening in thorough enjoyment of the Oxford's hospitality. Pool, billiards and bowling were played between the clubs, Newton winning the tournament by 16 points. The festivities included a banquet, and the hour of departure was put off to 10.30.

The last in the series of concerts for Newton Club members was held in the clubhouse at Newtonville, Wednesday evening, and was attended by an appreciative audience, composed of nearly 500 society people of the Newtons. The concert was provided by the Germania grand orchestra, assisted by Mrs. Coffin-Bloodgood, contralto. An elaborate program was presented.

GEN. DRAPER DECLINES

TO ACCEPT ANOTHER NOMINATION TO CONGRESS—HIS PROBABLE SUCCESSOR.

General William F. Draper, who for two terms has represented this district so ably in Congress, refuses to be a candidate for a third term. His retirement will be a distinct loss, for his record has been most creditable and satisfactory. The Boston end of the district is urging the candidacy of Hon. Charles F. Sprague, at present serving his second term as senator from the ninth senatorial district of Suffolk county, which comprises Wards 21, 23 and 25 of the city of Boston.

Mr. Sprague is a lawyer by profession, and was born in Boston on June 10, 1857. He served on the Republican ward and city committee from Ward 10 in the years 1886 and 1887. In 1888 and 1889 he was a member of the Common Council. In 1890 he was elected to the Legislature and re-elected the following year. Mayor Matthews in 1893 nominated Mr. Sprague as a member of the board of park commissioners of the city of Boston. In this place he served so efficiently that next year he was elected chairman, and continued in this position until elected to the Senate the succeeding fall. During the last year of Mr. Sprague's service as park commissioner an immense amount of work was done in constructing the different parkways, and the system under his supervision was for the first time united.

In 1894 Mr. Sprague was elected to the State Senate from the ninth district by over 3000 plurality. In 1895 he served

GROCERIES ALMOST GIVEN AWAY.

POINTS: Among the goods quoted in this list we wish to call attention to the Mohawk Valley Corn. We have 1200 dozen of this brand, and it is of excellent quality; 5½¢ per can, 65¢ per dozen.

The spices quoted are all pure goods; best quality. The Violet brand of Marrowfat Peas are the best you ever had in your life. Just order one can; 9¢ per can; $1.00 per dozen.

Our Maryland Chief brand of early June Peas cannot be excelled; 11¢ per can, $1.25 per dozen; but we tell you frankly the Violet will suit you better.

Gallon cans of Bartlett Peas, 20¢ per can, $2.25 per dozen, good quality; you probably will never be able to buy them again for that price.

Weymouth brand Tomatoes; northern goods, solid packed, red ripe, extra large can, first class in every particular; 8¢ per can, 95¢ per dozen.

The goods advertised at 35¢ per pound are all of standard quality, and sold elsewhere from 50¢ to 10¢ per pound.

The QUALITY of our "OLD GOLD" Flour is EQUAL to ANY SOLD. The quality of flour, my friends, does not depend on its extensive advertising.

Don't fail to try our Tea and Coffee; they are in line with the rest and can't fail to suit you.

—The choir of Grace church will repeat some of their beautiful Easter Carols next Sunday night.

—Miss Wagstaff has moved to 16 Baldwin street where she has very pleasant rooms to rent.

—Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris of Hunnewell Hill gave a luncheon and whist to a large number of ladies last Tuesday.

—Prof. S. Edward Warren gives private instruction in Mathematics, and other English branches. See adv.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Damon of Hunnewell Hill are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—Miss Daisy Whittemore and Miss Carrie M. Buswell are visiting Miss Kate Eggleston at her home in Orange, N. J.

—It is expected that Rev. Dr. Waugh will supply the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday.

—The offerings in Grace church on Easter Sunday were about $2700, for parish, missionary and other purposes.

—Mrs. S. A. Oldrieve, now of Syracuse, N. Y., is in town for a few weeks, and is stopping with Mrs. Margaret Daniels of Washington street.

—Rev. Mr. Bronson is in Springfield attending the session of the New England conference held in that city. Mr. Bronson will not return until Tuesday of next week.

—A meeting of the committee appointed to arrange an apron sale for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal church, was held Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Levi Tower on Newtonville avenue.

—It is understood that Mrs. Benjamin Merritt will accept the refusal of the board of aldermen to give her a permit to move a house across Charlesbank road and that she will sell, and allow the remonstrants to pay all damages.

—Mrs. Nathan Sites of Carleton street made an address on "Missionary Work in China," at the quarterly meeting of the New England branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society held Wednesday afternoon at Cambridge.

—Miss Caroline S. Eddy of Franklin street entertained a number of her class mates of Smith College, '90, last Monday evening. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games, followed by dancing later.

—The new Nonantum House block is to be a great addition to the appearance of the city, as from its location it can be seen from many points. It is to be three stories in height, which will give the new hotel many fine rooms, and it ought to be a popular house.

—A number of invitations have been issued through the Newtons for one of the first fashionable Easter teas to be given next Tuesday afternoon by Miss Blanche A. Pearl of West Newton street, Boston. Miss Pearl will be assisted in receiving by Miss Hartley of Beacon street, Boston.

—Rev. Dr. Calkins, formerly pastor of the Eliot church, conducted the funeral of Mr. Frank L. Gross at his late residence on Church street, Sunday afternoon. The interment was in the Newton cemetery, and the deceased was a late associate of the deceased in the firm of Moore, Smith & Co., in Boston.

—Music in Grace church Sunday night: Processional, "O what the joy." Magnificat. H. B. Day. Nunc Dimittis. H. B. Day. Carols, "There are sounds of many voices." "God hath sent his Angels." "Sally in the morning." "Near the tomb." "God shall wipe away all tears." Recessional.

—At the annual meeting of the Newton Baptist church and society, the usual business was transacted, and the following officers elected: Stephen Moore, moderator; Herbert F. Bent, clerk; J. W. Brigham, treasurer; Miss Moore, E. P. Tuttle, H. W. Downes, F. D. Adams, F. N. Marsh, A. A. Howes, G. Fred Harwood, C. E. Currier, B. B. Converse, standing committee. S. A. D. Sheppard, collector.

—Rev. Edward S. Frisbie, L. L. D., of Albany, N. Y., formerly president of the Wells Female College, Aurora, N. Y., was in Newton a few days this week, visiting his relative, Dr. J. F. Frisbie. While Rev. Dr. Frisbie was president of Wells College, Miss Folsom, now the wife of President Cleveland, was a pupil there. Several months ago Dr. and Mrs. Frisbie were in Washington, and by special invitation delivered the day with Mrs. Cleveland and the President.

—A very pleasant and successful meeting of Grace church, as a parish corporation, was held on Easter Monday night. The old officers of last year were all re-elected as follows: Wardens, George S. Bullens, George A. D. Jones, Charles W. Emerson, Jas. C. Elms, Sr., J. E. Williams, Jos. H. Wheelock, W. E. Holmes, Chas. W. Leonard, Marcus Morton; clerk, William P. Wentworth; treasurer, E. P. Tuttle; S. Hamblen; delegates to the convention of the diocese, Messrs. Bullens, Flint and S. E. Warren.

—Some time during the last three weeks the residence of Mr. C. W. Snow on Washington street, corner of Grassman, was entered with the family were away. It was discovered by some members of the family when they returned home, last Saturday. They discovered that the lock on a side window had been forced, and that the thieves had entered. Before going through the house they called a policeman, who made a thorough investigation. He found that the place had been completely sacked, but nothing removed. This is explained by the fact that the family had taken the greater part of their valuables with them.

—The Oliver Ditson Co., Boston, music publishers, are to issue the following compositions this spring, written by Mr. J. Eliot Trowbridge of this city: Organ music, 1. Prelude in D Major; 2. Pastorale in G Major; 3. Prelude & Fugue in D Major, all with pedal; obligato. Male quartets, (sacred) "Watchman, tell us of the night;" "Guide me, O Thou great Jehovah;" "O come let us sing;" "Go ye therefore and teach all Nations." Short responses for Children. The organ movements are short, practical, of moderate difficulty, and will be useful as voluntaries and postludes in church services. The male quartets are short and effective, and will prove valuable additions to the repertoire of male choirs.

—It has been decided to remove the armory headquarters of the Clavin Guard, Company C, M. V. M., from Armory hall at Newton to the drill shed of the Newton high school at Newtonville. The change is made because of the necessity of moving the present armory at Newton on account of the depression of the railway tracks and the widening of Washington street. Although the structure may be moved only a short distance and again be placed in use. The question of abandonment is being considered, and some of the members of the city government believe the drill shed might be used permanently as an armory for the organization. The drill shed is now used by the Newton high school basketball and the high school calisthenics battalion. There will be opposition to the permanent use of the drill shed by the militia.

—Bicycle repairing at Hodgdon & Jones, 326 Centre street.

—Razors carefully sharpened at Burns', Cole's block. Three expert artists and no waiting.

—Fine French and hall clock repairing in all its branches at W. A. Hodgdon's, French building.

—While workmen were engaged in relaying the sewer on Charlesbank road they found in the old drain thirteen 45-calibre cartridges.

—Mr. and Mr. Walter H. Barker are expected home this week, from a trip to Old Point Comfort and the South.

—Mrs. F. Baneroff Smith and Miss E. Linder of Sumner of Tovey street left Monday for an extended visit in New York.

—A package of dry goods was left at Newcomb's express office the other day by some person unknown.

—Mr. W. P. Wentworth, who has been seriously ill, is reported to be somewhat improved.

—Contrary to the usual custom, the Helping Hand Society of Grace church will hold meetings throughout the month of April.

—Major S. A. Banlett, the city treasurer, has been appointed inspector of the State by the Department Commander of the G. A. R.

—Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., will hold a ladies' night and camp fire next Thursday evening. Marion Osgood's Orchestra will furnish music.

—Some one suggests that an underground outlet for Lemon brook is being sought for, judging from the deep hole at the Washington street crossing.

—The work of tearing down Howes block will begin next Monday, it is said. The railroad seizes all the front land on which the block stands.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Katherine Van Voorhis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian H. Van Voorhis of Newtonville avenue, to Mr. Arthur Hood of Brookline.

—Preparations have been commenced on Armory hall to turn the building around so that the side will front on Washington street. All the furniture and other appointments are being removed preparatory to the change.

—The Radcliffe College Glee and Mandolin Clubs, that were favorably heard in Newtonville a few weeks ago, give their annual spring concert this evening at 8 and tomorrow afternoon at 3 at Fay House, Cambridge.

—Mrs. James V. Sullivan died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Francis Murdock, on Church street on Tuesday, at the advanced age of 81 years. She was one of the oldest members of Eliot church, and was well known to the older residents. She leaves a daughter and one son, Mr. J. F. Sullivan of Newtonville. Her husband died about a year ago. The funeral services were held at her late residence on Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. Dr. Calkins officiating. The interment was in the Newton cemetery.

—The April meeting of the Newton Minster Union was held in the parlors of the New church on Highland avenue, Newtonville, Tuesday afternoon. Nearly 40 prominent Newton clergymen were present. Papers were read as follows: "The Social, Educational and Athletic Clubs," Rev. H. Usher Munroe; "The Associated Churches," Rev. Alexander S. Twombly; "The Newton Grammar," Rev. Julian C. Jaynes; and the Harbinger for Children, Rev. John Matteson. A general discussion followed the reading of the papers.

—At a largely attended meeting of gentlemen residing in the southerly part of Ward Seven held at the home of Mr. W. F. Hammett, Sargent street, on Tuesday evening, it was the unanimous opinion of all present that some organization of residents of that locality might be of great benefit to all. The Waverly Improvement Association was organized with the following named gentlemen as officers: President, W. H. Furber; vice-president, Chas. A. Haswell; secretary, N. P. Cutler; treasurer, Charles S. Hull; executive committee, W. F. Hammett, Wm. J. Follett, Chas. E. Lord.

—While driving in Boston on the boulevard near Cottage Farm, Mr. Walter U. Layson, Miss Helen and Master Winthrop Grant met with a bad accident, which luckily did not result very seriously. The party were driving a pair of horses in a close carriage with Mr. Layson seated on the box, when suddenly a bolt broke and partly freed the pole from the carriage. The frightened horses and they ran and overturned the carriage. Mr. Layson was thrown violently to the ground and sustained painful though not serious injuries. Miss Grant received slight bruises and Master Winthrop escaped unhurt.

Later in the day the horses were captured, one in Brookline and the other in Boston.

—The "Farmers Gymnasium" was given in Eliot Hall, Monday evening, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. The illusion of a barn interior was well sustained and the crowd that occupied corn bin and hay mow seats numbered over a thousand people and completely filled the hall. When the curtain was drawn and displayed the well stocked barn with farming utensils lining the walls, the snow with its load of hay, the piles of vegetables around the floor and the Jowder cutting fodder, the stage picture was complete. The evening began with a short conversation between Dr. A. G. Howard as Prof. Eli Brodship Kowled and Mr. Pitt Parker as Si Jowder, owner of the barn. This was to obtain the use of the barn as a temporary gymnasium for his friends. The dialogue was hurried, and the speeches were slightly indistinct, and disposition was shown through the evening to hurry through the different features which was the only mark of amateurishness about the whole performance. The frequent bursts of applause with which the different feats were greeted, demonstrated the hearty approval of the audience. That the illusion of Si Jowder's barn was so easily obtained was not to be wondered at, when the agility with which he took part in the different events became apparent. ## A VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

Surroundings Over Which Conductor Nor Passenger Had Control.

"Thirty-ninth street!" called the conductor of the "L" car.

"Thirty-ninth street!" exclaimed the woman who was sitting next to the door, jumping up.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the conductor politely. "This is where you want to get off."

"Oh, that's a nice way to try to get out of forgetting me," she returned excitedly. "You know very well that I told you I was only going to Thirty-eighth street. What do you mean by carrying me by it?"

"Why, madam, the—"

"Oh, it's no use trying to excuse yourself; I know all about it. You thought you could impose on me because I'm from the country, but I'd have you understand that you can't do it."

"But, madam," protested the conductor, "we do not stop at Thirty-eighth street."

"Don't lie to me," she replied angrily. "I guess I know how these city roads are run, if I ain't city born and bred. You carried me by on purpose; you know you did. I can see you grinning at me now, but you won't think it's such a good joke when I complain to the company."

"I'm sorry, madam," said the conductor deferentially. "Do you wish to get off here?"

"Of course I do, but I'll take my time about it, and you can't hurry me, either."

"If you will get off now, madam, and not keep us waiting here any longer, I'll try to remember your face next time and stop the train at Thirty-eighth street for you."

"Oh, you admit that you can stop there, do you?" she said triumphantly, as she stepped on to the platform. "I thought you would as soon as you found that you had a determined woman who can't be imposed upon to deal with."

"Yes, ma'am, I admit it," he replied, as he closed the gate and rang the bell to go ahead. "We don't usually stop there, but we can. But," he added, as the train pulled out, "if you intend to leave the car there, I would advise you to wear your bloomers. It's no easy job to climb down those posts."

She tried to reach him with her umbrella, but it was too late.—Chicago Post.

FASTNET LIGHT.

A Welcome Glimpse to the East Bound Atlantic Voyager.

The first glimpse of Great Britain that the American tourist gets on his European tour is that of the Fastnet lighthouse.

It stands on a rugged and solitary rock, situated nine miles south of Crookhaven, at the extreme southwest corner of Ireland, and is, perhaps, more storm beaten than any other around our coast. The rock is 80 feet in height, and the lighthouse towers another 70 feet above, yet, in winter gales, the Atlantic billows literally bombard the massive structure and have even smashed in a portion of the lantern at the summit of the erection, the seas frequently sweeping over the rock with tremendous force. Some two or three years ago the stormy weather then prevailing prevented all communication with the rock for many weeks, so that the store of food was consumed, with the exception of some flour. At last a schooner managed to approach sufficiently near to enable a small quantity of food to be dragged through the sea by the hungry men, and, fortunately, the next day the sea moderated, and the stores were once more fully replenished.

Except in very calm weather the Fastnet is surrounded by a fringe of foam, and the only means of landing is by the aid of a "jib" 58 feet in length, so placed on the rock that, in moderate weather, its end reaches outside the surf. When a visitor wishes to land (an unusual occurrence), he is rowed in a small boat as near as the waves permit, and the lightkeepers throw out a small buoy, attached to a rope, which is secured by the man in the boat. The jib is then swung out, and the visitor, placing one foot in the loop and catching tight hold of the rope, is hoisted about 40 feet vertically, and then the jib, being pivoted at its foot, swings him horizontally about 100 feet on to a safe landing.—London Sketch.

The Conversation Interrupted.

"I beg your pardon," said the man with the slightly bald head, who sat in a parquet seat near one of the boxes in a down town theater the other evening.

"I beg your pardon," he repeated, "but would you mind looking at the figures on this check and telling me what they are? I'm a little nearsighted."

The youngest member of the noisy box party, an amiable looking youth, with highly plastered hair, suspended his conversation with the interesting blond in the green dress a moment, leaned over the front of the box, and in answer to the questioner, who had risen to his feet and was smilingly holding out for his inspection the check end of a ticket, he said:

"Certainly, sir. The figures are $1.50."

"Well," rejoined the questioner, "that's exactly what I paid to hear this play tonight, and I'm going to get the worth of my money or I'll lift my voice right now and raise a fuss and make a scene! You'll oblige me by telling the rest of them."

He was not disturbed again during the evening.—Chicago Tribune.

Witty Wales.

A good reply was given to Mme. Patti by the Prince of Wales, who had paid a visit at her magnificent castle of Craig-y-Nos. The weather was awful. The hostess in receiving her princely visitor stated to him that she had prayed fervently to heaven for good weather.

"Oh," said the prince, "you must certainly have made a little mistake, for I had sung your prayer instead of saying it, it surely would have been granted."

SENTIMENT IN NEWTON.

HON. JOSEPH R. LEESON AND MAYOR H. E. COBB REGARDED AS POSSIBLE CANDIDATES.

The sentiment regarding a successor of Congressman Draper among the Republicans of Newton is divided, says a Boston Herald reporter. There are at least two possible candidates, Messrs. J. R. Leeson and Mayor Henry E. Cobb. Mr. Sprague of Brookline has many friends in the city, and it is claimed will make a good bid for the delegates. Among the many leading Republicans seen by a reporter of The Herald Tuesday, the general opinion was that, should Newton secure a unanimous delegation, her candidate would be well received in the convention, and possibly nominated. Several gentlemen had heard it intimated that Gen. Draper favored a Newton candidate, and thought that city entitled to name the coming congressman. It was also intimated that Gen. Draper had named as his choice Mr. Leeson, but none of those interviewed would make such a statement except on hearsay. There are many Cobb and many Leeson men, but just at present these men are saying little, if anything, and have nothing to say for publication.

Mr. Leeson was seen, but beyond saying that he regretted the withdrawal of Gen. Draper, would not be interviewed.

Mr. Samuel L. Powers said, regarding Mr. Cobb, that it is barely possible that his name would be before the convention, but that, under no circumstances, would Mr. Cobb scramble about the district for delegates, and that he would not make a strenuous fight for the place. If, however, he consents to allow his name to be used, continued Mr. Powers, I assume he will receive the united delegation from Newton.

Senator Sprague is mentioned, and has a large circle of friends in Newton. Although he lives in Brookline, from which town Congressman Chandler was sent to Washington, I do not think the question of locality will have the least weight against his nomination, provided he has the strength. From a point of local pride, continued Mr. Powers, I am in favor of Mr. Cobb.

Many gentlemen spoke strongly in favor of Mr. Leeson, claiming that he was a man of superior ability; not one seeking the office for what there is in it, but a man who, if prevailed upon to accept, would exert his utmost energy in behalf of his constituents and for the benefit of his country. "He is a man," said one prominent Republican, "who thoroughly realizes the nature of the oath of office and the sense of obligation which goes with it. He is a man who would not accept the nomination simply as a mere honor to himself, but by honest, faithful and conscientious effort would make the office, if elected, one of honor, not only to himself, but to his district."

FAVOR OLNEY DELEGATES.

MASS CAUCUS OF NEWTON DEMOCRATS HELD IN PLACE OF USUAL WARD CAUCUSES.

The Newton Democratic delegates held a mass caucus in the police court room at West Newton, Wednesday evening, in place of the usual ward caucuses.

Lawrence Bond called the caucus to order, and then organization was completed by the choice of Lawrence Bond as chairman and John E. Briston clerk.

A committee consisting of the following was appointed to bring in a list of nominations: W. H. McOwen, Bernard Early, Jasper N. Keller, A. K. Mellen and James Hanan.

The state delegation favor the choice of Olney delegates, and the delegates to the district convention have no preferences.

The following delegates were elected: Delegate at large to both conventions, Lawrence Bond of West Newton.

Ward 1—State, Chester Graves, D. J. Gallagher, W. F. Grace; congressional, R. J. Morrissey, J. E. Briston, H. A. Stone.

Ward 2—State, P. C. Bridgman, H. P. Dearborn, Geo. P. Bridges; congressional, J. A. Hanan, John Cranitch, Anthony Sullivan, William Dalton.

Ward 3—State, Henry H. Hunt, T. C. Sheridan, George Bailey, M. J. Duane; congressional, H. L. Burrage, F. F. Mague, T. J. Greene, W. H. Bacon.

Ward 4—State, P. A. McVicar, H. P. Knight, John Dolan; congressional, Geo. L. Chandler, F. W. Freeman, Dennis O'Donnell.

Ward 5—State, William H. Kerrigan, Thomas J. Galvin, W. H. McOwen; congressional, James E. Connors, William Kerrigan, W. H. McOwen.

Ward 6—State, D. F. Flanagan, D. J. Linehan, H. P. Waters; congressional, G. H. Linder, Richard Saltonstall, W. F. Woodman.

Ward 7—State, W. J. Follett, F. H. Howes; congressional, A. C. Mudge, Jasper N. Keller.

POLITICAL.

The anti-McKinley Republicans are of many varieties. Really most formidable among them are the vast body of conservative Republicans who are afraid of McKinley both as a tariff fanatic and a financial shuffler. Their increasing alarm, and their boldness in speaking out their thought, are leading directly to the toning down of tariff planks and the toning up of currency planks in the East, and will do more than any other single cause to prevent McKinley's nomination.—New York Evening Post.

Mr. Bayard is a good man, and well disposed to good men, even when they are Englishmen. He is also an able and experienced man, a thorough American in a high sense. It is gratifying to believe that the resolutions of the House will cause him no greater concern than they cause to his friends at home, and that is not much.—Harper's Weekly.

Second only to the Cuban resolutions in commanding the intense interest of the House yesterday was the announcement from Secretary Morton that in deference to the request of members the government seeds would be put up in packages of five instead of 15. It was greeted with applause. The great men turned from the work of crushing Spain and proclaiming liberty throughout the earth to receive, with equally swelling hearts, the news of another great victory for the right—their right to distribute three times as many packages of government seed as had been expected. It was a big day for Congress.—Springfield Republican.

THE BEST MAN WANTED.

Gen. Draper's letter of withdrawal has roused great interest in the question of his successor and there are many candidates in the field. Evidently there will be a warm contest and judging from a comprehensive review of the field made by a Boston paper, with interviews with prominent Republicans, the two leading candidates are Hon. J. R. Leeson and Senator Sprague. Mr. Leeson is warmly endorsed by prominent men all over the district, and although there was at first some doubt whether he would accept, it is now certain that he would not refuse the nomination, although he will make no active contest, leaving the matter in the hands of his friends. His services in the Governor's council, and as a member of the dock commission, and as president of the Boston Merchant's Association, have called public attention to his ability and interest in all that concerns the best interests of the state, and if chosen he would maintain the traditional high standard of public men in Massachusetts. His nomination would also do something to keep this same high standard from becoming merely a tradition. The people of the state are not at all proud of the figure cut by some of the state's representatives at Washington.

The question of a representative is a very serious matter and all considerations but those of the good of the public service should be disregarded. We have seen the folly of filling Congress with self-seeking demagogues on the one hand, and on the other with small, incompetent persons, whose main purpose in taking the position is to air themselves with a little brief authority, without a single qualification for the discharge of the duties of such a high office. It is such a method of choosing representatives that has made our Congress the laughing-stock of the nations, and Massachusetts is not entirely guiltless in this respect.

A representative should represent something, some definite ideas on public policy, and on public questions, and not be merely a figure-head, who simply counts one when a vote is taken. There are more than enough of this kind of men at Washington. Of all the men who have been mentioned, Mr. Leeson is the most prominent as standing for something definite, and as being a platform in himself.

In looking over the field it is instructive to see the kind of men who are endorsing Mr. Leeson. In Brookline there are Hon. John W. Candler, Mr. W. R. Chester, Mr. Jacob P. Bates, president of the Brookline Republican Club. In Dedham one of the leading Republicans is quoted as saying that "the strongest man in point of ability mentioned is Hon. J. R. Leeson." Representative Humphrey of Dedham also says the same thing, and this is a sample of the views of public men in the district.

Brighton and Roxbury are naturally for Mr. Sprague, and many of the other towns have favorite sons, but it is conceded that Newton has the strongest claim upon the nomination, and that if it unites on Mr. Leeson he will be nominated.

There is the usual danger of course that Newton's vote will be divided, and being split up in favor of several men, the nomination will go elsewhere. That is the way things are usually managed here, and outsiders take a good deal of pleasure in helping such division for their own ends. In the past dozen years, Newton has lost the chance of naming the candidate several times by such a short-sighted and selfish policy.

Whether it will be the case this year, remains to be seen. We notice that the Boston papers are trying to encourage it, probably in the interest of their own favorite candidate, and the trap is such an innocent and guileless affair, that probably Newton men will tumble into it, as usual.

What earthly use is there in supporting this or that man, who has not the slightest chance of being nominated, whether for considerations of personal friendship or for other reasons, when by combining on a man who is favored all through the district, Newton could easily secure the honor.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

It is reported that the public property committee have decided in favor of the erection of a new High school building to cost about $200,000, some $50,000 of which is due to the plan for a large hall in the building. As far as the hall is concerned it is difficult to see why it is needed, when the drill hall would answer every purpose, and was built at large expense, in order to furnish a hall for meetings of the school. It is like throwing just so much money away and Newton is not in a financial condition to afford any expenditure that is not absolutely necessary. If a new High school building is to be erected, and many doubt the expediency of doing it at this time, the cost should be cut down to the lowest possible limit.

For some years we have been coddling the High school at the expense of other schools, and the result is there is a great disproportion between the accommodations offered in the grammar and primary schools compared with those of the High school, and also in the salaries paid in the two. It is even said that last year the lower schools were kept so short that some of them had to go without crayons, and filthy school books could not be recovered, because they were told that there was no money, and yet enough was saved out of the incidental fund to raise the salaries of some of the High school teachers. Such things do not seem to be right, especially as the grammar schools are for all the children of the city and the High school is only for the minority. If any partiality is to be shown it ought to be in favor of the grammar and primary schools, as all the taxpayers are interested in these.

As for the new High school building there are many people who do not see any necessity of doing anything at present. The present building is not overcrowded, and could be made to answer for the next ten years. The interest on the cost of a new building for that time would pay for all needed repairs on the old building and leave a balance besides. With proper ventilation and plumbing the present building could be made to answer all requirements, and this would give time to decide what kind of a building is needed. When other cities are dividing their High schools into English and Latin with separate buildings, it is a question whether Newton should not do the same. It is claimed that this system gives the best results and such an important question needs careful consideration. Besides, there is the question of a manual training school which will have to be decided in the next few years, and it may affect the High school problem in a way that can not now be foreseen.

There are so many good arguments against any action at this time that it does not seem wise to decide the matter hastily, and there is good ground for believing that to build this year would be to involve the city in an extravagant outlay. With all the other expenditures that are on hand at this time a new High school building can very well wait till a more convenient season, or at any rate till the work can be done in an economical way.

The people of Newton seem to be unanimous in demanding that all the street car lines shall start from Newton and furnish transportation to any part of the city for one fare and without change of cars, as urged by the GRAPHIC last week. They say that Washington street was widened at great expense for the benefit of the public and not for any one street car company, and that 5 cent transfers will not answer the purpose. The Newton & Waltham company are willing to grant such transfers, but they are naturally unwilling to share the most profitable section of their line with any other company. But the aldermen have to consider the interests of the public and not the value of street railway stock, and the public demand for the granting of the petition in question is such that it would hardly be a wise move to refuse it. As far as the public are concerned they do not care whether such a move leads to consolidation or not, so long as they are accommodated. When the location on Washington street is granted to these companies for their double track line, the condition ought to go with it that they shall keep the street sprinkled, as such sprinkling is as much for their benefit as for that of the public.

The action of the board of aldermen in regard to Mrs. Merritt's petition for moving her house, has excited a good deal of surprise and also of adverse comment. The house itself does not differ much in appearance, as far as outsiders can see, from many of the houses on the same street, the fire risk would be no greater than in many other cases, and Mrs. Merritt's vacant land is taxed at a high rate, and she naturally wishes it to bring in an income. It seems to the general public as if the aldermen had made a mistake in this matter, which they will recognize when they come to think over it, and especially when they hear the adverse comments that are made on all sides. Because Mrs. Merritt is a widow, is no reason why she should be refused privileges which are granted to every one else. Many prominent citizens even go so far as to speak of it as an "outrageous discrimination."

In regard to the passage of the Cuban resolutions by Congress, Representative Gillett of Springfield aptly characterized both branches in his speech on the question. In referring to the Senate, he said:

"It is not parliamentary to speak of the other branch of Congress, and I will not do so; but I can conceive that if there is anywhere on this hemisphere a legislative body which has forfeited public confidence, which is distrusted by its constituents, which, when explanation for the good of its constituents has been presented to it, has put it aside, which sees the country in bankruptcy and suffering, trade dull, commerce paralyzed, everybody appealing to it for aid, and which deliberately refuses that aid, I can, I say, conceive that if there is anywhere such a body as that, it might well try to divert public attention from its own misconduct by stirring up a feeling about foreign war, a fever of martial ambition, and might try by some gale of enthusiasm to turn from itself the reprobation it deserves and to fan itself back into popularity."

Now comes a statement, on high authority, that the flag laws were enacted at the behests of a lobby, working in the interests of the bunting manufacturers. From the character of some of the men who were posing as enthusiastic patriots, in advocacy of such a law every intelligent person knew that something of the kind must be true. It is generally safe to distrust the man who makes loud professions over his patriotism, as well as the one who is always taking of his devotion to his religion. Both things should be such a matter of course that the possessor would not need to inform people that he had them.

The hearing on the preservation of the old State House was an earnest affair, and the demonstration against the plan of the committee to have the Bullfinch front torn down was spirited enough to show the sentiment of the people. The number of architects who testified that it would be an easy matter to make the necessary repairs proved that this plan is practicable, although it will not cost more than a quarter as much as the plan for a new building. The State House commission has outlived its usefulness and ought to be granted an honorable discharge at once.

THROUGH the efforts of the wheelmen of Springfield a new system of street watering will be practiced in that enterprising little city this year. The main thoroughfares will be watered on one side only at one time, leaving a reasonably dry surface available at all hours. Here is a suggestion for Newton.

THE West End was voted a location on Tremont, Park and Washington streets on Monday night, and then the vote was reconsidered, as the company had no plans on file. The location will be granted as soon as the company furnish plans which meet the approval of the board.

HIS VIGILANCE REWARDED.

The Story of a Man Who Was Prepared For Footpads.

There is a man in Buena Park who has always been afraid of being robbed by footpads. A few weeks ago he decided that he would prepare himself to defend his property and person if attacked. So he purchased a revolver—not an ordinary revolver, but a long barreled one, the sort the cowboys carry out west. For several nights he carried the gun, and the assurance with which he walked no doubt frightened the footpads, for they left him unmolested. He was pleased with the sense of security he felt from the thumping of this weapon against his leg, and his fears were quieted until one night not long ago.

The sidewalks were slippery, and he was picking his way along toward his home, when a man bumped against him. The offender was profuse in his apologies as he struggled to regain his foothold.

"It was purely accidental, I assure you, sir," said he. "Certainly, certainly," replied the Buena Park man, "no harm done," and they separated.

A moment later he felt for his watch, it was gone. Then he felt for his gun; it was safe, and its size and weight gave him courage. He turned and started on the run in the direction the man had taken, and before he had gone a block overtook him. He grabbed him by the collar with his left hand, and, sticking the pistol in his face, commanded him to give up the watch.

"All right, all right; don't shoot," said the trembling man, as he handed over a watch, and, breaking away, ran down the street as fast as his legs would carry him.

"I'll teach you footpads a thing or two," shouted the Buena Park man, but there was no response, and putting the watch in his pocket he started toward home. At each step he grew more and more indignant at the crime of society that permitted such criminals as pickpockets and footpads, and when he reached home he was very angry.

"What makes you look so ferocious?" were his wife's first words.

"Been held up; fellow took my watch, but I got it back again," he said. "What are you talking about? You left your watch at home this morning," said she as she took from his pocket the watch that belonged to the other man. The Buena Park man is still advertising for the owner of that watch.—Chicago Times-Herald.

TAKE CARE OF THE CHEST.

And the Rest of the Body Will Take Care of Itself.

"Take care of your chest," says a physical culture teacher, "and the rest of your body will take care of itself. The chest is the chief thing to be remembered. Keep it well raised and your head, spine and shoulders will involuntarily assume their proper positions without any effort on your part. The cry from parents and teachers used to be, 'Throw your shoulders back!' But this mistaken notion is now completely exploded. The shoulders have nothing to do with correct posture. It is all the chest, and its elevation or depression will regulate the rest of the body. The chest is the seat of all things spiritual, elevated and ennobling. Bring it into prominence and you bring into prominence the best qualities of your nature."

"It has been said that whatever psychological attribute is most marked in a human being is correspondingly most marked in his physical being. If he's a glutton, his stomach is most in evidence; if a scholar or brain worker, his head is sure to be thrust well forward; but if he preserves a proper intellectual balance he walks with his chest in advance of the rest of his body."

"It is curious, too, how one may really influence his own mental condition in this way. Just try and see how impossible it is to say, 'Oh, how happy I am!' with sunken chest and spent breath. One involuntarily lifts his chest and takes a good long breath when he says anything optimistic and brave, for if he doesn't he might just as well say 'Have mercy on us miserable sinners.' The effect is the same. There is no surer cure for the 'blues' or like maladies than merely lifting the chest and taking a good, long breath. It scares away all the bugaboos of pessimism.—New York Sun.

battles fought here and in this vicinity during the war.

—Mrs. George Clark of Otis street returned this week from a short stay in Somerville.

—The Neighborhood Whist Club met Wednesday evening with Miss Lela Vose of Edinboro street.

—A very pretty "charity dance" for the benefit of the Lend a Hand Society will be given Tuesday evening, April 21, in Denison hall.

—There are letters remaining in the post-office for Miss Matilda Benson, Mrs. F. L. Blanchard, Mrs. Howe and Miss E. Morgan.

—Many of the old residents look with mournful eyes at the destruction of ancient landmarks and wish they might have been spared until after their day.

—The funeral of Walter Hobbs was held Saturday afternoon in the Central Congregational church. Rev. J. M. Dutton officiated at the sad services.

—Last Sunday Mrs. W. P. Soule was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Grows of Lynn, who had been taken suddenly ill. She passed away Monday morning.

—The regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias was held Monday evening. Arrangements are in progress for an entertainment and supper to be given by this society at their next meeting Monday evening, April 20.

—Mount Ida Council, Royal Arcanum, hold their regular meeting next Monday evening. Five candidates are to be initiated and several applications will be presented. It is expected that a large delegation of visitors will be present.

—Mr. M. E. Sloan of Minnesota will give a lecture illustrated by numerous stereoscopic views in the Methodist church, Thursday evening. The views will comprise subjects and places of interest from the Midland lakes to the Pacific slope.

—Prof. O. L. Carter, the well known music teacher, recently removed his place of residence here from Boston and on Monday evening he held a recital of Newtonville pupils in his large double parlors. They were of all grades, from young children seven years old to young teachers. Some of the players were very brilliant and many displayed great talent in music. Most of them were piano pupils of some kind. There were over 30 numbers in all on the program, and all were performed without hesitation or confusion by these well trained young people, some of whom will not fail to reach a high place yet in the musical world.

—The annual meeting of the First Universalist church, last evening, was a rather stormy gathering. The announcement that the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Ira A. Priest, which was presented to the church March 29, was to be acted on, brought out a large attendance, and at times the discussion waxed rather warm. Charles S. Keene was moderator. During the discussion the trustees were openly accused of forcing the resignation of the pastor against the wishes of the majority of the parish. The chairman, replying for the trustees, stated that no official action of this kind had been taken by the trustees. Mr. Priest might, however, have received letters from members of the board of trustees as individuals. A vote was taken, showing 26 in favor of accepting the resignation and 24 opposed. The trustees then received the resignation of Mr. Priest, which was again voted to accept the resignation, 38 to 27. It is freely said that the majority of the members of the parish were in sympathy with him and perfectly satisfied with him as a pastor. To the great majority of members the letter of resignation came as a complete surprise. Rev. Mr. Priest has held the pulpit of the Universalist church for five years, and has been very successful as a pastor. He came to Newton from Hudson, where he filled a long pastorate.

—A pleasant social event Monday afternoon was an "at home" given by Mrs. John Carter for her daughter, Miss Eleanor Carter of Smith College. Mrs. Carter and Miss Carter received from 5 to 7, and were assisted by Miss Alice Ward of New York. Mrs. Carter's sister. A large number of guests were present.

—Saturday March 28, a quiet home wedding took place on Otis street, the contracting parties being Mrs. Ann Hill and Mr. James McNamany of Racine, Wis. The service, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Dutton, was witnessed by a few family friends and relatives. The bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. McNamany will reside on Otis street.

—A word of caution to the residents will not be out of place before the summer arrives. Owing to the peculiar inquiries made by some peddlers recently, regarding the habits of the people during the warm season, it might be safer to remove articles of great value from the homes, or better still to leave some trustworthy party in the house during the stay of the family at shore or mountain.

—Our readers will be pleased to learn that Messrs. C. Knaff & Son, for over ten years successfully engaged in fine upholstery work in Brookline, have established head quarters in the new Claffin building next to the post office where they will be glad to welcome new patrons in search of superior work at reasonable rates, under personal supervision of the proprietors. They are able to supply everything connected with a first-class upholstery establishment.

—The Newtonville Real Estate and Insurance Exchange, under the management of Mr. G. H. Loomis, will hereafter occupy pleasant and convenient quarters in Denison block. His announcement will be found in another part of this paper. Mr. Loomis will be assisted by Carl Blaisdell in showing property for sale or to let. Owing to unfavorable weather there has not been as yet a lively rush, but Mr. Loomis predicts a boom in the near future.

—It seems likely that Bulloughs pond will be preserved to Newtonville after all, for a proposition has been made by Mr. George W. Morse on behalf of the owners that they will give some of the land for the purpose of the pond provided the city will add a roadway around the premises, and clean off the loam underneath, so as to give a good sandy or gravelly bottom. It is believed this proposition will be accepted by the city.

—A very successful charity whist was given at the Newton club house last Monday afternoon in aid of the Working Girls' Holiday House, at which a large number of society people were present to help such a worthy cause. Over seventy-five dollars was made, after expenses had been paid, and many dainty prizes given. The managers were Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, Mrs. J. A. Conkey, Mrs. J. E. Hollis and Miss Mary B. Hackett.

—Mr. George W. Morse has been invited by the National Battlefield Park Committee of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Wilderness and Spotsylvania battle fields to deliver an address on April 10th at Fredericksburg, but owing to engagements has been obliged to decline. Mr. Morse is well known in that vicinity, having managed some litigation there and at Alexandria and Richmond in the interest of certain electrical corporations. The following is a clipping from the Fredericksburg Free Lance of March 28th, indicating that the people in Old Virginia prefer that a soldier of the Union should deliver addresses than that current politicians should do so: "The Hon. Mr. Morse, who was invited by the National Battlefield Park Committee to speak at the general public meeting to be held here April 10th to further the movement looking to the establishment of a National Park here, is not Congressman Morse, as was printed in some of the papers, but is Major George W. Morse of Boston, who participated in the principal —The regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held this afternoon. A paper on "Summer Days in Sweden" was given by Mrs. E. N. L. Watson.

—Mr. C. E. Hastings has rented another of Mr. V. E. Carpenter's beautiful new houses on Webster street to Dr. Jordan of 2 Park Square, Boston, dentist; also rented one of G. H. Pratt's houses on Camden road, Auburndale, to Mr. Geo. Branstetter of Baltimore, Md.

—One of the youngest prisoners on record occupied a cell at police headquarters Tuesday evening. He was Daniel Cogan, 6 years old, who ran away from the home for convalescents at Wellesley with a companion, William Malone, 12, Tuesday afternoon. The Newton police were at once notified, and a few hours later Patrolman Quilty of Division 1 picked the boys up at Auburndale, and they were locked up as runaways. The Cogan boy lives at 172 Emerald street, South Boston, and the Malone lad's home is on 6th street.

—The annual meeting of the West Newton Savings Bank was held at their rooms, last evening. The bank is in a flourishing condition, having deposits of nearly half a million of dollars. From the report of J. H. —Wm. Malone, 12 years old, and Daniel Cogan, 6 years old, wandered away from the convalescent home at Wellesley, Tuesday, and paid Auburndale a visit. Officer Quilty saw the boys and on questioning them, found out where they belonged. He accordingly shipped them to police headquarters, and Wednesday they were returned to the home.

—The annual meeting of the Newton Boat Club will be held at the Clubhouse, Riverside, on Monday evening, April 13th, at 8 o'clock, to hear the reports of the committees, to elect officers for the ensuing year and to make several changes in the By-Laws of the club. The officers nominated for the ensuing year are as follows: President, A. Stuart Pratt; vice-president, Quincy Pond; secretary, Richard W. Bunting; treasurer, Waldo W. Cole; captain, Harry L. Burrage.

—In spite of the inclemency of the weather, a goodly company of musical people gathered at the home of Miss Alice A. Bruce last Thursday evening and listened to a very enjoyable program. The numbers consisted of a piano solo by Miss Chapin, violin solo by Miss Dennis, tenor solos by Mr. Ferguson, contralto solos by Mrs. Beardsley and Miss Bruce. The feature of the evening was the baritone solos by Prof. Francis W. Perry of Boston, Miss Bruce's teacher. Mr. Perry is an artist in every sense of the word, and his magnificent singing was heartily appreciated by all present. Mr. Perry is the instructor of Miss Hattie Belle Ladd, the charming young singer of Castle Square Theatre. Miss Gertrude Dennis, the violinist, is a rising young artist, and has marked ability and musical talent. She played with unusual taste and expression, and her numbers were heartily enjoyed. Miss Marion Chapin, the contralto, also sang in a highly creditable manner. A dainty collation was served.

—An event of interest in this village was the reception, Wednesday afternoon and evening, of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge S. Roberts of Cambridge. The family shortly removed to Cambridge, where they have recently completed a new house. About 300 persons were present and the affair was greatly enjoyed. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Haskell and daughter, Rev. George W. Adams and wife, Miss Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Monk of Newton, Rev. C. M. Southgate and wife, Rev. Calvin Cutler and wife, E. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Harvey, Mr. Arthur F. Farley, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bridgman, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Knowlton, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hunt.

—The Gilt Edge Whist Club finished a most successful season by holding its last meeting at the residence of Mr. Fred K. Hall, and was under the management of Miss Hall, ably assisted by Miss Hill and Mrs. Butterfield. Mr. E. Hall acting as master of ceremony. The Club departed from its usual custom of playing whist by doing justice to an elaborate collation, the menu cards of which were specially designed for the occasion, bearing on the cover the emblem of the club. The dinner was followed by an entertainment furnished by members and consisted of piano solos by Misses Foster and Robinson, piano and mandolin duet by Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hall, flute and banjo solos by Mr. J. R. Robinson, who also showed that he could manufacture poetry as well as canoes, by reading an original poem on the prophecies of the club, which abounded in local hits. Songs by Messrs. K. and E. Hall with the whole club as a chorus, and a tenor solo by Mr. Brown. One of the features of the evening was a skit written in dialect on the history of the club, read by its author, Miss Gleason, who is a daughter of the proprietor of the once popular Gleason's Pictorial Magazine.

High School Notes.

Last Wednesday evening the W. I. T. held a very pretty gentlemen's night at the home of Miss Edith Cheney. The party played whist till about 10.30 when supper was served. After that several flash lights were taken of the entire party, three of the club and three of the gentlemen. The first ladies prize was a very dainty ring, which was taken by Miss Elwell of Newtonville. The first gentlemen's prize was a silver knife and was taken by Mr. Harry Joslyn. The second ladies prize was a butterfly and was taken by Miss Bancroft of Auburndale, and the second gentlemen's prize, hat mark, was won by Robert Dresser of Waban.

WHEN VIRTUE LOST.

A STORY TO PROVE THAT RIGHT DOES NOT ALWAYS COME UPPERMOST.

A Remarkable Tale of Love and Tragedy in a Southern Town—The Fatal Work of Two Bullets Fired by Enraged Rivals. The End of a Foolish Girl.

A Star reporter was one of a group in a hotel lobby the other evening and a New York drummer had just finished a story on the old line of virtue triumphing and the villain of the plot getting his just dues this side of the hot place, when a Kentucky congressman took the floor.

"That sort of thing," he said, "is well enough in books and on the stage and I am willing to agree that it happens in actual life, but not always. Let me cite an instance to the contrary."

There being no objection to the citation, the Kentuckian, after casting his eye over the company, proceeded:

"Years ago, in a southern town," he said, "there lived a pretty girl with a lot of money—a combination no man can deny the power of—and she had sweethearts galore, but two of her devotees, one quite a reputable man and the other quite as disreputable, and after her more for her money than herself, led all the rest, and both of them were very men and quick on the trigger. Any sensible person would have thought that the girl would have decided very early as between the good and the bad, but every one knows that women don't do that way in matters of the heart.

"I will say for her, though, that her preferences were for the decent man and he stood the best chance of winning among all of the contestants. His disreputable rival, however, received more or less encouragement and he was making a hot fight—so hot, in fact, that on one or two occasions the men had come to blows and once, at least, pistols had been drawn. The girl was foolish, as other women have been under like circumstances, and rather enjoyed the position she occupied, and felt flattered by the dangerous rivalry for her hand and heart. One day, though, it culminated tragically, and the girl didn't regret it, that anybody ever heard her mention. It was in the afternoon and a pleasant day and the two rivals met unexpectedly, just across the street from her house, and each on his way to call on her.

"The girl lived on a corner and they were approaching from different streets and almost butted into each other at the crossing. That was hardly the place to have it out, but they were hot blooded and young and on the instant two men jumped back from each other a few feet, two pistols flew from two hip pockets, two sharp reports rang out upon the air, and one man fell to the sidewalk, dead. And it wasn't the bad man, either. On the contrary, it was the reputable one, and there was a bullet hole straight through his forehead. The bad man's shot had preceded the other just enough, and the decent man's pistol went off as he threw up his hands. Five minutes later the whole street was in an uproar, and the bad man was in custody. The other man was carried over to the girl's house, for it was not known then that he was dead, and a physician was called. Half an hour later the dead body was removed to an undertaker's, and that part of the tragedy was over.

"During all the excitement, the girl had not made her appearance, and as soon as the air quieted a little search was made for her, because it was known that she had been in the house shortly before the shooting. Her mother went directly to her room, and when she opened the door, she saw her daughter sitting at the window, or rather leaning upon a flower shelf on the window sill, and her first thought was that the girl had seen the shooting and had fainted. She ran to her and lifted her up and as she did so she found her face bloody and the girl's body almost stiff. She ran, screaming out, and when the doctor came he found a dead girl with a bullet-hole in her head.

"Further examination showed a hole in the glass of the window, and the whole story was told. The girl had been sitting there, and had no doubt seen the meeting of the two men, and the bullet from the killed man's pistol had reached her there and ended her life at the same time the life of the man she would have married went out. Of course it was self defense in the case of the man who escaped his rival's bullet, and it was the rival's bullet which killed the girl, and the rival was beyond any earthly jurisdiction. The affair ended there, with nothing good in triumph, except a public sentiment which compelled the killer to stay away from the town for five or six years."

"Didn't he even meet a violent death or something like that?" inquired the drummer, thirsting for some trace of the usual in the tale.

"No," replied the Kentuckian, "not even that. His uncle died and left him a fine farm, and he found a very nice girl who was willing to marry him."

The drummer sighed and didn't offer to cap the Kentuckian's story with a better one.—Washington Star.

Better Work Every Day.

We ought never to be willing to live any year just as we lived the last one. No one is striving after the best things who is not intent on an upward and a forward movement continually. The circular movement is essential, too—the going around and around in the old grooves, daily tasks—yet even in this treadmill round there should be constant progress. We ought to do the same things better each day. Then in the midst of the outward routine our inner life ought to be growing in earnestness, in force, in depth.—J. R. Miller.

Couldn't Find It.

"How is it I never see you killing time?" asked an idle person.

"I can't find the time," said the busy man in perfect innocence.—Indianapolis Journal.

FUN IN ECONOMY.

One Woman Thinks It Is a Fascinating Sport, but Not Successful.

"Oh, but economy is a fascinating theory," exclaimed the woman in a tailor frock. "It's almost as exciting as a lottery ticket or playing the races. You put in a little and get out a lot of something. I always read those articles in the housekeeping papers that tell how you can make a walnut sideboard out of a pine piano box and cozy corners out of last year's chicken coops and catchalls that fill all beholders with envy out of your old overshoes."

"Yes," agreed said she in the picture hat, "I think those descriptions are perfectly fascinating, and I mean to try some of them when I get a little money ahead. Think of being able to take a lot of old packing cases and by means of a lot of plush and gliding and ornamental tacks being able to transform them into chairs and bookcases that nobody but your best enemy could tell from empire furniture."

"Don't you believe it," said the old maid. "I've tried it. I saved up my broom handles once to make a gypsy table that was described as making an ideal tea table. I put 47 different coats of stain on those broomsticks in an effort to persuade them to become cherry. Then I hired a carpenter, who worked two days trying to fit the broomsticks into a chessboard top so the thing would stand up. I bought wadding to pad the top, and felt to cover it, and fringe to go around it, and ornamental nails to hold it on. When it was done, I had spent three times what a good table would have cost at a shop, but I had a righteous glow of having economized that was worth any money."

The woman in the tailor frock laughed. "Ah, my dear," she said, "we have to pay for everything in this world that is worth having—even economy!"—Philadelphia Press.

LONDON OMNIBUSES.

Interesting Statistics of Transportation in the English Capital.

Some interesting details have appeared in a report on the omnibus and tram car service of London. The tramways, which correspond to our car lines, are all of 4 feet 8½ inches gauge except two lines, which are only 3 feet 6 inches. There are in the city 71 distinct routes, of which 58 are in use. The mileage of the worked lines is given as 849. The average speed of a London tram is 5.48 miles per hour; that of a London omnibus is 5.5 miles per hour. The average tram fare is 67-100ths of a penny (2 cents) per mile. The average omnibus fare is 92-100ths of a penny per mile.

There are 879 cars on the lines, which among them run 17,150 single journeys during their day's work, which lasts on the average 16 hours and 44 minutes. The omnibuses are more than twice as many. There are 2,130 of them, and there are run 35,000 single journeys in the course of a day that averages 15 hours and 32 minutes. There are 12 London tram companies. In the course of a year their cars run 22,787,000 miles and carry 225,263,000 passengers. The London omnibuses run 49,783,000 miles a year and carry 326,000,000 passengers.

To work its tram cars London requires 10,092 horses; to work its omnibuses it has 25,573. A summary of these figures shows that there are 3,229 vehicles employed, worked by 35,665 horses, traveling 72,500,000 miles and carrying 551,345,000 passengers in a year. It is calculated that each of the 800 omnibuses which pass the Mansion House in an hour will travel 64 miles a day, carrying 420 passengers as its day's work and earning 8s. 6d. during each of its 15 journeys.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Likeness of English and Americans.

As respects character, the British and American public are strikingly at one. The tone of popular sentiment is much the same. The attitude toward questions of general human interest is often identical. Political ideals are, at bottom, not so unlike as superficial observers fancy. Party spirit manifests itself in very similar fashion. Both are sensitive, though in slightly varying degrees, to the same appeals. The same national spirit animates both, showing itself in quite characteristic fashion when the jealousy of one is aroused against the other. Indeed it is in their mutual rivalries and jealousies that their spiritual kinship is often most manifest. Their diversity is superficial and provincial; their unity fundamental and racial. The American who can divest himself of provincialism in England and the Englishman who can lay aside his insularity in America each finds himself at home.—Edward M. Chapman in Century.

The tiny Welsh village of Burry Port boasts the oldest woman smoker in the world. Sarah Thomas celebrates her 108th birthday this month.

She puffs lustily a well-seasoned jet black clay, which a Bristol firm has undertaken to keep charged with the "soothing weed" for the rest of her days.—Church Family Newspaper.

We might tell you more about One Minute Cough Cure, but you probably know that it cures a cough. Every one does who has used it. It is a perfect remedy for coughs, colds, hoarseness. It is an especial favorite for children, being pleasant to take and quick in curing. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

MRS. GOOLD'S GRATITUDE.

Her Story of How She Was Restored to Health.

Condition Before and After the Birth of Her Child.

From every city, town and hamlet on this vast continent, come letters from suffering women: from those whose physicians have been unable to assist them, or from that numberless class whose confidence in Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the curative properties of her Vegetable Compound is unbounded.

Every letter received from women is recorded, and hundreds of volumes of cases treated aid in furnishing practical information for the women of to-day.

No letters are published without the request of the writer. The strictest confidence is observed. The following letter represents thousands:—

"I always enjoyed good health until six months before the birth of my babe. Then I was very weak; my back ached all the time. My physicians said I would be all right after the birth of the child, but I was not, although at that time I had the best of care. The pains in my back were almost unbearable. I had leucorrhoea in its worst form; menstruations were painful.

"Any work or care would entirely unnerve me. When my babe was 11 months old, friends persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one bottle I felt the effects. My back did not ache so badly, and I felt stronger. After taking four bottles I felt well. My ambition returned, menstruations were painless, leucorrhoea entirely cured, and I could take care of my babe and do my housework. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound for all women, especially for young mothers."—Mrs. H. L. GOULD, Oregon, Wis.

If Mrs. Goold had been well before the birth of her child, subsequent suffering would have been avoided. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should always be taken before and after birth, in order that the system may withstand the shock.

ELY'S PINEOLA BALSAM is a sure Remedy for coughs, colds, sore throat and for asthma.

It soothes, quickly abates the cough, and renders expectoration easy. Consumptives will invariably derive benefit from its use. Many who suppose their cases to be consumption are only suffering from a chronic cold or deep seated cough, often aggravated by catarrh. For catarrh use Ely's Cream Balm. Both remedies are pleasant to use. Cream Balm, 50 cts. per bottle; Pineola Balsam, 25c. Sold by Druggists.

Spring Time

Is when nearly everyone feels the need of some blood purifying, strength invigorating and health producing medicine. The real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the reason of its widespread popularity. Its unequalled success is its best recommendation.
The whole system is susceptible to the most gross from a medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla taken at this time, and we would lay special stress upon the time and remedy, for history has it recorded that delays are dangerous. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy of your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a fair trial.

THE ATLANTIC.

The Atlantic Monthly for April contains the opening chapters of The Old Things, a four-part story, by Henry James. Dr. T.
C. Mendenhall contributes an able article upon the Alaska Boundary Line. Lafar-go Hearn seeks to set forth the great consequences of the Chinese-Japanese war and its bearing upon western civilization. The second paper in the series of Race Characteristics in American Life is by Professor Shaler of Harvard University, on The Scotch Element in the American People. The Presidency and Senator Allison is the third paper in the series upon Presidential Candidates. Some Memories of Hawthorne, by his daughter, tell of Hawthorne's life in Italy. Old-Time
Sugar-Making is by Rowland E. Robinson.
Alice Brown gives a charming account of a visit to the town which stood for Cranford in Mrs. Gaskell's classic tale. The second paper upon the case of the Public Schools is by Fred W. Atkinson. Principal of the High School, Springfield. Other features are An Archer's Sojourn in the Okefnokee, by Maurice Thompson; A son of the Revolution, a short story by Octave Thane; a poem by J. Russell Taylor and Stuart Sterne; Book Reviews, and the usual departments. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

LITERARY NOTES.

Prof. John Trowbridge, of Harvard University, who is said to have been the first in the United States to make a successful Roentgen photograph by the cathode rays, gives a full description of principles and methods in his forthcoming book,
What is Electricity? which will be published by D. Appleton & Co. This work covers the entire ground of modern electricity.

It is supposed that Cecil Rhodes, the ruling genius of South Africa, was the original of the hero in Mr. Anthony Hope's novel, The God in the Car, recently published by D. Appleton & Co.

The full title of Mr. Gilbert Parker's new romance is "The Seats of the Mighty": Being the Memoirs of Captain Robert Moray, sometime an Officer in the Virginia Regiment, and afterwards of Anheuser's Regiment. For the time of his story, which is to be published by D. Appleton & Co., Mr. Parker has chosen the most absorbing period of the romantic eighteenth century history of Quebec. The curtain rises soon after General Braddock's defeat in Virginia, and the hero, a prisoner in Quebec, curiously entangled in the intrigues of La Pompadour, becomes a part of a strange history, full of adventure and the stress of peril, which culminates only after Wolfe's victory over Montcalm. The illustrations preserve the atmosphere of the text, for they present the famous buildings, gates, and battle grounds as they appeared at the time of the hero's imprisonment in Quebec.

A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring may be the means of keeping you well and hearty all summer.

shop in a portion of Farrell's pool room on Watertown street.

—Mrs. Sharpe Bateman and family have recently removed here from Lawrence and will reside on California street.

—Next Sunday at the Beulah Baptist Mission Mr. D. J. Atkins of Everett, known as the boy evangelist, will address the meeting.

—Monday morning in the police court
Arthur Houde, who assaulted Officer Lucey with a bottle Sunday, March 28, was fined $10 for that offense.

—Sunday morning Peter Mulligan, a lodger at police station 2, who had been locked up the night before, was found to be suffering with diphtheria and removed to the Newton hospital. Later the station was fumigated by the agent of the board of health.

—A special service was held at Beulah Baptist Mission, last Sunday afternoon, and attended by nearly seventy people.
Some pleasing singing and recitations were rendered by the scholars of the place, school and an address delivered by Mr.
David Nelson of Waltham.

—The St. Elmo Lodge, Sons of Temperance, will install the following officers at sistant conductor, Wendell Hudson; inside sentinel, A. N. Frye.

During the winter of 1893, F. M. Martin, of Long Beach, West Va., contracted a severe cold which left him with a cough.
In speaking of how he cured it he says: "I used several kinds of cough syrup but found no relief until I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved me almost instantly, and in a short time brought about a complete cure." "I was troubled with a cough or cold use this remedy and you will not find it necessary to try several kinds before you find relief. It has been in the market for over twenty years and constantly grown in favor and popularity. For sale at 25 and 30 cents per bottle by A. Hudson, Newton;
B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

An Appropriate Name.

The enclosed clipping from Framingham Tribune is to the point and would confer great honor on one of our rising men of Newton. Will you please insert in your paper:
If the citizens of South Framingham are desirous of a change of name, I would suggest for their consideration the name of "Dennison," which I think would be preferable to the present one, and would remove all cause for trouble that now exists, so far as the misarrangement of mail and freight matter is concerned, and would also be as appropriate as any name we might select, in view of the fact that the large industry bearing that name is about to locate here. "FRAMINGHAM."
South Framingham, Mar. 28, 1896.

Mr. Leeson for Congress.

[Boston Cor. Springfield Republican.]
The 11th district is sure to see a Republican contest for the seat of Gen. Draper.
The suggestion of ex-Councilor Joseph R.
Leeson is good. Though his experience in public life is limited to his service in the council, yet he rendered good service there.
He has been prominent in business affairs in a public way in Boston. He commands the confidence of the people. He carries himself like a man worthy of the place, and the party might easily go further and fare worse, and it would not be strange if it did.

It's all the same, a slight cold, congested lungs or severe cough. One Minute Cough Cure banishes them. Arthur Hudson,

Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

Chamberlain's

Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
This is the best medicine in the world for bowel complaint. It acts quickly and can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take.
Try it, and like many others you will recommend it to your friends. For sale at 25 and 30 cents per bottle by A. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B.
Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Andrew Lang on a Bicycle.

Andrew Lang has been learning to ride
the bicycle, and says:
"As far as I have gone (and I have gone over banks and braes which it was my intention to avoid,) cycling is the longest, slowest and most circuitous route between any two given points. As the intoxicated person said, it is not the length of the road, it is the breadth of the road that bothers me." —Argonaut.

A little ill, then a little pill. The ill is gone the pill has won. DeWitt's Little Early Risers the little pills that cure great ills. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard
Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P.
Thorn, Auburndale.

In combination, proportion and process Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, and unequalled in true merit.

No other medicine ever possessed so much curative power, or reached such enormous sales, or made such wonderful cures, as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is undoubtedly the best medicine ever made to purify, vitalize and enrich the blood.

That is the secret of its success.

Read this statement:

"When my son was 7 years of age, he had rheumatic fever and acute rheumatism, which settled in his left hip. He was so sick that no one thought there was any help for him. Five sores broke out on his thigh, which the doctor said were

Scrofula

sores. We had three different doctors.
Pieces of bone came out of the sores. The last doctor said the leg would have to be cut open and the bone scraped, before he could get well. Howard became so low that he would eat nothing, and one doctor said there was no chance for him.

"One day, a newspaper recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla was left at our door.
We decided to try this medicine. Howard commenced taking it the last of February, after having been sick for a year and a half. He hadn't taken it a week before I saw that his appetite began to improve, and then he gained rapidly. I gave him five bottles, when the sores were all healed and they never broke out again. The crutches he had used for four years were laid aside, as he had no further use for them. I give all the credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. ADA L. MOODY, Fay

—Mr. Louis A. Vachon is soon to leave his position as telegraph operator at the depot and will devote his time entirely to the bicycle business.

—Rev. George B. Thomas, who has been visiting his father, Prof. J. B. Thomas, at the Newton Theological Institute, has returned to Colorado Springs.

—Linnell & Snow have opened their well stocked store on Centre street, corner of Beacon. A large sign in black and gilt announces the name of the new firm.

—Mr. A. E. Armstrong has left his position as baggage master at the depot and gone to work for Murphy & Hughes. His place will be filled by Mr. George Farnce of Newton Highlands.

—Sunday evening at the First Congregational church, Rev. Mr. Noyes will preach the fifth of his course of sermons from unfamiliar texts dealing for his topic "The Goddess Fortune."

—Elwood W. Hinckle, for over three years a conductor on the Newton & Boston street railway, and on the Centre line a greater part of that time, has left his position with that company.

—A sociable was held in the Baptist church, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Baptist Union. A large number were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

—The schools have been closed this week during the Easter holidays. The scholars have been taking advantage of the vacation, judging from the number seen on the streets enjoying their different sports.

—The members of the Trinity Episcopal parish are rejoicing over the action of the parish at the annual meeting on Easter Monday evening in wiping entirely out of existence the debt of the parish of $2500.

—At the social of the Young People's Union auxiliary to the First Baptist church an interesting address upon "The Atlanta Exposition," was given by Mr. Stephen Greene.

—Rev. Mr. Noyes and Rev. Mr. McDaniel attended the third regular meeting of the Ministers' Union, held at the Swedenborgian church in Newtonville, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Noyes is secretary of the society.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Brooks, Mrs. Helen Brigham, Bernard Brady, Mrs. S. A. Carlton, Frank Danforth, C. E. Johnson, Mr. Lupton, S. G. Pierce, A. E. Perry, M. H. Sanderson, Henrietta Smith, Annie B. Stewart, Mrs. Julia Williams.

—Services at the Unitarian church Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. James Huxtable of South Boston will preach. Sunday school at 12. Hale Union at 7:30. —A very pleasant company gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stearns on Parker street, Tuesday evening, to celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary. They received quite a variety of tin ware, besides other presents more valuable. Supper was served, then games were played and a right good time enjoyed by all.

—Robert Gray, residing at the Crawford House, Boston, met with a serious accident on the boulevard, Wednesday afternoon. He was coasting down Commonwealth avenue on a bicycle, when he lost control of his wheel, and came into collision with an electric car at the Walnut street crossing. He was badly injured about the head and left side, and after being attended by a physician was removed to his home.

—A large number from this place are planning to attend the 7th annual convention of the Christian Endeavorers at Malden, Patriots Day, April 20th. Malden is preparing to give a royal welcome to the different branches of the society throughout Middlesex county. Two large auditoriums have been secured and preparations are being made on a large scale for the entertainment of all that may come.

—The yearly business meeting of Trinity church was held Monday evening and the following officers chosen to serve the coming year: Senior warden, H. F. Wells; junior warden, Frank H. Redpath; clerk, Francis Fritz; treasurer, H. J. Hyde; vestrymen, J. W. Hill, W. H. Golding, J. E. Harlow, J. P. Powers, H. H. Dodge; delegates, H. T. Wells, Edward Preble, E. H. Dodge.

—It is expected that by order of the bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Mr. Hughes, pastor of the Newton Centre church will be removed to Malden and Rev. Mr. Freeman of Waltham will take his place in this village. Rev. Mr. Hughes is much liked here and the citizens as well as the members of his church would regret his leaving.

—At the 25th anniversary of the Woman's Baptist foreign missionary society, held at the Clarendon Street Baptist church in Boston, a pretty souvenir booklet entitled "A Daughter of the King," a memorial to Mrs. Mary Low Colby, the first president of the society, was distributed, together with a pleasing photograph and sketch of her home in this village.

—The Easter services at the First Congregational church last Sunday were very appropriate, and attended by a large number, both morning and evening. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and symbols of Easter. In the morning Rev. Mr. Noyes preached an Easter sermon, and in the evening an Easter praise service was held. The latter exercise consisted of singing and recitations by the scholars of the Sunday school, an invocation by the pastor, an Easter welcome by Mr. Ernest Wilkins and exercises by the primary department.

—A malicious attempt to wreck a train on the circuit of the Boston & Albany, occurred in Brookline, Tuesday afternoon, but the work is thought to have been done by youngsters. As the train from Newton Centre, which arrives at Brookline at 3:25 p. m., was running between the stations of Brookline and Brookline Hills, it struck a part of an old wagon that had been laid across the track. The train was not running at much speed at the time and the danger was lessened by that fact. The remnants of the wagon, however, did considerable damage for the pieces struck the side of a carriage shop belonging to M. W. Quinlan and knocked a hole in the building. The debris returned to the track after striking the building, and before it was wholly demolished ruined several steps on the train.

—Mr. Chas. Ashford's child died Thursday morning.

—Farmers and everybody read Knapp's new advertisement in another column.

—Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Stone have returned to Newton Centre to remain.

—Young people's reception was largely attended on Tuesday at the Baptist chapel.

—Workmen are digging for a foundation to extend postoffice block to Pelham street.

—A few cases of the measles on Maple park, and also at the White House, Washington, D. C.

—Mrs. Francis E. Bowen of Summer street has rented her house from May 1st. She will make her home with her daughter at Newton.

—The valuable sewing machine at Knapp's fell to Mrs. D. H. Jones, but she had one, and passed it to a woman who had not.

—A large brush fire on a lot of vacant land off Parker street owned by George White was the cause of an alarm from box 751 Thursday afternoon.

—Associates hall will be arrayed in holiday attire next Wednesday and Thursday by the ladies of Trinity parish, and the articles offered for sale will be appropriate to all seasons of the year.

—Last evening the Carpenter's Local Union, No. 124, C. & J. of A., gave its 3rd grand social in Bray's hall. There was a large attendance and dancing enjoyed from 8 until 2. The floor was in charge of J. P. Delusha, assisted by H. Burns, C. H. Glover, T. Asbell, F. C. Boiesner, Archie McDonald, J. N. McIsaac, A. Davis, S. O'Brien, F. Osborne, A. McDonald and F. H. Jordan.

—Joanna Larigan, a domestic in the family of Mr. John Whalen of Ward street, has been missing for more than a week. On Tuesday last week she left her employer's house to visit her brother in Brookline. She has not since been seen, and her friends are becoming anxious about her. She had not been in good health previous to her disappearance, and it is feared that she may have committed suicide. The matter was reported at police headquarters, Wednesday evening, and the case is being investigated. She is described as about 26 years old, 5 feet 6 inches, with light brown hair, and blue eyes. When last seen she wore a gray Irish homespun dress, and a black hat and sack.

—Miss Elizabeth T. Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Woods of Heath street, Chestnut Hill, was married at the Church of St. Mary of the Assumption, yesterday, to Mr. Martin Kirby of South Boston. The bride wore ivory white satin cut en train, with duchess lace trimmings, veil and orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Woods, who wore a charming dress of the dotted muslin with hat to match. The best man was Mr. Daniel Shea of Newton. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Heath street, the couple receiving their guests under a floral bow.

—Mrs. Kirby started for New York, where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return they will live at 507 East 34 street, South Boston.

—At the Baptist church, Wednesday noon, a very pretty marriage was celebrated, the contracting parties were Mr. H. J. Carlson and Miss Carrie E. Comfort. The ceremony was performed at noon by Rev. Alvah Hovey and prayer was offered by Rev. E. F. Mullins. The church was well filled and was tastefully decorated with Easter lilies and palms. The maid of honor was Miss Florence Goodwin of Saxtonville and the best man was Mr. Edward Carlson, the brother of the groom. The ushers were Messrs. Williams, Thomas, Smith, and Ingraham. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was held at the residence of Mr. Edward H. Mason on Ward street. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson left on a wedding tour and upon their return will reside in this place.

SERVICE OF RECOGNITION.

REV. EDGAR Y. MULLINS WELCOMED TO THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, NEWTON CENTRE—NEARLY 200 CLERGYMEN TOOK PART.

A service of recognition of Rev. Edgar Y. Mullins as pastor of the First Baptist church at Newton Centre was held last evening.

The church was crowded by the members of the parish and by nearly 200 prominent clergymen of the denomination from all parts of the state, including members of the faculty of the Newton Theological Institute.

The pastors of each of the other churches occupied seats on the platform and assisted in the services.

The exercises opened with the invocation by Rev. E. F. McDaniel of the Unitarian church, Scripture reading by Rev. E. T. Sullivan of Trinity followed. Prayer was offered by Rev. Alvah Hovey of the Newton Theological Institute, and Rev. E. J. Bean of the Ruggles Street church, Boston, extended a welcome to New England.

On behalf of the ministers and people of Newton Centre Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First Congregational church extended the right hand of fellowship. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. B. A. Greene of the Washington street church, Lynn, on "The Relation of the Pastor to the Church." The service closed with the benediction by the new pastor.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde has gone to Providence with friends.

—Miss Logan has returned from her visit to friends in Hartford.

—Next Sunday the services at St. Paul's will be at 9:45, 10:45 and 7 o'clock.

—Harold Gilbert from Dartmouth College is spending his vacation here.

—Mrs. G. B. King has gone to Washington, D. C., for a short stay.

—The C. L. S. C. will hold its next meeting with Mrs. L. A. Ross, Hyde street.

—The South Side Whist Club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Richards next week.

—The next meeting of the Monday Club will be with Mrs. Robinson, Webster street.

—Mrs. Moore, the mother of Mrs. Shumway, has gone to Reading for a short visit.

—The West End Literary Club will meet with Miss Stuntz, Boylston street, Eliot, April 13th.

—Mrs. W. D. Hoffman, who has been spending the winter at the West, has returned.

—The Hardwick family have moved to their new house on Allerton road near the residence of Mr. G. A. Moore.

—The prospects for a base ball team, representative of this village, are very doubtful unless more enthusiasm toward it is displayed.

—Rev. H. J. Patrick will conduct the services in the morning and Rev. Lawrence Phelps in the evening at the Congregational church, next Sunday.

—All children who love dolls, all people who love children and every one who enjoys and appreciates a novel entertainment will want to go to the Methodist church next Tuesday evening, April 14. The names of Mr. Waterhouse, Mr. Hyde, Miss Stevens, Miss Cook and Mr. Gleason, with the mention of a doll drill by ten tiny maidens, should guarantee a crowded house.

—There was a large attendance of the members of the Literary Clubs, of those belonging to the Federation, at Watertown on Wednesday from this village.

—Mr. Seward W. Jones leaves this week for Aberdeen, Scotland, on business. He will sail from New York on steamer Lucania, Cunard line.

—There will be no services next Sunday at the M. E. church owing to its being conference Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bonner are attending conference at Springfield.

—The prettiest and best bicycle in Newton is ridden by Chas. B. Woodworth, the bicycle agent. He is thoroughly posted on bicycles. Intending purchasers should have a talk with him. See his adv.

—Mr. H. S. Hiltz, station agent at Eliot, has a fine house completed on the Weston lands and is having plans made for another near by, and we hear that Mr. Weston and other parties will soon commence building operations.

—The Crafts estate has leased the house next the Engine House lately occupied by Mr. J. S. Williams to Messrs. Sanderson & Ruggles, carpenters and builders, and they are now making alterations and additions to make it suitable for two families, and will occupy on completion.

—There will be a sociable in the chapel of the Congregational church next Tuesday evening, April 14th. A musical program of unusual interest has been arranged for the evening, consisting of songs by a quartet of male voices and selections upon the piano and organ. A general invitation is extended to all and a good time assured.

—The seventeenth birthday anniversary of the twin brothers, Willie and Arthur Anderson, occurred on Friday, April 3d, and their young friends surprised them by calling on them in large numbers at their home at the Edmonds residence. The birthday cake and other reminders of their years on earth were presented, and the evening was one of much enjoyment.

—At St. Paul's church the Easter services were largely attended. The floral decorations were in most excellent taste and the music, under the direction of choirmaster Louis S. Brigham, was well rendered and showed careful preparation. The children's service with carols, under the direction of Miss Florence L. Johnson, was peculiarly expressive of the Easter spirit and was heartily shared by the children and their elders.

—The Song Recital given by Miss Florence Wood, soprano, at the Newton Highlands Clubhouse on Tuesday evening last, was most charming and satisfactory affair. Miss Wood was assisted by Mr. J. C. Bartlett, tenor, of Dr. Thomas's church, Brookline, Mr. Van Vleeton, baritone, harpist, and Mr. Fernando H. Wood, accompanist. Miss Wood's six numbers, including a duet with Mr. Bartlett, showed the versatility of this promising young singer. The pulse and ease which Miss Wood already shows in the management of her rich and beautiful voice, is easily traceable by one who remembers Clara Doria, her teacher in a public singer. Miss Wood was most fortunate in her choice of a tenor. Mr. Rogers playing was also something to be recalled with delight.

—"Nativism" in Paris. The directors of the Paris Grand Opera, in answer to criticisms that, although subsidized, they were producing foreign instead of French works, recently drew up a list by which they showed that during the past 20 years they had mounted 88 operas by Frenchmen and only 6 by foreigners, the two outsiders being Wagner and Verdi. M. Maurel, the Parisian critic, has now carried the statistics back to the beginning of the century.

It seems that the last generation of Frenchmen were not so particular as to the nationality of musicians. From the year 1800 down to the present time the Paris Grand Opera has produced works by 109 French and 82 foreign composers. On the other hand, it appears that only 5,934 performances of French operas have during this period been given, as against 8,149 representations of works by foreign musicians. The French writer laments that his compatriots preferred foreign works, although in fairness it should be said that the list probably includes the operas of Meyerbeer, Rossini, and other great masters of a previous generation, who, although not French by birth, were practically Parisian by adoption.—London News.

—Useful Reading. Mrs. Browning says: "By being ungenerous, even to a book And calculating profits, so much help By so doing, we give to the common man. We gloriously forget ourselves and plunge Soul forward, headlong into a book's profound. Impassioned by its beauty and salt of truth— 'Tis then we get the right good from a book."

It must be remembered that the woman who wrote this was a profound scholar, one who delighted in hard study and who was educated far beyond most women of her day. She was able to "plunge soul forward" into many books besides sensational novels. The rule does not apply to those who find everything which is not exciting a bore.—Brooklyn Eagle.

—Louis Napoleon's Plot. Sir William Fraser states, in a volume of reminiscences which has just been published, that Napoleon III, while in exile at Chiselhurst, matured a plan to restore himself to the throne. A private yacht, of which the late Mr. James Asbury was owner, had been actually chartered for the purpose of landing the former emperor on the French coast, whence he was to repair in disguise to Chalons, where an army corps was engaged in maneuvers, there throw off his incognito and lead the troops into Paris.

Busy people have no time, and sensible people have no inclination to use a slow remedy. One Minute Cough Cure acts promptly and gives relief to the commonest ailments. Newton Highlands, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

—Newton Lower Falls. Mr. Wilson is recovering from a severe attack of the grip.

—Mr. C. C. Thomas lost a valuable horse last week by sickness.

—Scholars have been enjoying this week out of school their spring vacation.

—Mr. D. E. Warren, expressman, has purchased a new, speedy and stylish driving horse.

—Mr. Matthew Manning has severed his connections as agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., covering territory in this vicinity.

—The auction sales held at Dolan's block have been concluded. About all the goods, consisting of second hand furniture, were disposed of.

—It is understood the Natick & Cohitate electric road company are making an effort to extend their line through to West Newton, although it looks like an improbable venture.

—Officer Tainter arrested a herds driver, who was returning early Sunday morning, after leaving a passenger at Wellesley Hills. The driver was intoxicated. His team was put up at Fitzgerald's stable.

—The Crehore house, at the junction of Grove and Washington streets, presents a very attractive appearance by being repaired and painted. It is rumored that Mr. Bernard Early, superintendent of the Crehore mills, is to shortly make it his residence.

—Miss Gertrude Dennis, violinist, assisted at a concert at Old Fellows Hall, Wellesley, Thursday evening, given under the auspices of "The Wellesley Grange." The program was made up of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations, and entertained a large and appreciative audience.

—The two houses which Mr. John Joyce of Newton is erecting on his land at the Indian Springs Park is progressing rapidly, one being already plastered and now ready for painting. They are very attractive looking houses and will be very desirable for parties looking for moderate priced homes. They will be finished in a first class manner.

The latest results of pharmaceutical science and the best modern appliances are availed of in compounding Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Hence, though half-a-century in existence as a medicine, it is fully abreast of the age in all that goes to make it the standard blood-purifier.

Newton A. A. Nine.

Saturday the candidates for the Newton A. A. nine, will begin practice. At this early date it is impossible to state just how the nine will be made up for the opening game, Patriot's Day, against Harvard. One thing is certain, "Ed." Dowd will pitch for the N. A. A.

Five years ago Dowd pitched for the old Newton team. Since then he has pitched for Georgetown University, winning games from several league teams. He is now studying at the Harvard Medical school, and but for a ruling of the faculty would have been seen in a Harvard uniform this season. As several professional clubs have made flattering offers for Dowd's services the Newton managers were fortunate in securing such a valuable addition to the team.

NEWTON.

—Pianos, Farley, 433 Washington street.

—Rev. W. M. Davis is the guest of Mayor Cobb.

—Cane chairs re-seated. Address, A. P. B., No. 10 Emerson street.

—Mr. F. H. Tucker of Church street has gone to Europe for a few weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sawin have returned from a week's visit to Ayer.

—Mrs. E. J. Locke of Maple avenue has been entertaining Mrs. White of Buffalo.

—Master Herman Tucker, who attends the Worcester Academy, has been visiting at home.

—Mr. W. E. Harding of Jewett street leaves this week for Old Point Comfort and the South.

—Mr. Harry Damon was one of the ushers at the Valentine-Sherburne wedding at Lexington, Wednesday.

—Special sale for Saturday—Fresh killed fowls 13 cents per pound, at 13 Centre street, the Newton Public Cash Market.

—Nonantum colony, Pilgrim Fathers, entertained several members of Pocomtucket Lodge of Watertown at its hall on Monday evening.

—Division Superintendent Lentell has had the gate-tender's house, formerly at the Centre street crossing, removed to Centre place and is using it as an office.

—If you want to have your work done just as well as at any first class shop in Boston, go to Frank T. Field, formerly of Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York. Hair dressing parlors, 66 Elmwood street.

—Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke will preach a sermon next Sunday morning on "Some of the Lessons taught by the lives of Gove, Robinson and Greenhalge." All heartily invited.

—At Mason's jewelry store, Eliot block, 300 Centre street, photographic supplies. The Eastman 50 Pocket Kodak, also larger sizes. Eclectic photo paper, solio paper, films, etc.

—The next meeting of the Social Science Club will be held at the house of Mrs. Kipley, Centre street, next Wednesday, at 10 o'clock. Subject, "A Study of our Foreign Population."

—There are over 150 entries for the Dedham ten mile road race, next Monday, and among them are Daniel and Thomas O'Connell of Newton, Albert Duffee, Lewis M. and Carl Enholm of Newton Centre.

—The period which dogs must remain muzzled expires the 24th of this month. That date will be hailed with joy by the owners of the animals in all parts of the city. There is then in the opposition to the order of the cattle commissioners, but the law has been enforced by the Newton police with zeal, and the owners of animals have generally obeyed the mandates of the law.

—The dog captured by the police and turned over to the public pound, established by the board of health at the city poor farm at Waban, has not been over 75.

—There was great excitement about the business section, Wednesday, caused by a small fire on the corner of Centre near Elmwood street. Engine One got to the spot almost before the first alarm, and had a stream of water on the premises of the respondents.

—There was some smoke and an immense crowd of spectators, men, women and children, not to speak of the bicyclists and the market wagons. The other fire apparatus from the north side of the city kept arriving at intervals, the "white elephant" as the aerial ladder truck is called, being received with hoots of derision all along the line. Its three horses looked almost exhausted by their run of a mile and half, and they were dripping with foam and perspiration. The ladder ought certainly to be put on the retired list, as half a dozen short ladders would be far more useful, and they could be carried on an express wagon. It is said that the "elephant" has never been needed but once since it was purchased, and then it could not be got ready for service. There was another fire on the south side of the city at the same time, which made things rather exciting for the firemen.

—Mrs. Samuel Peck and Mme. Peck are in Bermuda.

—Mr. Samuel Peck is on his way home from Mexico.

—Miss Sybil Cox of Hunnewell Hill is in New York for a short stay.

—Master Frank, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Converse, of Park street, is quite ill.

—Mrs. James Macomber of Copley street leaves today for a two weeks visit in Orange, N. J.

—President Sperry of Olivet College, Michigan, occupied the pulpit of Eliot church last Sunday.

—The junior department of the Y. M. C. A. held a very pleasant social in the association rooms, last evening.

—Mr. Joshua Baker, Jr., and family, formerly of Sargent street, have removed to Newtonville avenue, Newtonville.

—Master William Claffin, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Calley, of Park street, is reported ill with appendicitis.

—Patrons of the West End Street Railway were glad to see open cars on that line for the first time this spring, Thursday morning.

—Sergt. Huestis is enjoying his vacation at Cape Cod. Sergt. Ryan is in charge of headquarters days and Sergt. Mitchell and Purcell nights.

—At the Sunday evening service the choir of Grace church will sing Dr. Stainer's beautiful cantata, "The Raising of Jairus' Daughter."

—Fine watch, clock and jewelry repairing. All French clocks or hall clocks we call for and deliver when done. Theo. L. Meson, Eliot block.

—The apron sale, given so successfully in the upper rooms of Townsend Memorial library, yesterday of last week, was repeated yesterday afternoon.

—Miss Caroline H. Childs of Richardson street has returned from Northampton where she has been visiting her sister who is a student of Smith College.

—Monday afternoon an Italian employed on the sewer on Charlesbank road was taken suddenly ill and removed to the Newton Hospital in the ambulance.

—Mr. R. H. Stearns has issued invitations for a reception to be tendered Rev. Wm. H. Davis, the new pastor of Eliot church, at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, next Tuesday evening.

—Mr. Clifford A. Bentley, of "The Players," will assume the role of "Victor Shylock" in the production of "All the Comforts of Home" at the Bijou Opera House, Boston, next Monday evening.

—At the Immanuel church next Sunday, portions of the Easter music will be repeated. The pastor, Rev. George E. Merrill, D. D., will preach on "The Gospel in Christ's Silence." At 7:20 p. m. an address will be delivered by Mr. Stait, upon "India as seen by a British Soldier."

—The sensational story of dog fights in the old Fitzpatrick mill, is exploded by the police, who say that the writer was misled. Mr. Algeo, who has charge of the mill, says the story is all nonsense, as the mill is locked up every night, and he lives in the mill house, and he would not allow any one to gain entrance at night. The dog spoken of as having been found in the well, belonged to Patrick Powers and fell in there one Sunday morning while chasing a cat. About four years ago the same kind of a story was circulated, and probably the writer of this sensation has just heard of it.

—The funeral of the late Mr. M. Daley of Maple street, took place from his residence, Friday afternoon, April 10th. The services were conducted by Rev. Geo. W. Shinn, D. D., of Grace church and was attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives. The floral tributes were many and beautiful and showed the esteem in which the deceased was held by his many Newton friends. He was born in New York in 1818 and resided in this city for 20 years. He leaves a wife and a grown up family. The interment was at the Newton cemetery.

—Music at Eliot church, Sunday:

MORNING SERVICE.

Organ prelude, Te Deum in D, Quartet, "Christian, the morn breaks sweetly," the, morn breaks sweetly, Shelley, Alto solo, "He was despised," from "The Messiah," Handel, Organ postlude.

EVENING SERVICE.

Organ prelude, Anthem, "Give ear, O Lord," Quartet, "Hear us, Lord," Alto solo, "Crossing the bar," Mendelssohn, Organ postlude.

—J. S. Sumner has cut out and completed his buildings, which look very nicely with brick ends. It has shortened them up so that he can leave room for him to carry on the stove and furnace business. We understand the stock and tools are for sale, the purchaser will have the agency of the Columbia wheels and the Magee goods. It is open for the right man. Mr. Sumner has followed the business successfully for over forty years, the past twenty-eight years in Newton. We believe there is but one firm remaining that was when he started, and that firm's name has been changed. Mr. Sumner is very much out of health and so intends to retire from active business.

—Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells Hall celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their residence on Waverly avenue. The observance took the form of a reception from 8 to 10 and nearly 500 guests extended their congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Hall received informally in the large parlors, which were decorated with tall palms and ferns, forming a recess in which the host and hostess stood, and with masses of calla and Easter lilies and roses. The guests were presented by Messrs. Russell A. Ballou, Robert Mandell, Gardner Wells Hall and William Montague Hall. In the dining room, which was decorated with pink roses and calla lilies, 12 young ladies presided at the tables. Music was rendered during the evening by an orchestra stationed in the upper hall. A large number were present from the Newtons, Brookline, Boston and Cambridge, among them being Mr. and Mrs. James McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cushman, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott F. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Eager, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. —Mrs. E. J. Locke of Maple avenue has been entertaining Mrs. White of Buffalo.

—Master Herman Tucker, who attends the Worcester Academy, has been visiting at home.

—Mr. W. E. Harding of Jewett street leaves this week for Old Point Comfort and the South.

—Mr. Harry Damon was one of the ushers at the Valentine-Sherburne wedding at Lexington, Wednesday.

—Special sale for Saturday—Fresh killed fowls 13 cents per pound, at 13 Centre street, the Newton Public Cash Market.

—Nonantum colony, Pilgrim Fathers, entertained several members of Pocomtucket Lodge of Watertown at its hall on Monday evening.

—Division Superintendent Lentell has had the gate-tender's house, formerly at the Centre street crossing, removed to Centre place and is using it as an office.

—If you want to have your work done just as well as at any first class shop in Boston, go to Frank T. Field, formerly of Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York. Hair dressing parlors, 66 Elmwood street.

—Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke will preach a sermon next Sunday morning on "Some of the Lessons taught by the lives of Gove, Robinson and Greenhalge." All heartily invited.

—At Mason's jewelry store, Eliot block, 300 Centre street, photographic supplies. The Eastman 50 Pocket Kodak, also larger sizes. Eclectic photo paper, solio paper, films, etc.

—The next meeting of the Social Science Club will be held at the house of Mrs. Kipley, Centre street, next Wednesday, at 10 o'clock. Subject, "A Study of our Foreign Population."

—There are over 150 entries for the Dedham ten mile road race, next Monday, and among them are Daniel and Thomas O'Connell of Newton, Albert Duffee, Lewis M. and Carl Enholm of Newton Centre.

—The period which dogs must remain muzzled expires the 24th of this month. That date will be hailed with joy by the owners of the animals in all parts of the city. There is then in the opposition to the order of the cattle commissioners, but the law has been enforced by the Newton police with zeal, and the owners of animals have generally obeyed the mandates of the law.

—The dog captured by the police and turned over to the public pound, established by the board of health at the city poor farm at Waban, has not been over 75.

—There was great excitement about the business section, Wednesday, caused by a small fire on the corner of Centre near Elmwood street. Engine One got to the spot almost before the first alarm, and had a stream of water on the premises of the respondents.

—There was some smoke and an immense crowd of spectators, men, women and children, not to speak of the bicyclists and the market wagons. The other fire apparatus from the north side of the city kept arriving at intervals, the "white elephant" as the aerial ladder truck is called, being received with hoots of derision all along the line. Its three horses looked almost exhausted by their run of a mile and half, and they were dripping with foam and perspiration. The ladder ought certainly to be put on the retired list, as half a dozen short ladders would be far more useful, and they could be carried on an express wagon. It is said that the "elephant" has never been needed but once since it was purchased, and then it could not be got ready for service. There was another fire on the south side of the city at the same time, which made things rather exciting for the firemen.

—Mrs. Samuel Peck and Mme. Peck are in Bermuda.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

SUPP. ALDRICH CRITICIZED FOR BUYING COAL WITHOUT AUTHORITY—THE WEST END GETS THEIR LOCATION.

The board of aldermen held a light session, Monday evening. Alderman Degen acting as chairman in the absence of Mayor Cobb. City Clerk Kingsbury was also unable to be present and his assistant, Mr. Matthews, was sworn in to fulfill the duties of clerk.

The first business was the drawing of two jurors and Benjamin M. Thomas of Cabot street and James W. Paige of Clarendon street, were chosen.

The report of the committee on the abolition of grade crossings was placed on file.

A hearing was appointed for Monday evening, April 27, on petition of Mrs. Susie E. Barry, to erect a frame stable on Commonwealth avenue near Hammond street. A hearing was also appointed for the same evening on petition of Daniel W. McDaniel to erect a frame stable on Chapel street.

Mr. Wm. F. French was granted leave to withdraw his claim against the city for trespass and damage done by the city ash carts.

The following petitions were received and acted upon as follows: Petition of the N. A. A. to hold out-door athletic exhibition and charge an admission fee, granted; petition of Edward Sands for renewal of his auctioneer's license, granted; petition of Mary E. Howard to move a building from Seaverns to Lexington street, granted; petition of James Devine to move a building from Washington to Pearl street, granted; petition of Mrs. Merritt to move a house from Charlesbank road to Pearl street, referred to license committee; petition of J. J. Stanley to hold a spiritual meeting in Odd Fellow's hall next Sunday evening, granted; petition from the working force of the Newton Savings Bank, remonstrating against any street railway being allowed the privilege of laying a curved track on Hall street, as it would interfere with the regular banking work, referred to the committee on street railways; petition from the residents of Austin street for the laying of a concrete sidewalk, referred to the highway committee; petition from residents of a part of Walnut street for laying of concrete sidewalks, referred to the highway committee; petition of F. E. Stanley for laying of concrete sidewalk on Centre street, corner Hyde avenue, referred to the highway committee; petition of H. L. Burrage for the laying of gravel sidewalks on Sterling street, referred to the highway committee; petition of J. F. Powers for laying of a concrete sidewalk on Bowdoin street, referred to the highway committee; petition for the laying of concrete sidewalks on Hyde street and Inman road, referred to the highway committee.

The following orders were presented and disposed of as follows: An order authorizing the mayor to adjust all accident claims relative to grade crossings, adopted; an order authorizing the water board to lay 123 feet of water mains on Dakota, Patten and Washington street at a cost of $815, adopted; an order instructing the mayor to petition the legislature for authority to pay to the widow of the late John A. Kendrick, city treasurer, the balance of his salary for the year 1896, adopted; an order for the appropriation of $270 for the employment of additional patrolmen in the police department, adopted; an order instructing the city treasurer to pay to Michael Carroll the sum of $10 received for the sale of his house by auction to Alexander Maguire, adopted; an order for the appropriation of $250 for the settlement of claims against the city, belonging to Charles Campbell, adopted; an order accepting $14.50 for the sale of some 39 acres in Waban to Wm. C. Strong, adopted.

Alderman Greene then read a letter from Mrs. M. E. Sherwood, secretary of the committee on school supplies recommending the purchase of coal, which had been purchased since Jan. 1, or after the expiration of a contract held with a certain coal company. Alderman Greene did not approve of Superintendent Aldrich's action in purchasing coal from any company at the regular retail price, other than the one that had given the lowest price by contract awards; he presented an order recommending all such purchases to be made by the committee on fuels and lights and it was adopted. An order was presented for the laying of sewers on Los Angeles, Allison and Crescent streets, adopted; an order changing the precinct lines in Ward One, adopted; an order relative to the settlement of a quit claim deed in Newton Centre, adopted.

The report of the railroad committee was received and filed and hearing granted the New England Telephone Company, relative to laying of wires for April 27.

The following communications were received from the common council: A petition for the placing of four street lights on Vienna street and Ware road, referred to the street lighting committee; petition relative to the grading of Irving street, referred to the highway committee; communication recommending the course already taken regarding the salary of the late John Kendrick, city treasurer.

Street Railways.

To the Editor of the Graphic:—

I have been a good deal interested in reading about the success of Mayor Pingree of Detroit in getting the street railways of that city within easy municipal control, together with a three cent fare, universal free transfers and a prospect of even lower fare, and especially in his recommendation that the city own its own tracks as the simplest way of effecting this control. The question naturally occurs, why should not Newton with her liberal taxes and expenditures have pioneer benefits to correspond, own its own tracks, and be able not only to grant local franchises at their value, but to grant the use of its tracks to all those companies who in the net work of the near future connecting near and distant towns with every other town, will want to cross the city in every direction to the great convenience of its people. Is not this worth thinking about?

CITIZEN.

We might tell you more about one Minute Cough Cure, but you probably know that it cures a cough. Every one does who has used it. It is a perfect remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and all the ailments of the throat, lungs and chest. It is especially favorable for children, being pleasant to take and quick in curing. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

REV. DR. DAVIS.

INSTALLED AS PASTOR OF ELIOT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—A CORDIAL WELCOME AND HOPES FOR THE FUTURE.

The formal installation of Rev. W. H. Davis, D. D., formerly of Detroit, Mich., as pastor of the Eliot Congregational church, took place Tuesday evening.

Eliot church is the largest of the seven societies of the denomination in the city, and in some respects is the most important church society in the Newtons.

The handsome edifice on Centre street was therefore filled with citizens of all denominations. Twenty-eight churches of the same faith and order located in greater Boston were represented, either by their pastors or by accredited delegates, including almost all the local clergymen prominent in the denomination.

The evening service began at 7 with the reading of the minutes of the church council held this afternoon in which the pastorate of Dr. Davis was formally acknowledged and assented to on behalf of the denomination.

After the Te Deum by the choir, Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D., of Auburndale read the scriptures. The sermon was preached by Rev. Wolcott Calkins, D. D., Dr. Davis' immediate predecessor, who resigned the pastorate of Eliot church last summer.

Dr. Calkins took his text from I Cor. v, 10: "The ministry of reconciliation." He said among other things:

"God has reconciled us unto him and has given us the ministry of reconciliation. The meaning of reconciliation implies peace. The peace of '65 was not brought about by the vanquished. Peace in a family cannot be brought about by the disobedient member of the family. Now, in the great human family, God is in the right. His is the peace which passeth all understanding."

Dr. Calkins said that ministry implied the offering of sacrifice and a service of all the people. No minister can ask his people to offer themselves on the altar of God without himself setting the example. The offering of Christ can never be repeated, but every minister must sacrifice himself to his service.

Speaking of the place of ritualism in religious service, he said that if men were ministers of reconciliation, it made less difference than one would suppose whether they learned more toward Rome or more toward reason. In closing he made a plea for true Christian practice in the daily walks of life.

"Ministers of reconciliation," he said, "are ambassadors of God to beseech men to practice right living, to reconcile their pockets-books and their material ambitions with the purposes of God. Ministers of reconciliation make men delicate in discerning their duties."

At the close of Dr. Calkins' sermon, Rev. W. G. Sperry, president of Olivet College, Michigan, made the installing prayer. Rev. Renen Thomas, D. D., of Harvard church, Brookline, then delivered the charge to the new pastor.

Addressing his remarks to Dr. Davis, he said, in part:—

"Probably you know as much about the ministry of the gospel as I know, but this church has asked me to speak in this capacity, and it will only be a few words that I will say. I know that some people are quite willing to take us for what we are worth. But most people do not realize the importance we attach to the ministry of the gospel. They do not know that we must see them and know them and profit by their good advice."

"We must get into that devotional state of mind also to be of true service. In a minister's life, whatever comes to him comes to him in order that it may come to his people."

You may know as much about Boston and its neighborhood as I do, but you do not know the people who live with you with an interrogation no matter what you say. So, when you come into the realm of speech in the pulpit, in the home or anywhere, you will be useful according as you have progressed in that other realm, the realm of science. The more your mind is filled with the truth of God, the more acceptable you will be to this people."

There is also the realm of realization in which you may know disappointment. There may be many things that will gratify you, but the noblest man you are, the ablest you will be to bear them. But strange as it may seem, you will be glad at times of these disappointments for the possibilities that lie then for Christian growth. In closing, I can but say, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

Mr. Dutton rendered Mendelssohn's "Saint Paul," after which Rev. M. Noyes of the Old First church extended to Dr. Davis the right hand of fellowship.

It is a very pleasant duty to say welcome to one who has achieved so much with whose name and achievements we are familiar, but it is a specially pleasant duty to welcome home our children who have traveled to other parts.

"Whenever New England wants her children, she calls them back. The churches of this good vicinity have joined in extending to you a cordial welcome to the city."

Mr. Noyes said that he also spoke for all the 94 Congregational churches which were located within a radius of ten miles of Boston.

Dr. Davis remained standing upon the platform to receive the welcome of all the churches of the city through the pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, Rev. G. E. Merrill, D. D., a personal friend of the pastor. Mr. Merrill spoke of the exceedingly pleasant spirit of friendship which had always existed among Newton clergymen, irrespective of denomination or belief, and hoped that Dr. Davis would find his surroundings entirely congenial and pleasant.

In conclusion, he spoke of the newly organized ministers' union, and said:—

"We shall welcome you to participation in our meetings, and also to that outpost, the Y. M. C. A."

The charge to the people was eloquently delivered by Rev. G. A. Gordon of the Old South, Boston, who said, in part:—

"My dear friends, you have had today a new experience, and a new experience is always prophetic. First of all, it means a new feeling. Today, as I saw the fire in your eyes to press forward in self-forgetfulness to get near the man before you, I said: 'This people is passing through a new experience.'"

"Science comes out of a feeling of curiosity, philosophy comes out of a feeling of wonder, art from a feeling of admiration, and character, power and Christian influence come out of a Christian feeling. Therein is the prophecy of your new experience."

Dr. Gordon charged the congregation to prove worthy of this great and delightful experience, to co-operate with him in his work, to take in the truths of his words eagerly, to sympathize with him in his home as he will do in theirs, and above all to demand of him his best endeavors in all Christian work.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. C. H. Beal.

The council of churches which met in Eliot church parlor at 3 p. m., heard the minutes of the church and society which bore upon the call of Dr. Davis to the pastorate, and conducted the formal examination of the new pastor. Dr. E. L. Clark of Central church, Boston, acted as moderator with Rev. C. H. Beal as scribe. The decision of the Eliot society in inviting Dr. Davis to its pastorate was formally accepted. There were 28 churches represented by invitation.

Rev. W. H. Davis, D. D., was born in Chelsea, N. J., above 45 years ago. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1874. It was not until he had nearly completed his course that he determined to study for the ministry. Accordingly he entered Union Theological Seminary, graduating in 1877. There he had as his teachers such eminent doctors of theology as Shedd, Philip Schaff and Hitchcock.

From 1877 until 1884 he was pastor of the Washington Street Church, Beverly, being there continuously, with the exception of one year of travel. In 1884 he went to the First church in Detroit where he has had a remarkably brilliant and successful pastorate until now.

In Detroit he took an active interest in all Christian Endeavor, particularly missionary work. His reputation is not merely local. Dr. Davis was considered one of the leading men of the denomination in Michigan.

He is a trustee of Olivet College, Michigan, and has always kept his membership in the Boston Monday Club. He comes back to the East to be welcomed by a large acquaintance.

An Affidavit.

This is to certify that on May 11th, I, Walter J. Molloy, being duly sworn, depose and say that I have purchased of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for inflammatory rheumatism which had crippled me up. After using three bottles I am completely cured. I can cheerfully recommend it. Charles H. Wetzel, Sumbury, Pa.

The Slaughter of our Trees.

South Hanover, Mass.

To the Editor of the Graphic:—

As a former resident of your city and later as an occasional visitor, I have always been, with many others, an admirer of the trees surrounding the bank at the Corner, and it is with dismay that we learn they are the prospective victims of violence. Surely, only the most urgent necessity can excuse their destruction. If the space they occupy is to be employed for any purpose which will unquestionably serve the public better, no tree-lover can reasonably object, although not one of them can fall without pain to those who have daily delighted in the sight of them, not but will leave behind

"A wound in the earth, an ache in air,"

as Newton's most distinguished young poet has lately said in "Auroric." "Arboriculture will not ask whether those who propose to destroy those trees have ever read that poem, or any other, or whether they ever look at any thing but the bare ground before them, yet those who do not appreciate the esthetic as well as the commercial side of the question have no moral right to deprive the public of its share of solace and refreshment which the 'little park' has afforded it, without substituting an equivalent in kind."

The space which these lives sweeten, needs, as everybody knows, not less but more of the beautiful to make it attractive. If it cannot have nice and tasteful offices and stores and tenements, what a mistake to remove the trees which are not only pushing out the ugliness of the surrounding ugliness. Why should Newton suppress this little green spot which everyone in passing, consciously or unconsciously blesses?

Not that thereby would be "bereaved" the songbirds and the bees," but much more the heated man who in hurrying by lifts his hat to receive the cool breath of the trees upon his forehead; ladies who walk or drive past more slowly to enjoy the shade; tired nurse maids who with their charges linger to refresh themselves a minute under green boughs; wheelmen who dismount for a momentary halt; the panting dog that here finds refuge from the sun.

Trees are believed to dispense a calming and elevating influence upon those who habitually regard them, yet in our country it is too frequently observed that when a town official has failed to make his mark in other ways he may strike a blow at some valued tree and leave an indelible scar by which he will here be remembered. It cannot be supposed for a moment, however, that such a thing could occur in the enlightened Garden City, still there is always danger of a similar when enterprise is not accompanied by good taste. E. A. J.

During the winter of 1893, F. M. Martin, of Long Beach, Va., contracted a severe cold which left him in a wretched condition. In speaking of how he cured it he says: "I used several kinds of cough syrup but found no relief until I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved me almost instantly, and in a short time brought about a complete cure."

When troubled with a cough or cold use this remedy and you will not find it necessary to try several kinds before you get relief. It has been in the market for over twenty years and constantly grown in favor and popularity. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. J. Hudson, Newton Centre; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

The Congressional Fight.

[Boston Cor. Springfield Republican.]

One of the meetings at Young's Saturday afternoon has been that of Senator Charles F. Sprague with 15 at the table. There is a growing interest in the politics of the 11th district. The anti-Leeson men are beginning to say that it will never do to nominate him for Congress, because he is an Englishman who has been here only a dozen years and that it would be unsafe to send him to Washington and look out for the interests of England every time at the expense of his own country. It is said from other sources that Mr. Leeson is not as approachable by the common people as he ought to be and that this will work against him as a candidate for Congress, though every one recognizes his ability and knows that he could make a creditable representative. Those who object to Senator Sprague by saying that he would not amount to anything in public life were it not for the Weld money are evidently pushing the claims of William B. Powers of Hyde Park. Powers was prominent as a legislator a few years ago. He was a leading Barrett man and was a prominent member of the railroad committee. But he was one of the strongest opponents of the plan of Senator Lodge to make a bad gerrymander of the state for congressmen in 1891, and for that service the state is under great obligations to him, for it was the votes of the persistent band of 27 staunch, ungerrymanderable Republicans, joined with the Democrats, who prevented the perpetration of a gross piece of partisan legislation.

Those who are troubled with rheumatism should try a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If that does not bring relief dampen a piece of flannel with Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain and prompt relief will surely follow. For sale by A. J. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Saving Bulloughs Pond.

Ever since the water was drained from Bulloughs pond in Newtonville last fall the people of the entire city of Newton have been considerably exercised over the fate of that hitherto pretty sheet, and as a result of numerous conferences between the owners of the land around and under the pond, the Newton Land & Improvement Company, and prominent citizens, a proposition has been submitted to the latter by the former for the preservation of the pond.

The land company offers to give the city six acres in this pond. If the latter will build a 40-foot street around it, opening into Walnut and Mill street, drain the adjacent land and prevent public bathing in the pond. This pond is the one bit of water on the new boulevard between Chestnut Hill reservoir and Charles river, and is one of the most beautiful lakelets, with its wooded hills, around Boston.

It would add much to the attractiveness of the proposed park if some of the woods to the east of the pond were included. It would also be a decided addition to the park if the land between the water and Walnut street could be included. As this is readily available for building sites, considerable would be added to the expense, but the construction of a long piece of street would be avoided. There is now only one house on this land.

Cultivation of Vacant Lots.

The City of Buffalo, N. Y., counts its experience of last year profitable, especially in its reduction of the demands usually made upon its Charities Bureau. One woman to whom was assigned a lot, received from the Bureau six dollars and seventy-nine cents, who for two previous years had received eighty and eighty-two dollars respectively. The total number of lots assigned was five hundred and seventy-eight. The number of applications for help from the Bureau was one hundred and fifty-one against four hundred and one for the previous year, a reduction of over sixty per cent.

Busy people have no time, and sensible people have no inclination to use a slow remedy. One Minute Cough Cure acts promptly and gives permanent results. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

FORM OF X-RAY WAVES.

MR. STANLEY FINDS THEM TO BE OF THE SOUND WAVE VARIETY—THE RAYS CAN NOT BE TRANSMITTED IN A VACUUM—EFFECT OF A REFLECTOR, A CONCAVE MIRROR, PLACED IN THE FOCUS OF THE CATHODE TERMINAL.

Several weeks ago, Mr. F. O. Stanley of Newton started in to investigate the problem of the X rays. After many unsuccessful attempts, he succeeded in making some shadow pictures. Like other pictures that had been made up to that time, they were blurred and shadowy in effect, and he decided that in order to make the X-ray discovery of the greatest value to science, pictures must be made with the different parts well defined.

In order to do that, he saw that it would be necessary to have the force, or the matter, or whatever it is that the X rays consist of, proceed from a common point; otherwise the effect would necessarily be a shadow effect, possessing the umbra and pen-umbra of shadows made when the light came from a broad surface. To do this, he conceived the idea of placing within a Crookes tube a reflector, in the focus of the cathode terminal, which terminal was shaped like a concave mirror; and, in accordance with the theory of Crookes, since the radiant matter within the tube was always thrown off at a rectilinear to the cathode surface, it would follow that this radiant matter or force, whichever it was, would be brought to a focus on the reflector, and would be sent out from a common point, in that way, would create shadows which would be sharp and clear in outline.

In performing the experiment, the facts bore out the theory perfectly, and not only the shadowgraphs produced by that method, extremely sharp and well defined, but he also found that it had greatly increased the efficiency of the rays, as the same tube with the reflector inside and the same electrical appliances would produce an effect in 40 seconds that required 40 minutes to produce without the reflector.

In working with the reflector, he discovered that the reflected rays did not wholly follow the laws of reflected light. He then set out to discover the nature of the X rays, thinking that their nature was understood, whether it was light or electricity, or some other force, that progress toward utilizing their full value would be very slow.

It had been a problem among scientists as to whether the rays, whatever they were, affected the plate directly by acting upon the sensitive silver salt, or whether the X rays passed through the silver salt, and by creating a fluorescence on the glass back of the silver salt, indirectly produced the effect.

To determine the truth in this direction, he coated a glass plate and an ordinary ferretotype plate, which is made of iron, from the same emulsion; they were then exposed exactly alike to Crookes tube, and the two plates were placed in the developing tray together and developed. The effect upon the two was alike; the shadowgraph on the ferretotype plate was as well defined and intense as on the glass plate.

This established the fact that it was not fluorescence from the glass that produced the effect. From many of the shadowgraphs which Mr. Stanley had made, there were evidenced the rays, which were more to sound waves or longitudinal waves than to light waves, which are transverse.

If, then, the waves are sound waves, they must conform to all of the laws of sound. He had noticed in his shadowgraphs that bodies which were easily excited to sonorous action were very transparent to the rays, while heavier bodies, which were less easily excited to sonorous action, were more or less opaque to the rays. This he considered one proof in the sound wave theory.

He then took a block of maple wood, placing on top of it a piece of tin foil, also underneath next to the plate holder a similar piece of tin foil. If the wave that produced the effect was a sound wave, it would follow that the piece of tin foil nearest the plate holder would produce a denser shadow than the piece of tin foil placed on the opposite side of the wood from the plate holder, while, although in both cases the vibrations had to pass through the wood before reaching the sensitive plate beyond, the sympathetic vibrations under the tin foil which was placed on top of the piece of wood would have a tendency to destroy, to some extent, the shadow cast by the tin foil. The result of his experiment proved conclusively his theory.

He then placed a Crookes tube at the end of a long brass pipe, having a diameter of about two inches. He placed a plate holder at the other end of the tube, the tube being some four feet in length, in such a position that it would photograph through the object, which consisted of a piece of wire gauze, which was placed at the end of the tube near the plate holder. Within two inches of the Crookes tube, in an equally favorable position, he placed another holder containing a sensitive plate, with objects laid upon the holder, casting shadows. Then, in a third equally favorable position, he placed a third plate holder, with a sensitive plate, at a distance of two feet from the Crookes tube.

Now, under these circumstances, he concluded that if the force were analogous to sound, it would not diminish as it passed through the brass tube in accordance with the law of inverse squares, but, like a speaking tube, the effect would be quite marked, even at that distance from the Crookes tube.

The exposure was made, and the three plates were developed. The plate which was two feet from the tube had no image on it whatever, while the plate which was situated four feet away, at the end of the brass tube, had an image nearly as good and well defined as the plate which was only two inches from the Crookes tube.

In this respect it was seen that the force was analogous in its operation to the sound wave.

His next experiment was to place a Crookes tube and a plate holder under the receiver of an air pump, as shown in the accompanying cut, and the air was partially exhausted, so that the atmospheric pressure was about two pounds to the square inch, instead of 15. The Crookes tube was connected with a Holtz machine, and an exposure of 20 minutes was made. The plate holder was then removed, and a second plate holder was placed in the same position, and an exposure of 10 minutes was made, with the air at the normal pressure in the receiver.

If, in this case, the density of the air had no effect upon the transmission of force, the plate exposed 20 minutes under the low atmospheric pressure would have a greater deposit than the plate exposed only 10 minutes under similar circumstances, except at the normal atmospheric pressure.

The two plates were developed together, the one having an exposure of 20 minutes, after being developed a very long time, showing a slight shadow effect, while the other plate, developed up very quickly, showing a very dense image.

Other experiments were made in the same line, all of which pointed to the fact that the intensity of the image produced by the Crookes tube, like the intensity of transmitted sound, depended on the air density. This amounts to a demonstration of the fact that the X-rays are longitudinal vibrations of matter, and that they are not propagated in the absence of matter; in a complete vacuum, like sound, there could be no transmission of the X-rays.

Although the waves in this case are what may be termed sound waves, yet they are entirely beyond the perception of the ear. They are what may be termed ultra-sound waves, and they bear the same relation to sound in general that ultra-light rays or the actinic waves bear to light. These waves are inaudible, owing to their great rapidity. The rapidity is commensurate with the rapidity of light waves, consequently they excite in certain bodies, like glass and unguate of calcium, fluorescence which is perceptible to the eye, and, owing to their extreme rapidity, they induce a change in the sensitive silver salt in a dry plate analogous to the change that light induces.

Since these waves are transmitted through bodies opaque to light, such as wood, the flesh, and many solids, they become of inestimable value to science and the arts in determining the internal construction of bodies through which light will not pass, and as it is known that they are sound waves, it is only a short time before means will be devised for condensing and concentrating them, so that any part of the human skeleton can be as clearly photographed as if stripped of the flesh. Also, it is not at all improbable that in examining the internal arrangement of the human body, it will be unnecessary to resort to photography; that by means of proper screens, which are rendered fluorescent, shadows can be thrown upon the screen which will be as well defined as those which are recorded on the dry plate.

In performing these experiments Mr. Stanley was greatly aided by the kindness of Capt. Gower of the Falconer Manufacturing Company, as the company was able to make any variety of Crookes tube that he desired for use. As the use of the Crookes tube was entirely different from that for which it was ordinarily constructed, in order to carry out the theories of reflection and concentration, it was necessary to have a great many tubes of different and unusual forms constructed.

What will it do? Medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, of application, and that it will reach the remote seats and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh is positive proof that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact.

Fredericksburg National Park. The following appeared in the Washington Post last Saturday: "Fredericksburg, Va., April 10.—Major George W. Morse of Boston, who participated on the Federal side in the battles fought in this vicinity during the war, in response to an invitation to be present and deliver an address at the public meeting to be held here April 16 in the interest of establishing a national park, has sent the following letter to Mayor A. P. Rowe, regretting his inability to be present, and expressing his sympathy and that of all, or practically all, of my comrades, in the work upon which you are entering. You will be successful. It is a good cause. There are more arguments favoring a national park in that region than in any other part of the United States. In the first place it would commemorate four of the greatest battles of our history. Again, it would be the most central for all the people of our country, and, furthermore, it is old Virginia, the venerable mother of our Commonwealths, Presidents, statesmen, and brave men."

I have met but one or two in my life who doubted the last proposition, and they did not serve in the war, and probably could not be induced to serve in any war. The stern danger had to be faced and brave men encountered.

For my own part, and I think I speak for my comrades, the proposed park will commemorate the valor and sincerity of Americans, irrespective of the color of their uniforms, and that valor and faith is one of our proudest inheritances.

The time will come when it will again be needed, and when invoked again it will be irresistibly united.

A park upon these fields will inspire the youth of this and future generations. I have heard Europeans say, in my travels there, that America is a nation without monuments, and they are not altogether wrong.

From 1620 to 1865 we had been occupied in doing deeds and making history worthy of monuments, and I think we may fairly enough admit that we have since then not built rapidly enough the monuments we should. A number of distinguished speakers have accepted, and the occasion promises to be a great success.

No Appetite or Strength. Hudson, Mass., March 22, 1896. I was run down and had no appetite or strength. I had headache and life was a burden. I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I have taken two bottles and feel like a new man. B. B. Lovett.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion. Would be Policemen. The City Hall was a very busy place Monday morning, and the chambers of the city council were filled by the applicants for positions as patrolmen on the police force. The civil service examination was conducted by Mr. Henry Sherwin of the civil service commissioners, assisted by the secretary, Mr. John E. Brimblecom, and there were 31 applicants. Three were disqualified, however, on account of their short stature, as the rules require an applicant to be at least 5 feet 7 inches in height. There are no vacancies on the police force at the present time, but the eligible list is nearly exhausted, and it is probable that a reserve force will be appointed sometime during the present year.

The candidates examined were Alfred E. J. Haynes, Nephthali Forte, Michael J. Hoban, Albert S. Cole, Patrick W. Ryan, Edward P. Holleran, Charles H. McAleer, Edward Desmond, William Butler, David Neagle, John P. Walsh, Richard A. Dalton, John Hendricks, George P. Greene, Thomas C. O'Connell, Patrick Keesley, Peter Keesley, Frank Turner, Marcus G. Haley, Jeffrey M. Marchant, Richard J. Goode, Timothy W. Sullivan, John E. Healey, Martin H. Joyce, Chas. W. Doherty, Thomas F. Cornish, John McNeil, Robert W. Blue.

The Single Tax in New South Wales. Under Sir George Houston Reid Premier, enactments have been passed so that government taxation in the above colony stands since July 1st, 1896, as follows: A tax of one shilling (or the pound 5 per cent) on all land over £240 and an income tax of six pence to the pound (2 1/2 per cent) on incomes over £200, the few other duties that remain are to decrease year by year until in six years time the last of them will disappear and then the only duties that will be imposed in New South Wales will be on narcotics, tobacco and spirituous liquors. So strong is the land value tax element in the house that it is certain that each municipality and borough will very soon receive an optional right to tax land values.

No small objection which young folks had to the old-time spring-medicines was their nauseousness. In our day, the objection is removed and Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most powerful and popular of blood-purifiers, is as pleasant to the palate as a cordial.

HONORS FOR COL. HASKELL.

THE "FATHER OF BIENNIALS" BANQUETED AT THE PARKER HOUSE.

The testimonial dinner to Col. Edward H. Haskell, which took place at the Parker House, Boston, Tuesday evening, was an important occasion. It was not only a personal triumph for Mr. Haskell, being a recognition of his untiring efforts for a score of years in behalf of the biennial election amendment to the Constitution, which is now to be submitted to the people, but it was also a sort of a thanksgiving jollification on the part of business, professional men and legislators, over the fact that the bill had reached its present advanced stage.

Among Newton men present were Alden A. Spear, J. R. Leeson, Chas. A. Haskell and G. D. Gilman.

Hon. Edward L. Pierce presided, and said that after 20 years of agitation a bill favoring biennial elections had at last passed the Legislature, and it was to be submitted to the people at the next election. The rights of the laboring people were not threatened, although they opposed it year after year. He could not understand why. There was one gentleman who had done more than anyone else to agitate in favor of biennial elections. His name was Edward H. Haskell. He was a wonder. He did not think any man could have done better. The measure now goes to the people, and he thought it would be passed by a large majority. The perseverance of Mr. Haskell was worthy of emulation. Without perseverance no man can become great. It was Charles Sumner's chief characteristic that he was persevering.

Mr. Haskell had served the state well in his own section, in Essex County. We have rejoiced to fight under his banner, to his satisfaction.

When presented Mr. Haskell was accorded a hearty round of applause. He thanked those present for their kind reception. All credit was not due to himself for the success of the biennial election measure, but he present had assisted nobly. It was a non-partisan measure. Twenty years ago the agitation began. Seventeen years ago a fair-sized vote was given. The measure, in 1875 it was fairly brought before the people. Gov. Rice advocated it warmly, and he was followed by Govs. Talbot, Ames and Brackett. It has been considered by 17 Legislatures, and a favorable vote from a majority, at least one branch of each Legislature. We believe that the people at large now favor the enactment of the law. Business prospects will be broadened and helped by elections every other year, instead of yearly. The agitation accompanying each election has had an ill effect on business growth.

In the past the attitude of our commercial bodies has been for the right in the shaping of proper legislation. So it is in this case. The press of the state has also done nobly, in furthering the cause. When this measure is incorporated into the Constitution by the vote of the people we can congratulate ourselves that we have done our part toward helping it along. Mr. Haskell said he was confident that all would be ready to help in an aggressive campaign in the cause of the proposed legislation.

Other congratulatory addresses were made by Chas. E. Adams, president of the Mass. Board of Trade; Bushrod Morse of Sharon; J. R. Leeson, president of the Boston Merchants' Association; Senator A. F. Barker, Archibald M. Howe, E. W. Burdett, Representative J. M. McLaughlin, W. Morgan of Springfield, W. R. Chester of Brookline, and Johnathan A. Lane.

It is just as easy to try One Minute Cough Cure as any thing else. It's easier to cure a severe cold, cough, or croup, by using next purchase for a cough, be One Minute Cough Cure. Better medicine, better result; better try it. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

FOR A WORTHY CAUSE.

PROFESSIONALS AND AMATEURS TO JOIN HANDS—THE ROYAL ARCANUM HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION WILL GIVE A FINE ENTERTAINMENT NEXT MONTH—A HANDSOME SOUVENIR PROGRAM.

The Royal Arcanum Hospital Association of Massachusetts, recently incorporated, is making arrangements for a grand minstrel and vaudeville entertainment to be given nightly throughout the week beginning May 18, at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, which has been specially leased for these performances. William Seymour of that theatre will have charge of the stage, and some of the best professional artists in this city and elsewhere, have consented to appear in the olio. The first part will consist of a grand, old-fashioned minstrel show, and the circle will be composed entirely of Royal Arcanum members. The services of Mr. George Lowell Tracy, composer of the Cadets' success, "Excelsior," will be secured, and he will act as musical director, which with Mr. John C. Mullaly, leader of the Hollis Street Theatre Orchestra, who will assist the committee in the musical portion of the performance, insures a high standard of excellence. Special trains will be run from various places within a radius of fifty miles of Boston, to accommodate the members and friends of the order who will be present. Beautiful and artistic programs will be printed by John A. Lowell & Co. The affair is in charge of a committee consisting of George L. Pierce, T. P. West and D. D. Ledyard. It will be for the benefit of the fund for free hospital beds for the order, it being the intention to establish as fast as possible such beds in the different hospitals throughout the State. This has been done in New York State by the Arcanum there, and what at first was regarded as an experiment has proven to be so successful, usefulness as to become a permanent fixture. It is felt that a need exists in Massachusetts for such beds, so that members of the order suddenly taken ill, or meeting with accident, in strange places or at home, will be given the best of care in regularly established hospitals, without charge to them.

Take a dose of DeWitt's Little Early Risers for the good they will do you. These little pills are good for indigestion, good for headache, good for liver, good for good for constipation. They are good. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

Newton Boat Club Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of the Newton Boat Club was held at the clubhouse at River-side Monday evening. The following officers were elected: A. Stuart Pratt, Pres.; Quincy Pond, Vice-Pres.; Richard W. Buntin, Sec.; Waldo W. Cole, Treas.; Harry L. Burrage, Capt. The reports of the various officers and committees show the club to be in a very satisfactory condition. The executive committee was authorized to change the by-laws to conform to the incorporation of the club, and to make all necessary transfers of property.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything, but it will cure piles. That's what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will do, because it has done it in hundreds of cases. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

The counsel of older women is of inestimable value. A mistaken idea of modesty prevents many girls from learning the things that they ought to know before they assume the duties of matrimony and maternity. Women generally take these most important steps in their lives, without knowing in any degree what they mean, or what responsibilities and trials they bring. The highest and best thing that any woman can do is to bear and rear healthy, intelligent children. The accomplishment of this end depends almost entirely upon her health and particularly upon the health and strength of the organs distinctly feminine. The state of the children, both intellectual and physical depends on the mother. If she doesn't care enough for her own comfort and happiness to take the proper care of herself, she certainly ought to do it for the sake of her children. To a very large extent, the destiny and achievement of a man is decided in the months before his birth. During that time is determined whether or not he is to be of robust health and strong intellect. During that time, his mind and body are started on the path that they will follow through life. Circumstances may influence him, but he cannot get away from the effects of pre-natal influences. One of the principal uses of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the preparation of prospective mothers for the time of trial and danger that comes when a child is born. The "Prescription" is strengthening and invigorating and lessens pain and danger. It insures the perfect well-being and the perfect health of both mother and child. Every woman should know these things before she really begins to think of matrimony. Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," that every woman ought to know. This celebrated work has reached a sale of 600,000 copies at $1.50 each. The expense of production having thus been covered, 500,000 copies are now being given away. A copy will be sent to any address on receipt of twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only.

THE STREET RAILWAY CONTEST.

We publish two communications from stockholders of the Newton Street Railway protesting against any interference with the profits of that company from its Washington street traffic. They give a moving picture of the early struggles of that company to get a location, and so accommodate Newton people, which would be pathetic, if it were not humorous, and the letters give a "specious," we borrow the adjective from one of the letters, description of the situation.

But the question to be considered first of all is, whether Washington street has been widened at great expense for the benefit of the public, or for that of the Newton Street Railway? There is only one answer, of course. Under our very unsatisfactory street railway laws, a street railway company pays nothing for its franchise, and hence can be said to have no rights in the public streets. The franchise is a free gift, and why should one company be granted favors rather than another, merely because its hat was extended first?

The city made the gift in the first place, and it has the power to revoke the same at any time, and the companies have no right to object. But the city ought to be fair in the matter, to treat all the companies with equal justice, and at the same time look out for the comfort and convenience of the citizens.

What the people demand is one fare and a continuous passage to any part of Newton, and it would be much less of a hardship to have transfers to Waltham, than to have all going to different points of Newton be obliged to change cars. The Waltham line is a great convenience, but it takes trade away from local merchants, and is of much more advantage to Waltham than to Newton.

Even if all the cars started from Newton, the Waltham line would still get its share of the local business, and probably be able to pay the same high rate of dividends and have its stock quoted just as high as at present. The more cars, the more traffic, is the general rule.

The numerous street railway corporations in Newton were not so very long ago practically the same thing, with the same officers and the same stockholders, and the different corporations existed mainly to collect separate fares. No one expected this condition of things would continue beyond the abolition of the grade crossings, and the time has come when the public demands one fare and one continuous passage from Newton to the other villages. Transfers will not answer the purpose, and as this thing has got to come, it would be wiser for the street railway companies to arrange matters amicably, than to carry the issue into a city election, and have a board of aldermen who would not be so well disposed as the present one.

The Newton & Waltham road would not suffer, as now most of the people who want to go to the South side of the city, take the steam cars to Newtonville and West Newton, and change there, as it is as cheap, and they can save time by so doing. The railroad commissioner says, that our correspondents threaten, is nothing to be afraid of, as arrangements for the joint use of the tracks could be easily made. Washington street really does not belong to any one street railway, but to the whole city.

CHARTER REVISION.

There is no question with any one as to the necessity of a revision of our city charter, and if anything is to be done about it this year, it should be done before the end of the year, so that the plan reported can be carefully considered. In previous years, the plans have been reported so late in the year, that there was no time to consider all their special features, and make the needed corrections, and this is the reason they have failed. It would be an excellent idea to have a committee of citizens, representing former members of the city government, appointed to meet with a committee of the city council, and if such committees began their work now, they would be ready to report by the first of September.

One of the most urgent necessities is to have some form of a board of public works, who would know something about the work to be done, could keep watch of proposed legislation, and see that preparations were made in time. This would save the city thousands of dollars every year.

The necessity for such a board has been made evident several times this year. The delay in making contracts for street watering is one instance which will appeal to every one, and a permanent board would have seen to it that this was done in time.

Another instance is furnished in the order passed without remark by the alderman, for the sale of some 39 acres of the Waban poor farm for $14,500. No one seemed to know that on this land is the only gravel pit in that section, and that it is worth at least $10,000 to the highway department.

The order will be voted by the mayor, but a board of public works, familiar with the city, would have seen before the order was passed, that it was a great mistake.

Another instance was on Boylston street, where the property owners generously offered to give land for the widening of the street. The offer would have been accepted had not Alderman Noyes happened to think that one side of this street was mainly a high rocky ledge or a swamp, and that widening on that side would be a terribly expensive proceeding. It was found that the land offered was on that side of the street.

There are all the time orders of this nature coming up, innocently enough presented, but which ought not to pass, and there is no authority to whom they can be referred in advance.

It is very unfair to hold the mayor responsible for all this business, and to require of him a knowledge of city affairs which only years of experience could give, and an oversight that no one official could be expected to give, and something should be done this year, to remedy matters.

HUMAN nature, apparently remains the same, with the passing of the centuries. A story is told of the early history of Greece, where a prominent citizen was driven into exile, because some of his fellow-citizens were tired of hearing him called "The Just," although he was in every way deserving of the title. The story is matched by one that is now going the rounds, of a prominent Newton politician, who said to some of his friends that he was against Hon. J. R. Leeson for Congress, because he was tired of hearing about his ability and uprightness and public services. The ancient Greeks thought the presence of such a man was a continual reproach to those who could not make any claim to his virtue, and probably the Newton man in question feels the same way. It would be much more comfortable for men who have no public spirit, or love of justice and such old-fashioned qualities, if men who had them could be driven out of public life, and the field left clear for the hustlers, and others whose only concern is for their own selfish interests and advancement. Fortunately, however, the majority of men can admire those old-fashioned qualities, and if the hustlers win in the race for wealth or public honors, they are regarded by the general public with no higher feeling than a more or less good-humored contempt.

THERE have been many and loud complaints, this week, at the delay in bringing out the watering carts. The dust is several inches deep on most of the streets, and it blows everywhere, the tightest doors and windows can not keep it out, and all who have to be on the street are annoyed by it. The lack of water is also doing great damage to the streets, themselves, the fine top-dressing being blown away, leaving exposed the coarser stones and it will cost a good deal to replace it. As the last of March and first of April are always apt to have dusty days, the arrangements for street watering ought to have been made weeks ago. The trouble is that the highway committee, not having had much experience, did nothing about the contracts until the dust was forced upon their attention, and have not yet given out their contracts, although every day's delay means a distinct loss to the city in the damage to the road beds, to say nothing of the terrible nuisance. The Highway Committee ought to brace up.

SENATOR SPRAGUE is evidently making a very active campaign for Gen. Draper's seat, and he has the advantage of having more money at his disposal than any other candidate. But it is a question whether the marked papers that have been so generously distributed through Newton will do him any good. His Newton friends ought to caution him against handicapping himself at the very beginning of the campaign.

A BOY was taken to the Lynn Hospital, suffering from what his doctor called hydrophobia. The Hospital doctors found, however, that the disease was really lockjaw, caused by having run a rusty nail into his foot. The cattle commissioners will therefore not issue another order for the muzzling of the dogs.

MONDAY was the hottest day at this season of the year for the thirty years that the weather bureau has kept the records, and Wednesday and Thursday were not far behind. With the mercury well up toward 90 in the early part of April it looks like a hot summer.

ALL who have articles of any length that they wish inserted in the GRAPHIC, should be sure and send them on Friday morning, as then they will be in ample time for the next week's issue. Correspondents writing about events of a week or two previous should bear this in mind.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

Beginning next Sunday the Wellesley & Boston cars will run every fifteen minutes between West Newton and Lower Falls, between the hours of 7 and 9 a. m., and 2 and 3 p. m.

There is a man living near Mahen, Miss., who prides himself on his economy, and the other day, when discussing his favorite topic, he remarked that he had saved several dollars in matches. "Why," he said, "when I came to Mississippi nearly 40 years ago I brought my fire with me, and I have kept the same fire ever since, never allowing it to die out, and during all this time I have never spent a cent for matches."

FIRE AND AIR.

Their Intimate Relation Was Early Recognized—Lord Bacon's Belief.

The intimate relation between fire and air was early recognized, seeing that experience soon taught that air was necessary for fire. The experiment of burning a candle in a closed vessel, now so familiar to every schoolboy, is a very old one, and the influence of a blast of air on a furnace had been probably noticed from a very remote period. By some it was affirmed to be the food of fire, while by others the same belief was embodied in the phrase, "Air nourishes fire."

Again, it was long ago observed that niter, a substance well known to the chemical philosophers of the past, could produce intense ignition. It was hence inferred that, since niter possessed this property, it necessarily followed that the two substances resembled each other in composition. According to Robert Boyle, the air contained "volatile niter," while Lord Bacon held that air contained a "volatile, crude and windy spirit," and thunder and lightning were supposed to be due to the presence of minute particles of this niter diffused through air.

The important bearing of such observations is due to the fact that oxygen gas, which is one of the chief constituents of air and the one to which it owes its power of supporting combustion, also forms the largest elementary constituent of niter and is likewise the source of the power possessed by that body of supporting combustion.

The action of heat on metals in causing them to lose their metallic luster had also not escaped notice, and Cardan, a philosopher who lived during the sixteenth century, in noticing the increase in weight that lead undergoes when heated in air, attributed it to the gas in the air, which feeds flame and which rekindles a body presenting an ignited point.—Scottish Review.

LAUNDRY CHARACTERS.

Too Difficult For the Captain to Get the Right End of His Name.

Captain Thomas S. Smith of East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, who is somewhat of a philologist, had an amusing experience in trying to analyze certain Chinese characters. It appears that when Chang Lee located his laundry in Harlem, the captain was his first customer. As the acquaintance grew Chang Lee strained the red tape laundry laws and did not issue the usual ticket to the captain, but called at his apartment every Monday for his laundry and returned it on Thursday in a package marked with hieroglyphics.

"Is that my name?" asked the captain of Chang as he pointed at the Chinese characters shortly after the laundry delivery plan was inaugurated.

"Yes. He you name. See?"

The captain didn't see, but set at work to do so, and for several weeks studied the writing that Chang Lee brought to him on each returning Thursday. He searched the libraries for such Chinese literature and lexicons as they held, examined laundry tickets and read the signs in Mott street in the hope of being able to learn how Chang Lee's characters conveyed the idea of the name of Smith, but he made an utter failure. Finally he decided to appeal to Chang Lee.

"Is that my name?" he asked the laundryman on the occasion of his next visit.

"Yes."

"Can you tell me how you get Smith out of such a looking scrawl?"

"No, not Smith. He say 'Captain.' Call you captain. That your name. See?" answered the Chinaman as he pointed at the characters, with an expression that showed surprise at the captain's ignorance.—New York Herald.

Her Proof.

The late Dr. Thomson, archbishop of York, when he was bishop of Gloucester, suffered from toothache, and by medical advice resorted to narcotics to relieve the pain. One morning, after a night of great suffering, as he left the house to consult the doctor, Mrs. Thomson begged him not to allow the physician to prescribe a narcotic, as it affected his brain for several hours after taking it. On his way the bishop met the postman, who handed him a large official envelope. He opened it in the street and read his appointment to the see of York. Instead of visiting the doctor he hastened back to communicate the surprising news to his wife.

"Zoe! Zoe!" he exclaimed. "What do you think has happened? I am archbishop of York."

"There, there!" rejoined the wife. "What did I tell you? You've been taking that horrid narcotic again and are quite out of your head."

Here's Economy.

There is a man living near Mahen, Miss., who prides himself on his economy, and the other day, when discussing his favorite topic, he remarked that he had saved several dollars in matches. "Why," he said, "when I came to Mississippi nearly 40 years ago I brought my fire with me, and I have kept the same fire ever since, never allowing it to die out, and during all this time I have never spent a cent for matches."

The Selfish Bishop.

A story used to be told that Bishop Wilberforce always crowded the seats of his first class carriage with his papers to gain himself a separate carriage, and when asked if these seats were occupied would reply, "Yes—occupied," adding in a low voice as the applicant went away, "but not engaged."—London Spectator.

A Napoleon Mot.

A new bon mot of Napoleon III is just reported. When Nicholas I of Russia congratulated him on coming to the throne, he addressed him as "my friend" instead of "my brother," the usual royal phrase. "This is most flattering," said the emperor. "We choose our friends. We cannot choose our relatives."

BOMBHELL'S BRAVE DEED.

The Dog Saved Two Little Children From Serious Danger.

While a gun was being loaded Bombshell would sit on the parapet and watch the operation. That finished, he would jump up and look out to sea over the range and then scamper down from the parapet and follow us into the bomb-proof.

As usual, Bombshell was on hand to see the test of the new big gun.

He superintended the loading, and while I was aiming the gun he looked over the range as carefully as did the lookout, and from his air of responsibility one might have supposed that to him had been intrusted the duty of seeing that the range was clear.

But when we started for the bomb-proof, instead of following us, as was his custom, Bombshell remained on the parapet, looking out to sea and sniffing the air. In a moment he dashed off through the bushes which covered the narrow beach between the parapet and the sea.

Though thinking his actions peculiar, I was sure that he would not remain in front of the gun because he had done so once when quite young and inexperienced, and the burning grains of powder, which are always thrown out by the blast of a gun, had buried themselves in his skin, burning him badly. He had never forgotten this.

Certain that he would take care of himself, I paid no further attention to him, but went with the others into the bomb-proof and took my place by the electric key ready to fire at the command of the captain.

Just as the command "Fire!" was about to be given Bombshell reappeared on the parapet and began to bark furiously into the very muzzle of the gun.

I called to him, but he would not come. Annoyed at the delay of the test, I tried to catch him, but could not do so. As I approached he retreated, still barking and apparently urging me to follow him.

Finally, convinced from the dog's actions that something was wrong, the electric wire was disconnected from the gun, and I followed Bombshell. Waggling his tail with joy at having accomplished his object, he led me through the underbrush to the beach.

There, concealed behind a clump of bushes, were two little children quietly digging in the sand and entirely unconscious of the danger in which they had been.—Lieutenant John C. W. Brooks in St. Nicholas.

The Gulf Stream.

Remarking upon some of the geographical charts now available to the student of physical science, it is pointed out by a writer that elsewhere in the world there is not so majestic a flow of water as the gulf stream, a remarkable body having its headquarters in the gulf of Mexico, from thence flowing northeasterly along the shore of the United States to the banks of Newfoundland. Then, rushing across the Atlantic ocean to the British Isles, it is divided into two currents, one flowing northward to the Atlantic ocean, the other southward to the Azores, and the velocity of this immense flow being also more rapid than that of the Mississippi at New Orleans or even of the Amazon at 100 miles above its mouth. Phenomenal, too, is the fact that, although its bed and banks are cold water, yet the vast stream is very warm, and so great is the absence of affinity or commingling between these waters that their line of junction is distinctly visible to the eye. Further, the waters of this wonderful stream do not in any part of their course touch the bottom of the sea. They are defended at the bottom and sides by what has been termed a trough of cold water, one of the best nonconductors. Consequently very little heat is lost, and the warm water is carried thousands of miles, losing only four degrees of heat on the journey from the gulf of Mexico to the British Isles.

Sir William Fraser states, in a volume of reminiscences which has just been published, that Napoleon III, while in exile at Chislehurst, matured a plan to restore himself to the throne. A private yacht, of which the late Mr. James Asbury was owner, had been actually chartered for the purpose of landing the former emperor on the French coast, whence he was to repair in disguise to Chalons, where an army corps was engaged in maneuvers, there throw off his incognito and lead the troops into Paris.

—Gen. Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W., conferred the degrees on five candidates, Tuesday evening. Their meeting night has been changed to second and fourth Fridays.

—Mount Ida Council, Royal Arcanum, initiated four candidates and received four applications at their regular meeting Monday evening. A banquet was served at the close of the business meeting.

—The work of relaying the tracks for the Newton & Waltham Street Railway between Greenwood avenue and Eddy street is nearly completed. This was necessary to make room for the temporary tracks of the B. & A.

—The executive council of the Newton Federated Clubs will meet Tuesday morning in the parlors of the New church on Highland avenue. Arrangements will be made for the annual meeting which will be held next month.

—Mrs. Andrew Wellington will read a paper on "Norumbega" before the Woman's Guild, next Tuesday. Those who have heard the other papers read by Mrs. Wellington before the Guild will be anxious to hear this one.

—Next Sunday evening, Prof. Wells of The Golden Rule, will have charge of the Young People's meeting at the Central Congregational church. He will deliver an address on the subject, "Throughout My Whole Life." Everybody is cordially welcome.

—The Newtonville Cycle Club expect to make a run Sunday morning through the system of parks in and around the hub. Monday morning the club will start at nine o'clock for Concord where they will dine at Mrs. L. E. Brooks' home. The return will be made by way of Lexington.

—Gentlemen and lady members of the Newtonville Cycle Club and their friends, take an all day run to Concord, Monday April 20th, starting at 9 a. m. from residence of G. W. Brown. Those who are not members are cordially invited, and provision will be made for them, provided they drop a line to Franklin Bancher, president.

—The new hard pine poles are rapidly being placed in position and the work of removing the wooden and iron poles will soon begin. These new poles will be used for the telegraph and telephone, the electric lights and electric railway. One line of poles through the street will improve the appearance of the thoroughfares.

—Mrs. Mary M. Grant, widow of John Grant, died at her home on Nevada street, Wednesday morning, April 15. Funeral will take place from her late residence on Saturday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Grant had been a resident of Newtonville for the past thirty years, and was universally esteemed. She had been in failing health for the past three years.

—The stalls have been removed from the stable connected with the truck house and are being rebuilt in the main house at the rear of the hose carriage and at the side of the truck. Windows have been placed in the east side of the building and the storage of hay has been arranged in the shed. The old stable will be torn down to make room for the temporary tracks for the B. & A.

—The Boston Post says: The Rev. Ira A. Priest, the Newtonville pastor who has recently been asked to resign is a Tufts College graduate, and many of the New England alumni of that institution remember him quite well. He is an enthusiastic college fraternity man, and was a member of Zeta Psi, while in college was popular in all gymnastic sports. Since leaving college he has accomplished good work in the Universalist field at Danvers, and a member of the Universalist Union has won a host of Christian friends by his constant efforts to advance the interests of that body.

—A camp fire, under the auspices of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., last evening, was an interesting event. There was a large attendance. Many of the associate members were present with ladies. The exercises consisted of a literary entertainment, followed by Friday features and a banquet. An address of welcome was made by the chaplain of the post, Rev. B. F. McDaniel. An orchestra discoursed music at intervals. Associate Member Frank Nagle presented a Turkish rug, made especially for the post and adorned with the emblems of the organization. Maj. Seth A. Ranlett, the recently elected city treasurer, gave an address, ex-Mayor Henry E. Bothfield made a few remarks, and Comrade J. L. Shephard of U. S. Grant post of Brooklyn, N. Y., gave a few entertaining reminiscences.

—The new Adams school house at the corner of Wat Adams and Walker streets and Brookside avenue, was opened and occupied for the first time for school purposes Monday. The building has been constructed at a total cost, with furnishings, of nearly $20,000, and is a model school house. The materials of construction are brick, with freestone trimmings. The style of construction is similar to that of the new Hyde school house at Newton Highlands, and the committee declares it has secured a better building, and with two additional rooms, for less money. It is a 10-room structure, has four rooms on each of the first two stories and two in the third. Each room will seat about 60 pupils, excepting the two upper rooms, which will provide for 30 each. The interior finish is in ash, giving a light, cheerful effect. The building is heated by steam, and the plumbing arrangements and sanitary provisions are of the best. There is a large hall in the third story. Under the decision of the school board only the grand mar grades are to occupy this building, leaving the pupils of the primary and kindergarten grades of the district in the old Adams school house. Against this arrangement the parents of the entire district have repeatedly protested.

—G. H. Loomis has opened an office in Dennison's block.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan are in Washington, D. C., for a short stay.

—Mrs. E. M. Thayer of Clyde street is in Washington, D. C., for a short stay.

—Mrs. J. H. Dickinson of Grove Hill has returned from her visit to the South.

—Miss Josephine Tyler of Augusta, Me., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Savage.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Jones, 376 Newtonville avenue, will give a musicale, April 27, to which invitations have been issued.

—The many friends of Rev. Ira A. Priest, both in the church of which he has been the pastor and outside as well, regret his action in tendering his resignation.

—Mr. G. H. Loomis has leased Mrs. G. F. Kimball's house on Trowbridge avenue, to Mr. Kendall of Brookline; also Mrs. Clark's house, Clyde street, to J. L. Atwood; Alice Paine house, corner of Oak and Appleton streets, to Charles F. Jones of Newton.

—Methodist Episcopal church: Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Franklin Hamilton both morning and evening. Morning topic at 10.45, "The Third Time." Evening topic at 7.30, "What we Methodists did at Springfield with a word on the A. P. A." Special music in the evening with all seats free. The evening service is a popular service for all.

—An "Everybody's Birthday Party" will be held in the Universalist church parlors on Thursday evening, April 23. Mrs. Blanche C. Martin of Waltham will give readings. The musical portion of the entertainment will consist of bandurria and guitar duets, by Signor Frank Argueso, (of the Spanish Bandurria Club), and Mr. C. L. Burnham. The bandurria is a purely Spanish instrument, and seldom heard in this country. It is a most enjoyable and particularly sweet and tuneful.

—The Leavitt block has been raised and the square has assumed the appearance of a place visited by fire or flood or some unusual process, leaving in its wake a path of desolation and ruin. In the present case, it is only the result of a great transformation in connection with the depressing of the Boston & Albany railroad tracks and the removal of buildings on the south side of Washington street, where land is needed, in order to carry out the combination improvement scheme of a wide main avenue and a railroad below grade. The brick structure, where the Newton Co-operative bank was once located, is being rapidly pulled down, but, like a child's puzzle, is to be pieced together again, assuming its original lines on a lot of land on Bowers street, nearly opposite the depot. After the completion of the upsetting and rebuilding, the people will settle down once more to a condition that might be termed normal, and Newtonville, as of yore, will be proud of its inhabitants and its various monuments of business enterprise and sagacity.

A WISE SOLUTION.

NEWTON'S NEW PLAN FOR CARING FOR THE TRAMPS THIED WITH GREAT SUCCESS—THE PROBLEM SOLVED.

The new plan requiring all men, who are lodged over night at the police station, to work four hours the following day, was tried for the first time Wednesday morning with perfect success. It has been the custom for the past three or four years to send those who apply for a night's lodging at any of the other stations, over to Station 2, where a large room is provided for the purpose, and the accommodations are better. The average number of lodgers is twenty-three but has often exceeded thirty and during the month of March 67 were booked.

Twenty-three "knights of the road" were unlucky enough to come under the new system Wednesday, and at 6.30 a. m. were marched from the station-house to one of the city's gravel pits on California street. The land is that on which the old Italian shanty once stood and affords an excellent opportunity for the work, which was planned by Mr. Geo. Stuart, to be carried on.

The party was in charge of Sgt. Clay and Officer B. F. Burke, and through the courtesy of the former a GRAPHIC reporter was allowed to accompany it. When leaving the station these "weary walkers" were told that were about to be given a good breakfast and nothing mentioned of the work that was to follow. Some evidently knew what to expect and protested that they had money enough to buy a breakfast, while others said they ought to be at work at 7 o'clock. There is no doubt to the truth of the latter remark but the other should be taken with a grain of salt.

By an act passed in the legislature in 1885 each city or town is given the power to require twenty-four hours work of any person who lodges in a place provided for such a purpose and at the expense of the town. The men evidently understood this and did not grumble. When they arrived at the pit breakfast was quite ready and they were set to work digging and sifting gravel.

Some of the men took kindly to the work and could give many of the city laborers points, while others thought their physical strength would not allow it. Regarding the latter case, if a man offers such an excuse, he is taken to the city physician and examined. If found incapable of doing work he is released, but if able to work he is tried in the police court for vagrancy, which probably means a year in the work-house at Bridgewater.

Breakfast was served about ten minutes after the arrival of the party, in a small wooden building erected for that purpose, and in which the cooking is done. The meal consisted of fish, potatoes, bread and plenty of meat and vegetables, bread and coffee with milk and sugar. There was plenty of everything and the tramps realizing this, ate heartily. Mr. C. Davis is the steward, and is to be complimented on his excellent cooking. Mayor Cobb was present for a short time. The mayor tasted the food and pronounced it excellent, and the tramps had an equally good opinion of it, and some asked if napkins went with it, at which every one laughed.

At breakfast time the party became quite merry, and most of them seemed to take their lot in the best of good humor. Having finished they were taken back to work under the chief, Officer B. F. Burke, and Steward C. O. Davis, and kept until 11 o'clock.

The following figures will show what profit the city will realize out of the venture. Twenty-three men working four hours a day, or 92 hours is equal to ten highway employees working one day at nine hours a day. The cost of employing these city laborers would amount to $17.50 and the only expense the working of the tramps incurs is the employment of a steward and the cost of feeding them, which is much smaller than the amount of money saved by this new plan.

There is no doubt that the system will cause the number of lodgers to lessen, and that in the future most of these "weary walkers" will avoid Newton.

In Behalf of the Newton Street Railway.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Representing an estate, the heirs of which are large stock-holders in the Newton Street Railway Company, I am too much interested to keep silent under a proposition to deprive that company of the best part of its franchise and business, the Washington street part, and give it to another company; or, as seems to be proposed, to three other companies. If such a thing was necessary in the public interest the chartered rights and interests of the Newton Street Railway Co. would have to yield, for it holds its franchise subject to the superior rights of the public, but it does not hold them subject to the interests and welfare of the Wellesley & Boston Railway Co., or any other company, and the board of aldermen have no right to destroy or revoke the franchise of the Newton Street Railway Co., either in whole or in part, out of consideration for any other private corporation. As an excuse for this attempted robbery of chartered rights, it is held out that cars could be run from Newton corner to any other place for five cents without charge; and this is the only public advantage claimed for the proposition. Everybody knows that to accomplish that result it is neither necessary or advisable to interfere at all with the rights of the Newton Street Railway.

If the Wellesley Street Railway want to run a car from Lower Falls to Newton corner without charge the statutes already provide that they may do it, with the consent of the board of aldermen and the railroad commissioners, on such fair terms as may be determined, and if the Wellesley road is allowed to build a single track to Newton corner by the side of the Newton Street Railway track, it will still have to get permission of the board of aldermen and railway commissioners to use the Newton Street Railway track in exactly the same way as it uses its own track. And this it asks for and proposes in its petition. In other words, it is admitted that there must be a double track used in common by both companies, or all companies if the Newton Street Railway Co. is to be hampered or limited in its location on Washington street. It is just as easy and practicable for the Wellesley Co. to use the double track of the Newton Street Railway Co. on Washington street as to use its present single track, and it is perfectly obvious that the only motive for giving the Wellesley Co. the right to parallel the Newton Street Railway Company's track on Washington street is to divide its Washington street business with it without compensation. It is a stock jobbing operation pure and simple, a scheme to increase the value of the Wellesley Railroad stock at the expense of that of the Newton Street Railway. We have been strongly advised to sell out our Newton Street Railway stock as quickly as possible on the ground that this scheme is sure to go through the board of aldermen, and our stock become greatly depreciated in value. I don't believe there is any danger of any such scheme going through the board of aldermen, or through the board of railroad commissioners, as will be necessary to give it any effect. The idea that cars are going to start from Nonantum square for Nonantum village without charge, or to any of the other villages, except at very infrequent intervals, or that it is practicable for years to come to establish any such arrangement, is unreasonable, as well as of very slight consequence. The free transfer is all that the public asks for, and all that for some time to come is practicable, and when anything more is needed or is practicable the public can have it just as quickly and just as easily and surely if the Newton Street Railway Co. is not forced into a fight for the Washington street business with the Wellesley Co., or any other company. The utter impracticability of two or three different corporations operating and using the same tracks and appliances and competing for the same long stretch of local business, is too apparent. Certainly the public interest has nothing to do with this absurd proposition, and I believe the board of aldermen will hesitate long before lending its official aid to such a scheme.

E. O. CHILDS.

Washington Street Railway Fight.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

We notice that your editorial columns have favored the specious scheme for having all street cars start from Newton and run to different parts of the city, as far as necessary, over the Washington street tracks, and to this end, that you seem to approve of granting a parallel location with the Newton Street Railway on that street.

We think you have not forgotten the pioneer efforts of the Newton Street Railway, and the many years it was rebuffed in its efforts to get a foothold in Newton, and that it received very little encouragement from Newton people, who did not believe it was wanted.

By using Hall's Hair Renewer, gray, faded, or discolored hair assumes the natural color of youth, and grows luxuriant and strong, pleasing everybody.

We know that you want nothing but justice, and a competing parallel location for a long distance is an anomaly which does not exist, we understand, in this state.

In many states it is restricted by law to a number of feet for connection, as, for instance, in New York, one thousand feet. We do not believe that any board would grant such an unjust petition, and, particularly, in view of the fact that the Newton Street Railway company offers to run cars to all parts of the city for five cents, and that is the most that people would ever get, for we understand that the right to run over the tracks of another road can only be granted by the railroad commissioners and it is highly improbable that they would ever grant it to other corporations, there being four in Newton that would have to have it in order to get what the Wellesley & Boston promise, namely, the Wellesley & Boston, Newton & Boston, Newtonville & Watertown and Newton Street Railway.

Let us not weaken the strength of the corporations that are doing their best, and we will be certain to get better service if they are prosperous. Such a condition as is petitioned for would weaken all the roads.

It's all the same, a slight cold, congested lungs or severe cough. One Minute Cough Cure banishes them. Arthur C. Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Amherst.

N. A. A. Ball Nine.

For the past two weeks workmen have been employed rolling the N. A. A. field, and it is now in first class condition, and ready for the opening baseball game with Harvard, Patriot's day. The candidates for the nine have practiced daily, and the players and positions for the Harvard game will be as follows:

Cushing or Draper, c.; Dowd, p.; Bustard, 1. b.; Hubbard, 2nd b.; Hovey, Abbott, 3rd b.; Bowen, l. f.; Johnson or Mason, c. f.; Warren, r. f. Hubbard and Dickinson are on the sick list, but both will be able to play soon.

The new men, Dowd, Bustard and Johnson are expected to greatly strengthen the team.

Dowd is probably the speediest pitcher, outside of professional ranks, in the country. Bustard, last year captured Brown University, and led that team at the bat with an average of over four hundred.

Johnson who pitched for Tufts College last year, defeating Harvard, Nashua League and other strong clubs, will play centre field, and assist Dowd in pitching.

On Saturday, April 25th, the Tufts College team will play on the N. A. A. field. This club has started in remarkably well for so early in the season, and the N. A. A. boys will have to play baseball from the start to win.

Japan Up to Date.

Japan is going ahead. Its first big swindle is really a very creditable piece of rogues for such a young nation. Mr. Hamano, the member of the diet and pastor of the Greek church at Tokyo, who is also president of the Japan Cast Iron company, belongs to a politico-religious type already familiar in the older haunts of commercial morality. The municipality of Tokyo had decided to undertake a waterworks system, and had obtained a subsidy from the government of 15,000,000 yen in aid of the total estimate of 80,000,000. In a patriotic moment some of this outlay of Japanese money on water pipes was kept for the Japan Cast Iron company, but the result has only been to artificially foster foreign rather than home industries.

By a most ingenious device about 800 tons of defective pipes were laid after they had been rejected by the clerk of the works, and the Tokyo citizens, it is estimated, thereby suffer a loss of about 1,000,000 yen.

The officials of the company are now awaiting trial—which apparently does not prevent the newspapers in Japan from assuming their guilt.—St. James Gazette.

WILLIAM PITT WENTWORTH.

DIES MONDAY MORNING AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

Mr. William Pitt Wentworth died at his home on Hunnewell Hill, Monday morning, at the age of 57 years, after an illness of several weeks, of heart trouble. He was taken ill in the winter but the serious nature of his illness was not known until about two weeks ago, when it was announced that the probabilities were against his recovery.

He was born in Bellows Falls, Vt., and studied architecture under the famous English architect, Dudley, in New York. He came to Boston about thirty years ago. He soon rose to prominence in his profession and has been widely known as a successful designer of churches and hospitals. Churches planned by him are scattered all over the country, in Norfolk, Va., the Jamestown, N. Y. Memorial church, costing $175,000, and the Flower Memorial church in Watertown, N. Y., and others in many cities and towns in New England. Among the Hospitals planned by him are the Newton Hospital, regarded as a model for the smaller hospitals; the Lynn hospital, the Washington Home in Boston, the Quincy Hospital; the Mary Fletcher Hospital in Burlington, Vt., and the State Insane Hospital now being built at Medfield. He also designed the Dean Academy at Franklin. He designed many of the most attractive houses in Newton and other suburban cities, and the amount of work he was able to do showed his intense application to business.

He was a prominent member of Grace church and was greatly interested in the choir, of which he was for many years a member. For fifteen years he has served as clerk of the parish. He leaves a widow but no children.

The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon in Grace church, and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the deceased, including many business men from Boston and members of Grace church, with which he had been prominently connected for a quarter of a century, and representatives of the Washington Home, of which he was a trustee, and the Boston Architects Club. Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn, the rector of the church, and an old friend of the deceased, officiated, and the Episcopal burial service was used with music by the vested choir. As the choir went out, each member placed a bouquet of violets on the casket. The remains were conveyed Wednesday morning to Bellows Falls, Vt., for interment in the family lot.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Will cure the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb, and consequent spinal weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the change of life.

Every time it will cure Backache. It has cured more cases of leucorrhoea by removing the cause, than any remedy the world has ever known; it is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills work in unison with the Compound, and are a sure cure for constipation and sick headache. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is of great value for local application.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Richard Walsh has been ill with diphtheria.
—Miss Mammie Lane of Wilmington, Del., is visiting friends in town.
—Miss Sadie Hoyt has been visiting Mrs.
William Warren of Chestnut street.
—There are letters in the postoffice for Mrs. Joseph Neson, G. Martin and H. G.
Nichols.
—Mrs. Edward Warren has been visiting her former home in New Hampshire for a few weeks.
—This evening the Echo Bridge Social Club will give a ball and entertainment at Newton Highlands.
—The Garden City Coal Co. has been awarded the contract for supplying the pumping station with coal.
—A number of houses on the Hemlock Gorge Reservation were vacated this week, preparatory to be torn down.
—Residents of this place are complaining that the watering carts do not come up here when needed. They do not believe in discrimination and think that the other parts of the city are receiving advantage that they are not.

—A handsome set of views of the scenery around Echo Bridge, including Devil's Den, the Mill Dam, Hemlock Gorge and the bridge, have been photographed by Mr.
William Fanning and are on exhibition at Mr. B. Billings' store.
—The Ladies' Sewing Circle held its monthly meeting in the vestry of the Methodist church, last Wednesday afternoon and evening. In the evening at 7.30 a sociable, under the direction of the young people's society, was enjoyed.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. Woodford Taylor and family removed this week to Nova Scotia where they have purchased a farm.
—The rumor that a business block was to be built where the Monagan house stands, appears to be unfounded.
—The Skinner family of Wellesley Farms expect to occupy their residence there, May 1st, after being absent during the winter.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spring while out riding Monday morning, were thrown from their carriage, which upset by their horse becoming frightened and escaping sharply from an electric car on the bridge. Both were very fortunate to escape uninjured, although Mrs. Spring received a cut on the forehead and other slight bruises. The horse was captured afterward with some difficulty.

—A force of men of the highway department have improved the condition of our streets this week by scraping them; now a request should be made for the watering cart, as the dust at this time the past week has been almost suffocating.

—Rev. O. R. Miller, wife, and child have returned from Springfield where they were in attendance at the N. E. conference of Methodist ministers. All are pleased here to learn that Rev. Mr. Miller will supply the pulpit here for another term.

—A brush fire started on the grounds of the Newton Hospital burned over considerable territory, and called out the Hose Co.
and Chemical A before it was extinguished.
Buildings were in danger in two or three instances, and a long fence was badly damaged.

—Father Callahan of St. John's church has been unable to attend all his pastoral duties the past week, by reason of a severe cold. Father Wholly of Newton Centre celebrated the 10.30 mass last Sunday. Fr.
McDermott, his assistant, officiated at evening vespers.

—The Grand Concert held in Odd Fellows Hall, Wellesley, April 9th, was one of the finest concerts ever given by that order.
It was under the supervision of Mrs. Geo.
I. Smith of this place to whom special credit is due for the high quality and successful outcome of the entertainment.
The program was admirably executed and a large audience appreciated with hearty applause the many good things offered. A duet by the Misses Sweeney and Chesbro was much enjoyed. A song and duet by the Misses Woodfill from the Vivian Quartet of Natick were rendered with decided effect. St. Clair violinist, great applause from the audience. Mrs.
Brown's singing with the obligate accompaniment of the violin, was in many respects the most finished and perfect work of the evening, while St. Clair violinist, fairly captured the assemblage with his remarkably well executed pieces. Miss Dennis of this village charmed the entire company with her delicate and bewitching music. As a violinist she is evidently among the experts. Those sweet songs so well sung by Mr. Wigmore, as usual, called out expressions of hearty approval.
The recitation by Miss Terry for the company of their feet in responsive sympathy.

NONANTUM.

—The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting last Sunday was led by Harwood Shepard.
—A number of new street signs take the place of the old ones recently removed.

—James Moore of California street is confined to the house suffering with throat trouble.
—Christopher Morrow has left his position with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and gone to work for the Crystal Spring Starch Co.

—Miss Penola Foster has purchased the old Graves house on Washington street, and is having it removed to a lot owned by her on Adams near Lincoln street.
—Next Sunday evening a delegation from the Buelah Baptist Mission will visit the Mission at the Mt. Auburn chapel for the purpose of conducting the meeting.

—Last Friday afternoon Hose 8 was called out to extinguish a fire on the premises of T. J. Cutter. The fence had caught from burning grass and was burning quite briskly when the department arrived.

—Last Sunday afternoon before the P. S.
A. society at the North Evangelical church, Dr. D. E. Baker delivered a part of his lecture "The House We Live In." Next Sunday he will conclude this very interesting lecture.

—Last Sunday afternoon at the Buelah Baptist Mission in St. Elmo hall, a large number listened to the very stirring addresses of David Atkinson and Mr. Dunkleson. At the meeting next Sunday, ex-Mayor B. B. Johnson of Waltham will speak.

—Thursday afternoon of last week an iron electric car pole became charged with an electric current, which was caused by a leakage in the trolley wire. A young man who happened to be passing received a severe shock by coming in contact with the pole.

—St. Elmo Lodge, Sons of Temperance, installed the following officers last Friday evening: Worthy patriarch, Bert Hudson; worthy associate, Bertha King; recording scribe, Henrietta Good; assistant recording scribe, Joseph Loozy; chaplain, Mrs. Geo.
Hudson; conductor, Goodwin Morrow; assistant conductor, Wendell Hudson; inside sentinel, A. N. Frye; outside sentinel, Maude Giggery. After the exercises, refreshments were served and a musical and literary program enjoyed.

A little ill, then a little pill. The ill is gone the pill has won. DeWitt's Little Early Risers the little pills that cure great ills. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard
Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P.
Thorn, Auburndale.

Lasell Notes.

School re-opened at noon of Wednesday,
April 8, for the spring term.
The Washington party returned in the morning of the same day, having had an enjoyable week of sight-seeing with Mr.
Shepherd, in the capital, visiting nearly all places of special interest in and around the city.

On Thursday evening following, Mr.
Shepherd gave at the seminary his charming illustrated lecture on Italian cities.
The stereoscopic views were very interesting, and the first ever shown at Lasell, and evinced Mr.
Shepherd's artistic taste in selection and arrangement. Genoa, Pisa, Naples, Rome, Florence, Venice, Ravenna, Verona and Milan were thus necessarily visited, and their rarest beauties shown.

Miss Katharine Oliver's interesting presentation of "Drumtochy Fook" at Newtonville was attended by a small party under Miss Carpenter's escort. "The Bonnie Briar Bush" becomes doubly delightful after listening to such impersonation of its principal characters.

The usual symphony party on Saturday
with Miss Pinkham.

The Apollo club concert of last week was attended by a party from the seminary; escort, Miss Nutt.

A large party heard Hamlet, at the Boston Museum, Saturday evening. Miss Carpenter accompanied the party.
On Sunday many of the students attended the services of various Boston churches.
One party went to the Cathedral with Franklin Von der Kall; another to Trinity, with M. L. Rorer; a third to Ruggles Street Baptist church, with Mr. and Mrs.
Wagner; a fourth to the Old South, with Miss Evans, and a fifth to the Church of the Advent, with Miss Cogswell.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Edw. Sherburne Osmond of Portland, lectured at the seminary on Parliamentary Usage, one of the most valuable lectures of the year. A number of outside friends were in attendance.

Miss Mabel G. Foster of Boston will lecture at the seminary on Saturday, April 18th, at 1.30 p. m. Subject, "Modern Pictorial Art. Friends are welcome.

Henry Ward Beecher once informed a man who came to him complaining of gloomy and despondent feelings, that what he most needed was a good Catholic, meaning of course, such a medicine as Ayer's Cathartic Pills, every dose being effective.

Disorders afflict the human race, the large majority arising from impure blood. Hence the wide range of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the greatest blood purifier of the age.

"I feel it a duty to suffering humanity and to Hood's Sarsaparilla to tell what this medicine has done for me. I know it is an honest medicine. I had

Dyspepsia, and 3 years treatment by physicians did me no good. I could not eat half a cracker without distress. I fell off in weight from 180 to 140 pounds. I also suffered with rheumatism, and was pretty well used up. I heard about Hood's Sarsaparilla and began to take it. I soon noticed that it was helping me, and after taking several bottles found I could eat what I wanted without any distress. Later

I had salt rheum or

Eczema

come on my ankles, and I again took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The swelling went down and the eruptions healed. Then I had the grip and it left me in bad shape, with catarrh and other troubles. The doctor said I was all worn out, but might be patched up and live a year or two. But I clung to my old friend Hood's Sarsaparilla and was soon in my better health. I am alive yet, more than three years having passed since the doctor's prediction, thanks to Hood's. I am 69 years old, weigh 170 pounds, am in good health and recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends for dyspepsia, catarrh and rheumatism, and also for cleansing the blood."

—Services as usual at the M. E. church next Sunday at 10:45 and 7 o'clock; Sunday school at 12; Epworth League at 6:15. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Bonner, who returns for another year in response to the unanimous vote of the church officials, will preach both morning and evening.

—Music in Congregational church at 10:30 a. m. Oliver King Soprano and alto duet, "Sabbath Morn." Mendelssohn

VESPER, 7:30 p. m. Elvey Hancon Field Shelly

Venite. "For choir Angelic." "God shall wipe away all tears." "Saviour when night."

—There was a large attendance at the sociable at the Congregational chapel on Tuesday evening. A musical program was given, consisting of a piano duet by Mr. Fred Hayward and Miss Morse; cornet solos by Mr. Williams, and Miss Hardwick accompanied; also a number of selections by the Berkeley Quartet of Boston, and songs by a member of the quartet, with Mrs. Shumway as accompanist. Light refreshments were served. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the quartet, whose services were secured by Mr. J. W. Foster, for their part in making the evening's entertainment a success.

—One of the most unique and most successful entertainments of the season was given at the M. E. church last Tuesday evening, to a well-filled house. The event of the evening was the doll drill, which was gracefully done by ten "little maids all in a row," who drilled with their dolls and sang various Mother Goose melodies in appropriate places in the drill. The songs by Miss Cook, Mrs. Gleason and Miss Stevens, and the recitations by Mrs. Waterhouse and Mr. Hyde, were arranged with reference to the spirit of the evening, those preceding the drill being about children or dolls, and those following being slumber songs. Those who assisted were all at their best, and the children showed evidences of the faithful drilling they had received from Mrs. Ryder and Mrs. Hyde.

An Intimate Friend of Hornets.

It is Mrs. Brightwen's privilege to be unusually well placed for the minute study of living creatures, and her pets have included lemurs, an ichneumon, squirrels, doves, owls, tortoises and so on. Squirrels and birds she has lured by kindness, and in addition to giving many particulars about these she has something to say about studying nature, teaching children to be humane and the pleasures of insect observation, etc. That insects can discriminate between friends and enemies is, she holds, true, and she remembers once in a country village seeing a man hard at work thrashing corn in a barn, and quite near to him there was an immense hornets' nest hanging from a beam. When asked if he was not afraid of them, he smiled and said: "Oh, they know me well enough. One of 'em fell inside my shirt the other day, but he was very ceevil and never stung me, for I never interferes wi' them, and they never interferes wi' me."—Westminster Budget.

British Army Pensions.

The ordinary pension to the widow of a lieutenant in the army is £40, and £10 for each child. A captain's widow has £50, and £12 for each child; a lieutenant colonel's widow, £90, and £16 for each child; a general's widow, £120, and £20 for each child. If death is directly traced to fatigue, privation or exposure, the pensions are increased by half as much again; if the officer is killed in action, or dies of wounds within 12 months of the battle, the pensions are doubled. The ordinary pensions are not granted if the officer was 25 years older than his wife.—London Echo.

Speed No Object.

"What do you think of my new boys?" "Why, they're beautiful animals, but they can't trot for shucks." "Oh, well, I don't care for that part of it." "You don't?" "No. If they could do a mile a minute, the boulevard police would hold 'em down to eight miles an hour anyway."—Chicago Record.

GIRLS VALUE PURITY IN MEN.

The Exceptions, Who Wed Men of the World, Always Repent of It.

A young man writes to Edward W. Bok inquiring why so many girls seem to prefer the company of young fellows of slightly blotted character—men who have seen the world—and in many cases marry them, in face of the fact that their past lives are known to them. In The Ladies' Home Journal Mr. Bok, its editor, makes this reply: "Girls—that is, the right kind of girls—do not prefer the company of young men of this sort. Doubtless, you have come across instances where this rule has been otherwise; so have I. But it is all in the seeming, and not in the reality. Depend upon one thing—girls have as high an estimate of purity in man as men have of purity in woman.

"There are, of course, cases to the contrary, but these are few. Where girls marry men who are known to have led what is called a 'worldly life,' it is more generally due to a misunderstanding of facts or to ignorance than people imagine. There is a type of girl who finds a peculiar satisfaction in the conquest of a man who has 'seen the world' and then comes to her as the one woman of all her sex who can make him happy. This sometimes pleases her vanity and love of conquest, but she is not many years older before she discovers that she has satisfied those feelings at a very high cost.

"There is another type of girl who rather fancies a man who is what is called 'fast.' But that sort of girl is painfully ignorant of what is meant by that word as applied to a man. If she were not, she would be very apt to change the adjective to 'vulgar.' And as she matures she finds this out. It is only young men of upright lives who can hope to win the favor and love of girls of high motives, the girls who make the best wives. If, at times, girls seem to favor young men of another kind, the glamour is simply transitory. It is rare, very rare, that a girl's better instincts do not lead her to the higher grade of young men. An upright life never fails of reward, and of the highest reward, from the hand of woman."

—Watch, Clock and Jewelry repairing. Clocks called for and delivered. All work guaranteed. Theo. L. Mason, Elliot Block.

—The Boston Home Journal of April 18, published an excellent portrait of Rev. Wm. H. Davis, the new pastor of the Elliot church. In the same issue was a short sketch of his life, which had been written by Rev. W. G. Sperry.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Samuel Benton, Charles Calef, Dr. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hatch, Mrs. Wm. Ashley, Mrs. M. Bonton, Kate Callaghan, Hilda Hill, Mrs. Julia Grishy, Mrs. D. Mahan, Mrs. Geo. Langford, Mrs. McManus, Jennie Cullough, Katie Murphy, Mrs. G. N. Shattuck, Mrs. G. E. Strong, Mrs. G. F. Thompson, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. D. White and Mrs. C. Wornwood.

—The Newton Natural History Society met last Friday evening at the residence of Dr. J. F. Frisbie. Mr. Jesse Fewkes gave an exceedingly interesting and instructive paper on the Charles River, describing its head waters and the various sources of the numerous tributaries, numbering more than fifty rivers, brooks and ponds. He referred to the earliest colonial records where reference is made to the Charles, to the general topography of the region through which it flows, and the early settlements and towns along its course. Mr. Fewkes has given this region a great deal of study and thorough investigation, and the number of facts and interesting descriptions instructed —The next meeting of the Social Science Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Merrill, Centre street, April 29th, at 10 o'clock. Subject, "The Relation of Literature to Social Reform."

—The excavating for the cellar of the new block on the corner of Centre street will be commenced this week, and will soon be ready for the laying of the foundation walls.

—The Mass. Veterinary Association held its annual dinner at Young's Hotel, Wednesday night. Dr. Madison Bunker was president, Dr. J. J. McLaughlin, one of the executive committee.

—Prof. Rishell of the Boston University will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday afternoon on "The Advantages of Bible Study." Next Thursday evening in the association rooms he will form a class for the study of the Bible.

—Rev. Bradley Gilman of Springfield will occupy the pulpit at Channing church on Sunday at 10:30 a. m. There will also be a service in the chapel at 7:30 p. m., at which Mr. Gilman will speak by invitation of the Channing Guild. All are cordially invited to both morning and evening services.

—Some twenty-five members of the Y. M. C. A. have formed a bicycle club and elected the following officers: President, C. H. Stone; vice-president, P. F. Parker; secretary and treasurer, H. Trowbridge; captain, W. C. Whitney; 1st Lieut., W. N. Morse; 2nd Lieut., H. Faine; color bearer, F. Tandy.

—The Nonantum block has begun to show the bay-windows of the upper stories, and evidently the new hotel will have some very handsome rooms. The hotel will be finished according to the plans of the lessees, and will be fitted up in a very handsome manner. The stores under the old Nonantum block are being extended out to the street line.

—Many Newton people attended the wedding of Albert Linder Pope, son of Col. L. Pope, and Miss Amy Jaynes, at Trinity church, Wednesday evening. The church was handsomely decorated with flowers, and Rev. Dr. Donald officiated. There were six bridesmaids, and Miss Margaret Pope was the maid of honor. A reception followed at the residence of the bride's parents on Commonwealth avenue.

—Music at Eliot church, Sunday: Organ prelude, Mendelssohn; Quartet, "God hath appointed a day," Schuler; Organ postlude, Schuler.

—Organ prelude, Gerson; Anthem, "The Good Shepherd," Barri; Quartet, "Sun of my soul," Schuecker; Organ postlude, Schuecker.

—The general deficiency bill reported to the house of representatives at Washington, Saturday, will bring joy to the hearts of a great many people. It contains an appropriation of $145,000 to pay the judgments of the court in cases of wharfage of the eight hours fixed by law. The following are the names and amounts of Newton carriers, who benefit by the appropriation: James J. Keefe, $24.07; William J. Keefe, $40.82; Peter R. Mullen, $24.07.

—After a Sunday or holiday, Tremont street, from Oak square to Newton is strewn with broken bottles. A lady cyclist, who rode over the street last Tuesday morning, could not understand why there should be so much broken glass in that particular street, and thought it must have been put there by some persons, who had a grudge against rubber tires. Judging from the unusual number of broken bottles, the kitchen bar-rooms near the Newton line would seem to have started up again.

—A thrilling musical accompaniment—Last Sunday night in Grace church during the recital of the collection of The Bazaar of Jarius' Daughter, there was quite an exciting incident not put down on the program. The soloist, Master Clapp, was just reaching the climax in a recital, when a remarkable commotion was caused by a sudden flash of lightning and roll of thunder with a hissing dash of rain and hail on the roof. It was a remarkable coincidence, as the recital impressed the large congregation who had been listening to the fine rendering of Staines' Easter Cantata.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ellen Howes Ellison gave an "At Home" Wednesday afternoon and evening, at their residence on Vernon street in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Estabrook Jones, who were recently married in the far West. There was a large number of guests present from the Newton, Brookline and Boston. In the dining room the tables were presided over by the following: Miss Lucy Cobb, Miss Helen Cobb, Miss Nellie Wales, Miss Gilman, Miss Annie Gilman, Miss Katherine Van Hook, Miss Mabel Ward, Miss Bessie Jones, Mrs. Stebbins and Mrs. Edward E. Elms.

—The Newton Social Club closed the season with a successful entertainment and dance in the Watertown town hall, Monday evening. Nearly 400 couples from the Newtons, Waltham and Watertown were present, and some very elaborate costumes were worn. The hall was artistically decorated with festoons of colored bunting, completely hiding the walls and forming a canopy below the ceiling. The platform on which the musicians were stationed was screened by a mass of ferns and palms. From 10 to an entertainment was provided by Wm. H. Nevins, Thomas Nevins, Miss Mary Sullivan, M. Kirby, Miss Burke, James O'Brien, Artesina M. Roman, H. R. Johnson, J. S. Crummins, Alfred Handley and F. T. Strachan. At 10 the floor was cleared for dancing. The floor was in charge of W. H. Thomas, who was assisted by J. J. Casey, W. D.weeney, W. H. Keefe, H. P. Gallagher, Wm. Traylor, B. McCradden, P. T. McCarthy, W. J. Leahy, E. J. Glancy, T. F. Kennedy, T. F.

and charmed those present. It is to be hoped that this paper will be published.

—Mr. George Bailey has returned from a trip to Providence, R. I.

—B. Banks has disposed of his provision business to a Brighton firm.

—Mrs. Mary Toomey has removed from Pearl street to Thornton street.

—Mr. Charles Lamb has been spending a few days in Lowell this week.

—Mr. Wheeler and family have taken the Daniels house on Centre street.

—Miss Isabelle Shinn of Linder Terrace is visiting her sister, Mrs. George C. Stevens, in Summit, N. J.

—Mr. Henry W. Crowell, Jr., entertained a party of friends with a cruise down the harbor on his yacht Patriots day.

—Rib Roasts—8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 cents per pound. Corned Beef 3 to 10 cents per pound, at 413 Centre street, Newton Public Cash Market.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, Wednesday afternoon, April 23, at 3 p. m.

—Mrs. John L. Whiting and daughters, also Miss Alice Webber, leave on Saturday, the 25th, for a trip south, visiting the Natural Bridge, Aiken, and other places of interest.

NOTICE.

We believe the time has come to do a cash business in Newton.

People living here will go to Boston, Waltham and other places looking for the store that sells a fine line of goods for the least amount of money. They will pay cash for provisions in other places; why not here? Because they have not been able to buy low enough.

Now, we believe the only way to sell low is to Buy for Cash and Sell for Cash meeting all competition. Therefore,

On and after April 1st, 1896, the market formerly known as the

Newton City Market,

located at

413 CENTRE STREET, opposite Public Library, will be known as

The Newton

Public Cash Market,

where you will be able to buy Choice Provisions at prices lower than ever sold in Newton.

We will sell low for cash, and cash only.

Thanking you all for past patronage, we ask for a continuance. Yours respectfully,

THE SINGLE TAX.

AN ANSWER TO SOME OF THE POINTS RAISED BY MR. JENKS.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Will you kindly grant me a minimum of space in which to make tardy answer to the handsome article in opposition to the Single Tax in your issue of April 3rd. Your correspondent has the making of an excellent Single Taxer in the fairness with which he states the principles of his adversary, leaving his respondent the grateful task of suggesting correction of what seems to me to be only a confusion of thought in their application.

LORD SCULLY NOT A FARMER.

Your critic speaks of Lord Scully as a farmer, which he is not in any sense, but a landlord pure and simple, who puts under tribute to himself not only his tenant farmer of today, but the score or a hundred villages and cities that are sure to rise upon his three million acres in the hundreds of years to come. Therein lies the wrong. Lord Scully is the immigrant against whom legislative protection is needed. He is who works more hardships to his fellows than a hundred thousand perspiring toilers ready and eager to produce the wealth of which there is never enough. The Single Tax would largely or entirely destroy the value to him of his by him unused acres. He is the thrifless foreigner whom the natural law of the Single Tax would return to his native heath without aid of artificial anti-immigrant laws! His tenant farmer, as the producer, instead of paying rent to landlord and taxes on both land and improvements as now (with perhaps the ultimate reversion of improvements to the landlord) would then be relieved by at least the amount of his ground rent now paid to Scully, beside further relief in proportion as the value of his improvements should exceed the value of the land. As a matter of principle a farmer who holds a large farm naturally rich should pay a proportionate tax, whether he uses all this land or not and no matter what the comparative value of his improvements. As a matter of fact the exemption of the equal or greater value of his improvements will more than offset the increased rate under the Single Tax. Beyond this is what we obstinately incline to overlook, his relief from indirect taxes amounting to at least 25 or 50 per cent of what would otherwise be his savings. The poor widow with a valuable improved city lot is a paradox unusual and unnatural and should fairly be considered in connection with the total estate from which it was bequeathed to her. But suppose a temporary hardship, a seeming wrong attend the application of a right principle, is it no extenuation that ninety and nine other needy widows are liberated from the relentlessness of a monthly rent whose claim is prior to that of the very life of themselves and their children?

THE LABORING MAN WITH TOIL AND ECONOMY.

The house of the wise laboring man is worth at least twice as much as his land. He now gives both house and land as security to the bank. His house exempted would be by so much the better security. Under the Single Tax he would have small purchase money to pay for his land and hence would have so much less to borrow on his house.

LARGE HOUSES ON SMALL LOTS.

A house in the city proper now covers all the lot. It is true the Single Tax compelling the best use of land would multiply better buildings leaving those unfit for human habitation to go a begging. The squalid tenements of the poor are "jammed into the smallest conceivable space" now; the Single Tax will take "increment" profit out of land and with it will go the squalor, thus righting by a natural law a wrong with which the health department with best of intentions is unable to cope. The house with more light and air in the suburbs where it naturally belongs would gain rather than lose in comparative attractions and availability. Free access to land together with rapid and cheap transit are the best guarantees for free light and air. The user of land will build what will rent, not he, but the people will then as now determine whether they will live in twelve storied flats or in one storied houses. The value of the land will govern the character of the improvements.

VACANT SPACES ON BACK LOTS.

The question is not so much concerning these spaces which have required large improvement outlay to make them habitable as it is why the city of Boston instead of filling up, pressing its out upon its ground, is content to leave them vacant. It is, of course, unprofitable, naturally, is obliged to skip Cottage Farm and go to Allston or Josselyn's population to the Newtons and Wellesley Farms in frantic efforts to outreach the land speculator, and all this because the owners of Cottage Farm will neither use their land nor allow any one else to use it, for which useless pre-emption the community pays to them a large annual bounty in form of increasing selling value.

The $2000 mortgage on $2000 of house and $1000 of land would very properly have to be reduced at maturity if required by the bank. If the owner is foreclosed and sold out and wants to build again he is at no disadvantage; all he has lost is his $1000 put into land which can now get for little or nothing. Under the Single Tax he would have had to borrow only $1000 to begin with.

TUMBLE IN REAL ESTATE.

The Single Tax does not say that the "Real Estate owner" cannot escape. Taxes upon buildings can be shifted, taxes upon land value (or ground rent) cannot be shifted upon the tenant by the landlord. In this all economists agree, it will destroy speculative value. The rental value will remain. The owner must "escape" or else use and improve his land. Why should exempted buildings wish to "escape" and why should they "tumble" below the value of taxed buildings? Why should "small owners all try to sell out at once?"

Whiskey. Single Tax advocates as such have nothing to say about cheapness of whiskey. Your critic must have inadvertently confounded Single Tax doctrine with some Single Taxer's personal opinions. The Single Tax would certainly facilitate no license, prohibition or a restrictive or prohibitive revenue tax by making governments and municipalities independent of revenue from such sources.

Free Trade. Your correspondent can easily assure himself that the tariff has comparatively nothing to do with the present hard times any more than it had to do with the hard times of 1873 or 1877 or 1893, or with his permission I will offer him the proofs in a future and shorter letter.

Naboth's Vineyard. Naboth was using his vineyard and personally paying his taxes. The Single Tax defends his title against all comers, even Kings.

Deuteronomy. The language of the law is plain Single Tax language "which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it." The Single Tax disturbs no land mark or possession. These people were an agricultural people who lived from their flocks and herds and the products of their land must have paid a tax duly proportionate to their occupancy of the land.

BROWN, SMITH AND JONES.

The presence of Mr. Jenks with only these men on three sides of him will create no land value while equally good adjoining land is vacant. The superior land of either one would have a rental value that would belong to them all jointly. Ten thousand other Smiths and Joneses converging toward the same local centre would create a rental value proportionately large, a joint property, jointly produced, jointly ahead.

The Dedham Road Race.

Dedham was the objective point for thousands of wheelmen, Monday afternoon, and every bicycle club in Newton was represented, to say nothing of the hundreds of the unattached who found their way there. The course was from Dedham to Highlandville by way of Needham and return, and the road was lined with spectators, whose wheels rested against the fences by the hundreds, and carriages without number were lined up along the road and kept moving about and getting in the way of the riders. The course has many hills, but they are not hard ones, although they caused a number of disastrous spills, a dozen riders going down in a heap and getting up with wrecked wheels and more or less serious bruises. There was the usual long delay in starting, and it was 4 o'clock before the great was given. The 130 men got away in great shape and those who survived the accidents of the first two miles were most of them able to finish. There was a great cry of Butler all along the line, but this favorite did not seem to be in it. The first man seen to come down the hill was Fred was Boston of Fall River, who had a long lead and was an easy winner. Then they began to come in bunches and the spectators crowded so thick about the last half mile that the riders had to finish in a narrow lane and there were none of the usual exciting dashes for position.

William Pettigrew of Lynn captured the prize, to the great surprise of those who thought he was a back number. Two Newton men were in the list of prize winners. C. A. Ernhorn of Newton Centre and O. Donohue of Newton, who finished 10th and 23rd respectively. It was a grand day for new riders as four of the first five riders home were novices.

It was a perfect day for riding, and every one was out to enjoy it. Spectators who saw the great number of wrecked wheels felt confident they had found the reason why the bicycle makers are always so liberal in offering prizes for races. Handle bars broke, tires gave out, rims splintered, pedals came off, chains came apart, and frames bent out of shape, and evidently road racing is a great test of wheels. There were many exciting events not down on the program.

One carriage drove over on the wrong side of the road, into the midst of a wheel club, and colliding with one rider, sent him headlong, and completely wrecked his wheel. The driver did not stop to hear reason. Some of the club members, however, turned about and chased him for a mile or more, till they learned his name and address. With so many careless and unskillful drivers, and so many careless riders, accidents are always bound to happen.

PETTIGREW'S PRIZE WITHHELD.

A question has arisen as to whether or not "Billy" Pettigrew, who was awarded the first time prize in the Dedham road race, really rode the 10 miles of the course, and in view of this Referee Percival has sent to Secretary Gould of the race committee the following letter.

As I have very strong reasons to believe that W. M. Pettigrew, who started from the 10 m. mark, did not ride the whole distance and failed to make the proper turn at Highlandville, I ask you to withhold the first time prize, in order that I may make inquiry into the real facts of the case, and if Mr. Pettigrew did not make the whole 10 miles according to the route laid out by your club, I shall, as referee, disqualify him and award the first time prize to Mr. Elliott of Arlington. Kindly withhold the prize until further notice from me.

Joe Bowden, who won the Dedham road race Monday, is one of the racing team of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, and has shown good speed on the track. His riding in the Dedham race was one of the features of the event, for he more than held his own with the field, and finished good and strong. He had competed in but one road race up to Monday, and had won that in slow time, and consequently was not considered a dangerous man, except by his intimates.

James Urquhart, C. S. Bolting and L. D. F. Marston, who finished second, third and fourth respectively in the Dedham road race, are all most promising fellows, and the way they rode that race shows them to be possessed of considerable speed. Marston feels that if he had had an opportunity of springing the last half-mile, instead of being obliged to play "follow the leader" down that lane of humanity, he would have won second if not first position. Urquhart also feels that he could have overhauled the winner had he not been forced to fight his way along, in constant danger of being knocked over by some heedless spectator.

Nat and Tom Butler will not again be seen in an amateur event, for they are both rids as professionals at the opening of the track racing season.

During the winter of 1893, F. M. Martin, of Long Reach, West Va., contracted a severe cold which left him with a cough. In speaking of how he cured it he says: "I used several kinds of cough syrup but found no relief until I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved me almost instantly, and in a short time brought about a complete cure. When troubled with a cough or cold use this remedy and you will not find it necessary to try several kinds before you get relief. It has been in the market for over twenty years and constantly growing in favor and popularity. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. Hudson, Newton; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

WHAT HIS FRIENDS THINK.

A SAMPLE OF THE LETTERS THAT ARE SENT TO CONGRESSMAN MORSE.

Since Congressman Morse has decided to retire from public life he has been receiving a large number of letters and telegrams expressing regret at his decision. The following is a specimen:

Hon. Elijah A. Morse, M. C.—My Dear Mr. Morse: I am glad to hear that you are sincerely sorry to see you are leaving the day of your departure from your old home in Massachusetts may be long deferred, yet your announcement of departure from Congress has given the opportunity for such expressions of regret and friendship as fall to the lot of comparatively few men.

I am very happy to believe that most of the kind words that are being written are the real honest words of those who have at times differed from you, and sometimes pointed shafts of ridicule at your puritanical course, yet the sober second thought of all true-minded men is to recognize integrity of character. This, believe me, has done more to place you warmly in the affections of the people who have known you than almost anything else. New England people recognize pluck, and admire it; yet they also recognize, above pluck, nobility of purpose and purity of character.

This, I think, is what has commended you to so large a number of people, not only of your own district, but throughout our commonwealth, and I may say New England. Your well-known devotion to the principles of temperance and to uprightness have gone beyond the bounds of state, and you have the great satisfaction of knowing that your name, wherever it is known, represents a good character and name, and in good measure, (as you know the Bible tells us) is far better than great riches.

Believe me, my dear friend, that in sending this tribute to you, the very sincere sentiment of my heart and best wishes receive it as kindly as it is sent. Our acquaintance in all these years has been most pleasant and agreeable, whether we stood side by side in the same political form, or discussed matters international concerning the beautiful land of Hawaii (which you know I love so well), or the greater interest of this great land which you have served so well.

Yours very sincerely,
GORDHAM D. GILMAN.

Mr. Leeson's Interest in Newton.

[Boston Herald.]

In his own city of Newton Mr. Leeson has been no less active than in the larger movements which have been going on in, or have emanated from, Boston. He has taken genuine interest in, and given most material support to, the Newton Hospital, of whose board of trustees he is president.

The Leeson memorial ward for women speaks his thoughtful aid to one of the most important institutions of our city. Another project, in the line of permanent local improvement, in which he was a factor, is the extension of Commonwealth avenue through Newton. Acting with Mr. Haskell, Mr. Converse and other gentlemen, who have worked for this project, Mr. Leeson investigated the boulevard question, with the result that the commission recommended the plan which has since been carried out, of extending Commonwealth avenue from the Chestnut Hill reservoir to the athletic club premises on the Charles river—one of the greatest suburban improvements of the city.

Mr. Leeson's home at Elgin street and Glen avenue, Newton Centre, is one of the most picturesque. Some men, it has been said, own their houses for the sake of the view; it seems to be the thing for a wealthy man to do; but this would be far from true in Mr. Leeson's case. He has an intimate acquaintance with all plants and trees on his lawn and in his greenhouse. He desires to have a specimen upon his estate of every tree that will grow in this climate. He is as familiar with their botanical names as with their uses, and he is equally familiar with their habits, their native climes and their worth as are open books before him.

The same is true of his many orchids, the growing of which affords him peculiar delight. He finds very restful after a day of confinement in the counting room to get close to the great heart of nature and study some of her processes as unveiled in plants and trees and flowers. He has resided on this estate for 22 years, and has made it a model residence. As it is approached, the wide and hospitable portal to the grounds is a cordial invitation to enter, and it ushers one into a winding driveway, probably unique among all driveways in New England, in that it is bordered on both sides with black walnut trees, which have a very grand and will eventually form a perfect archway over the approach to the north front of the house. Mr. Leeson has also some beautiful conservatories, in which tropical fruits, such as oranges and bananas, are growing. The whole place, while not very large, is a model one for the business man who likes the kind of recreation that a study of nature gives.

GRAND NATIONAL BAZAAR.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE WORKING BOYS' INDUSTRIAL HOME.

Mechanics Building, Boston, will be resplendent in bright colors when the national bazaar of the Working Boys' Home, is held next month. The purpose of this novel entertainment is to interest people in the new addition to the home, an industrial school, now being built at Newton. The bazaar will open Monday evening, May 4, and will be continued day and evening through the week. Mayor Quincy will be among the dignitaries present on the opening night, and will deliver an address. There will also be vocal and instrumental music of a high order on the occasion, as well as each day and evening throughout the week.

Many unique novelties are also promised, and the ladies have entered into a competition of wits to evolve new methods of rendering the affair attractive and profitable throughout. Prominent authors are expected also to contribute their influence by autograph volumes and literary gems of especial appropriateness. The arrangements are now proceeding on a large scale, and in important details they have reached an advanced stage.

A timely and highly appropriate feature, in view of the fact that the bazaar is to be representative of all the states, will be the securing of special ornamentation of United States flags in accordance with the design lately prescribed by the authorities at Washington, in which the 48 stars are to be grouped as officially designed. Every state will be represented in booths, beautifully decorated, and a lady will preside over each state.

Conspicuous among the groups of states represented will be those of New England. The Working Boys' Home has in its 13 years of life demonstrated its great usefulness, and this grand national bazaar promises to be thoroughly in keeping with its name and object. It is worthy the attention and patronage of all classes.

WILL BUILD $20,000 ADDITION.

NEWTON CLUB DECIDES ON A NEW HALL, GYMNASIUM AND SWIMMING BATH—BOWLING PRIZES AWARDED.

At a special meeting of the Newton Club, held Saturday evening, steps were taken to secure an important addition to the clubhouse. Pres. Samuel L. Powers presided, and nearly 200 members were present. William J. Follett, chairman of the executive committee, presented plans for an addition to the club building, to contain a large gymnasium and hall, a swimming tank and bath, and additional servants' accommodations. The swimming tank, he stated, would be 22x36, and would be fitted up in the most approved style. The cost of the proposed addition, with an electric light and heating plant, would be about $20,000.

Mr. Follett's plan was enthusiastically received, and it was voted to build the addition, provided the funds could be raised without increasing the liabilities of the club. The executive committee was authorized to receive subscriptions for bonds, and before the meeting adjourned a large portion of the sum needed was secured. The prizes in the various club bowling tournament were presented by Pres. Powers, with a series of witty speeches.

CRYSTAL LAKE'S TITLE.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S BILL IN EQUITY AND MR. ELLIS' REPLY.

The following copies of the bills filed in the Crystal Lake litigation will be of interest to Newton people. Those who are pressing the case simply wish to find out who owns the pond, and if it be Mr. Ellis, to recover it upon fair consideration, for the use of the public.

ROSEA M. KNOWLTON, ATTORNEY GENERAL AT THE RELATION OF WOODWARD EMERY, JOHN I. BAKER AND CHARLES H. HOWLAND, THE BOARD OF HARBOR & LAND COMMISSIONERS, VS. GEORGE H. ELLIS.

INFORMATION.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court:

Informing sheweth unto your honors Rosea M. Knowlton, attorney general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that and by the relation of Woodward Emery, John I. Baker and Charles H. Howland, the Board of Harbor & Land Commissioners,

1. That there is in the City of Newton in County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, a pond which has been known by the names of Wiswall's Pond, Silver Lake, Baptist Pond and Crystal Lake, and that the same contains in its natural state more than ten acres of land, and is a great pond and is subject to the provisions of Chapter 318 of the Acts of the year 1888.

2. That on May 9th, 1888, the date of the passage of said act above referred to, L. Jennie Ellis, the wife of said defendant, was seized in fee of a lot of land abutting on said pond, and in October, 1893, the defendant acquired her rights therein, and at that time, and since and at the present time owns in fee said lot of land abutting on said pond; and at different times between said ninth day of May, 1888, and the present time, said defendant George H. Ellis has filled in the land and made encroachments on the waters of said great pond for a long distance below high water mark of said pond adjoining his said land, and has done said filling in and made said encroachments without any authority from the general court or from the Board of Harbor & Land Commissioners, and that the said work so done by the said defendant is a public nuisance.

3. That upon a petition filed with the Board after due notice and hearing thereon, said Board ordered a suit on behalf of the Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of said Chapter 318 of the Acts of 1888.

Wherefore the attorney general at the relation aforesaid prays:

First, that the said George H. Ellis may be commanded to appear before this honorable court and answer to the matters and things above set forth.

Second, that an injunction may issue from this honorable court ordering the said defendant to remove and carry away all the material, building or extending any structure or driving any piles or filling lands, or making any other obstruction or encroachments in, over or upon the waters of said great pond below high water mark; and for such other orders or decrees as to this honorable court may seem meet.

ROSEA M. KNOWLTON,

Attorney General.

ANSWER OF GEORGE H. ELLIS THE DEFENDANT.

1. This defendant admits that there is in said Newton in said County a pond which has been known by the names of Wiswall's Pond, Silver Lake, Baptist Pond and Crystal Lake; that the same contains in its natural state more than ten acres of land; but he denies that said pond is subject to the provisions of Chapter 318 of the Acts of 1888.

2. This defendant admits that on May 9, 1888, L. Jennie Ellis, wife of said defendant, was seized in fee of a lot of land adjoining said pond and continued to own the same in fee until sometime in October 1893, and in said October the said defendant acquired her rights therein and then and since and now owns in fee said lot of land.

Said defendant denies that he has filled in and made encroachments on the waters of said pond "for a long distance below high water mark of said pond adjoining his said land, either with or without any authority from the Court or from the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners; and he further denies that any work done by him in the premises is a public nuisance.

3. And the defendant neither admits nor denies but being ignorant thereof leaves the plaintiff to prove that upon petition filed with the Board after due notice and hearing thereon, said Board ordered a suit in behalf of the Commonwealth in the Court with the provisions of said Chapter 318 of the Acts of 1888.

The defendant denies each and every other allegation in the plaintiff's petition herein before otherwise expressly admitted, denied or asked to be proved.

The defendant asks to be hence dismissed with his reasonable costs and charges in that behalf wrongfully sustained.

By his Attorneys,

NASON &amp; PROCTOR.

Filed Apr. 1, 1896.

Royal Arcanum Hospital Fair.

A great deal of interest has been shown and numerous inquiries made in musical and newspaper circles the past week as to the name of the young lady who composed the new musical comedy, which is to be given as a part of the Royal Arcanum Hospital Association's entertainment, every evening and Saturday afternoon of the week of May 18th at the Tremont Theatre. The story of the piece has been happily conceived, well brought out, and is novel in the extreme. Another feature of these entertainments is the minstrel show with one hundred voices in the chorus. Mr. George Lowell Tracy, the musical director, promises the best performance in this line ever given in Boston, and has several surprises in store for the audiences of that week.

GOLF AT NEWTON.

WIDE INTEREST IN THE GAME AND MANY PLAYERS.

The Sunday Post had a full page illustrated article, descriptive of the Newton Golf Club, and its grounds, which are laid out on the Gardner Colby estate, and are said to give opportunity for every variety of stroke known to the game.

Monday saw many players out, and some good records were made. Mr. F. H. Hovey is the club champion, as he has completed the course in 47 strokes.

Mr. Clinton Hunter is one of the most brilliant players and is hard on the heels of the record holder. He has been over the course in 48 strokes. Another strong player is Mr. William Rice. Mr. Walter Leecompte is a successful player and makes long drives with great accuracy. He is said to have completed nine consecutive holes in less than the club record, but as he did not start at the first tee-off his achievement does not count. Mr. Walter Sanborn is a prominent member, although he is not so frequently seen on the course. Mr. Arthur Fowle and Mr. Fred Rising are enthusiastic players and are often to be found on the links before breakfast.

Among the younger players Mr. Kenneth Lippincott is an expert, with a record of 49 strokes to his credit. Mr. Clarence Walworth has only played on a few occasions, but has a record of 53 strokes.

MEMBERS OF THE CLUB.

The majority of the members are from Newton Centre. Of the Newton members of the club, Mr. John H. Harwood is an interested and skilled player. He is one of the Harvard representatives in the club. Other Harvard members are Mr. Ernest Blodgett, Mr. Henry Farnum and Mr. A. B. Cox. The last named is also a member of the Cherry Valley Golf Club in New York and is an experienced player. Mr. Farnum was one of the charter members of the New Haven Golf Club and has recently joined the Cambridge Club, but does most of his playing on the Newton links.

Among the young ladies who are devotees of the game, Miss Thomas is perhaps the best player, with a record of about 75 strokes. Miss Lippincott and Mrs. Clinton Hunter are also very successful in making small scores. Other young ladies in the club are Miss Dickerson, Miss Sanborn, Miss Harwood, Miss Coppins, Miss Loring, Miss Hunter, Miss Leecompte, Miss Nichols, Miss Grace, Miss Nichols, Miss Andrews, Miss Parker, Miss Haskell, Miss Clark, Miss Rowe and the Misses Macomber.

The list of members includes also many married couples, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walworth, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Vinal, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Edmunds.

Among the gentlemen who are members of the club, besides those already mentioned, are Mr. J. Howard Nichols, Professor Reese, Mr. Capen, Mr. J. J. Walworth, Mr. Lawrence Edmunds and Mr. Appleton Smith.

The very general interest in golf among the Newtons is evidenced by the fact that, besides the Newton Golf Club, there are two other clubs organized here. The Newton Centre Golf Club has links on the east slope of Institution Hill, and the Neighborhood Club has an excellent course at West Newton.

Busy people have no time, and sensible people have no inclination to use a slow remedy. One Minute Cough Cure acts promptly and gives permanent relief. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorn, Auburndale.

Save the Bulfinch Front.

The following petition from Chestnut Hill has been sent to Representative Harwood:

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives—Whereas the commission of experts appointed by Governor Greenhalge has reported that the Bulfinch State House can easily be made permanent and substantially fireproof at a cost of $175,000, and whereas a much larger sum is requested to replace it by a front which can only be an unsatisfactory copy of the original;

We, the undersigned, hereby remonstrate against the destruction of the beautiful and historic building, and the needless waste of over $1,000,000 of the taxpayers' money, and earnestly request adequate legislation to preserve and restore the Bulfinch building in accordance with the report of the Greenhalge commission of experts, which has been endorsed by the Boston Society of Architects. Signed:

Robert H. Gardiner, Chas. H. Burrage, William E. Cox, W. H. Aspinwall, John Lowell, Jr., Ernest P. Henderson, A. D. Wainwright, Horace S. Frazer, Susan L. Aspinwall, Mabel B. Frazer, Mary E. Spring is full of terrors to all whose constitution is not able to resist the sudden changes of temperature and other insubstantialities of the season. To put their system in condition to overcome these evils, nothing is so effective as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take it now.

Have They Forgotten the Greenback?

(From the Record (Ind.), Philadelphia.)

Observe how all these Republican sound money platforms make any mention of the irredeemable and unpayable greenback! Yet the greenback is at the root of the difficulty in maintaining gold parity and the public credit. Every time a redeemed greenback is reissued from the treasury a new loan is effected instantly repayable in gold on demand. This menace is perpetual. But the cowardly politicians of both parties are afraid to run counter to cheap money superstitions, and the final payment and retirement of the greenbacks is never mentioned.

It's just as easy to try One Minute Cough Cure as any thing else. It's easier to cure a severe cough or cold with it. Let your next purchase for a cough be One Minute Cough Cure. ## HARVARD VS. N. A. A.

THE HOME TEAM DOES SOME VERY CLEVER WORK—HARVARD WINS BY A SMALL MARGIN.

Twelve hundred followers of the Newton Athletic Association and Harvard teams saw an exciting game on the Cedar street grounds at Newton, Monday afternoon, and the rosters for the former team came within one of seeing their favorites win out.

Newton's team was mainly composed of old college players, among whom were such well known men as Dowd of Georgetown, Jack Abbott, formerly captain of Dartmouth, and later on the Harvard team which won the championship from Yale three years ago; Fred Draper, the old William captain; George Warren, once captain of Brown; Bustard, captain of the same team last year, and "Sluggo" Mason and Fred Hovey, both Harvard players in former years.

The scoring began in the second inning. Dowd led off with a scorching over second, and Hovey followed with another to right. Draper struck out, and Dowd, who was feeling a little colicky, wandered a little too far from second and was caught. Johnson, however, advanced Hovey a base with a hit to left, and the champion tennis player danced across the plate with the first run of the game on Cushing's single. For Harvard, Haughton reached first on Hovey's wild throw, and kept on to third while the ball was being fielded in. Crawford's two-bagger to right brought Haughton home.

Each side drew good eggs until the seventh, when Harvard got two to the good on a hit to right by Dean, base on balls to Paine, and Draper's careless throw of Stevenson's grounder.

In the first part of the eighth, Newton tied the score on Crawford's fumble of a bunt by Hovey, a wild pitch by Paine, Draper's sacrifice and Mason's single.

Harvard won the game in the tenth inning. Dowd tossed up an easy one to Haughton, who nailed it for a single. Crawford popped up a fly to Dowd, but Burgess came to the rescue with a neat single to right. Tom Stevenson then stepped to the plate and sprung one of his surprises on the spectators, by pushing a hot grounder just inside the first base line, and Dean scampered across the plate with the winning run, only one man being out at the time.

The Bulfinch Front Destroyers.

(New York Sun.)

The persons who want the Bulfinch front of the Boston State House torn down are an interesting lot, and they ought to go and get themselves photographed in a group. As usual in these cases, where prejudice or interest, or ignorance, or a preconceived opinion, gets the better, even in the minds of decent and educated men, of that sentiment of veneration for historical monuments, however homely, which ought to prevail everywhere, and in Boston as much as, if not more than, anywhere else, most of the experts, the architects, agree that this part of the State House is all right. It was well built; it is still sturdy.

On the other hand, persons who know nothing whatever about architecture, and have taken the wrong side and stick to it, are very sure that the whole concern is liable to tumble down. Take for instance, the Hon. John Davis Long, some time Governor of the State, and always the Sweet Singer of Hingham. According to him "the dilapidation of the building is very serious. The roof is cracked, the dome is sinking, the walls are warped, and the floors are uncertain; it is a tumble-down structure." Admit that this is so. It may be that the singing voice of the Hon. John Davis Long is a little cracked now, but that it tones have become a little uncertain; that the reverberations from the cavernous roof of his mouth have lost a little of their ancient melody, are these reasons for taking out the voice of Mr. Long? Boston, which destroyed the beautiful Hancock House in a moment of unholy greed or foolish forgetfulness, ought to be the last of towns to take any more liberties with the hallowed memorials of its history. A single scale on the tattered Codfish is worth a hundred thousand new court houses.

Too Soudan.

(From the New York World.)

"Will you be mine?"
"History is made up of this question and its answer through countless ages."

And now, as John Bull uttered the words, the fire in his eye and the set look on his face showed that he meant it.

Probably Miss Egypt knew that he meant it also. But she could not refrain from blushing violently, dropping her eyes and coyly murmuring:

A Legitimate Conclusion.

(From Puck.)

Caruthers—What's that you were telling me about the Spanish army being annihilated? I can't find it in my paper.
Smithers—Doesn't the official report give the loss 13 killed and 22 wounded? What more do you want?

any of these. It is the commonest trouble that human beings suffer from. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing—constipation. There is no telling what it may lead to, but it is sure to lead to something bad. Its immediate effects are unpleasant in the extreme. It makes people listless, gives them headaches, makes the digestion poor, causes dizziness, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. All this merely because Nature has been imposed upon, and has been refused the little help she needed.

This little help is furnished by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. There are two remarkable things about the "Pellets." One is that they never gripe; the other that they cure permanently. There is no other medicine that does cure permanently. You can take any other medicine you like, as long as you like, and if you stop, your trouble will come back quickly, and the chances are the trouble will be worse than it was before. This isn't true of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. You take them until you get yourself into perfect working order, and then you stop. You don't have to take any more "Pellets" unless after a while you do something that deranges your digestive system again. We are not guessing about these facts, and we don't ask you to take our unsupported word for it. Thousands of people have found that they are true, and have testified to them. Let the druggist who says that something else is "just as good" sell that something else to somebody else. Don't let him trifle with your health for the sake of a little more profit to himself.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN.

The contest for Gen. Draper's successor promises to be a very lively one, from present indications, and candidates are coming out on all sides. The district was made more strongly Republican by the last apportionment, and the nomination will probably be equivalent to an election, so that most of the fighting will be done behind.

Senator Sprague is said to be far ahead of all other candidates, at present, as a good deal of work has been done for him, and he is personally popular. He is not the equal of Gen. Draper, by any means, but is a man of fair ability, and if elected would give the state no reason to blush for him, as has been the case with some of our Congressmen. He has the command of large wealth, and would add to the social life of Washington.

Wilbur H. Powers of Hyde Park is another candidate who has a good deal of strength, and his services in the legislature, where he defeated the vicious apportionment scheme of Senator Lodge, made him many friends, who would look upon his advancement with favor.

There are a number of other candidates outside of Newton, who are laying wires for the nomination, and will probably be heard from later, although their names have not yet got into the papers.

From Newton there are two candidates now in the field, Hon. J. R. Leeson of Newton Centre, whose ability and fitness are unquestioned, and whose name is being urged by prominent Republicans all over the district, as a man who is certainly the equal of Gen. Draper, and whose public spirit and experience in public affairs would make him a leader at Washington.

Another candidate is also put forward by Newton Republicans, Mayor Henry E.
Cobb. He might be called the Newton Club candidate, as he is very popular with club members, but without the united support of Newton, his chances of success would not appear to be brilliant. His supporters must have the promise of outside support, or they would not bring him forward, but some of them have had personal experience of how little such ante-convention promises are worth, and they ought to examine these promises carefully, or they will make themselves ridiculous at the convention.

Newton ought to have a good deal of influence in the district, but it has heretofore thrown its influence away by appearing at conventions with a divided delegation, and seen some outsider carry off the honors. The rest of the district enjoys this, as it helps their men, and the astute politicians from outside of Newton are always ready to encourage this habit, by more or less empty promises. Our politicians are too confiding to see this, and this is why they generally come home beaten. It speaks well for their trust in human nature, but ill for their shrewdness as political leaders.

It would be a great thing for Newton to have one of its citizens elected to Congress, and to secure this, Newton men ought to be patriotic enough to sacrifice their personal preferences and work for the good of the whole city. If the delegates can not unite on a candidate, they had much better stay away from the convention.

The great popularity of McKinley is one of those political mysteries that puzzle the careful students of our politics. The Blaine furore one could understand, as he was a dashing leader, and a picturesque personage, besides having a great deal of ability. The Reed boom is also to be explained, as in his two terms as speaker he has shown himself a leader, who can carry everything his own way, and he has made himself a notable place among public men.

But for McKinley, there seems to be very little for the popular favor to rest on, except that he gave his name to a tariff bill that is conceded to have been made by other men. As governor of Ohio his own party admits that he did not attend to his duties and displayed no executive ability.
On the money question he is on record on both sides of the fence, and evidently hardly knows just where he is himself. As a business man he made a complete failure, and yet in spite of all this he is hailed by perhaps a majority of his party as both a Moses and a Napoleon combined. Even those who wish to do him full justice must be puzzled to account for his popularity, unless they accept Senator Chandler's explanation of it.

The policy of the state in building a mile of good road here and there through the country districts is an excellent object lesson, but it does strike the average travelers as rather strange to find a stretch of perfect road miles off in the woods and sand of a country district, with impass-

ble other miles on each side of it. The other day a party of Newton wheelmen found such a road, after wading through the sand for miles, and then had an object lesson of how the farmers make roads directly after it. They had carted gravel of a very coarse variety to about a foot in depth, for a stretch of a mile, and had left it for the weather and stray teams to smooth down. How the one farmer living on the street ever got out was an unsolved mystery and the only thing the wheelmen could do was to walk and carry their wheels. It raised the question whether it pays the state to build such disconnected pieces of roads, when even as a means of education the work is so evidently thrown away and is of so little use to travel. Possibly, however, some of the country politicians owned land along that highway and their influence got it placed there. But with the condition of the roads on either side of it, no one could ever get to it, and although it seemed to have been built for a year, at least, not a dozen teams had apparently even been over it. Perhaps in the course of the next fifty years the farmers in that town will get educated up to it, but this seems extremely doubtful.

There was a hot contest in the house,
Wednesday, over the bill to turn all fees from licenses into the state treasury, many of the speakers using very decided language. Some of them argued that it would act in the interests of temperance, as now cities and towns are sometimes induced to vote license because of the revenue they will receive. This was the argument used in Waltham, when that city voted license, but after a year of trial the city found that it did not pay. Other speakers, among them Mr. Myers of Cambridge, urged the passage of the bill because now local option does not have a fair show, the believers in no-license having to fight a large corruption fund. The Boston representatives, and in fact most of the representatives from the large license cities opposed the bill, as these cities did not relish losing the large fees involved. The bill was finally defeated by a rather narrow margin.

The rumors of a big bicycle trust among the manufacturers were evidently a little premature, but it seems certain that some sort of a combination is being made, probably for next year, as without a trust of some kind it would be impossible to keep up the present rates. The big makers are said to contemplate with disfavor the profits of agents, and wish to do away with these. There are combinations in nearly every thing else and the bicycle trust will come, although there are so many companies now engaged in the manufacture, that it will have to be a very extensive one to embrace them all. The usual way, however, is to squeeze the little fellows out.

Both parties in Massachusetts are sound on the money question, and have adopted excellent platforms. The Democratic convention this week has put Ex-Governor Russell in the field for the presidency, and the party could easily do worse than to nominate him. But it will be an excellent thing for the delegates to have some favorite son to tie to, while they are waiting to see who is going to carry on the prize, and possibly they may be able to get the second place, if they are shrewd and play their cards well. The state convention was not a very enthusiastic one, and this could hardly have been expected.

The dusty roads were taken care of by the weather bureau from Friday to Monday, the rain of Friday night being followed by showers on Sunday, and two rather severe thunder storms Sunday night. One of them was accompanied by hail and was rather severe, much damage being reported by lightning strokes. But the roads were left in fine condition for Monday's holiday, and the fine weather made every one patriotic enough to join in some of the outdoor celebrations.

The Boston Herald on Tuesday gave a three-column article on what Hon. J. R.
Leeson has done for Boston, as one of its leading public-spirited merchants, and it took a good deal of condensation and summarizing to crowd the list into that space.
Not to go into personalities, but merely as a contrast, it might be stated that what most of his opponents have done to advance the interests of Boston would not fill half a column, even if printed in the largest type.

The house has killed the bill to take from the board of pharmacy the right to say what pharmacists are suitable persons to have liquor licenses, and the drug stores are saved from the danger of becoming simpler saloons. The present law has been found to work satisfactorily and all reputable druggists were opposed to the bill.

CAMBRIDGE has set a good example by ordering the watering carts not to flood the streets, and Supt. of Streets Brown has appointed a bicycle rider from among his employees to go over the streets after the carts, and inspect the work. If a driver puts on too much water he will be reprimanded.

Both branches of the city government took a vacation this week, in order to celebrate Patriots' day. It is supposed they will meet with new courage for midnight sessions next Monday.

Adams School.

The thanks of the citizens of Ward 2 should be tendered to Mr. C. F. Avery for his recent action in the school board meeting of this week, at which meeting he had the courage to stand by his opinion in the matter of the occupancy of the new Adams school house.

He stated that the new school house had only four rooms occupied (there being eight rooms in the building.) He made a motion that all the scholars in the Adams school district be allowed to attend the sessions in the new building, which "after a lively discussion" was lost by a vote of 13 to 1.

Certainly one member of the school board is deserving of many thanks for his recognition of the rights of the people, and for his attempt to save the tax payers of the city the expense of continuing the use of the old Adams school house.

Here is a new eight room brick school house, built expressly to accommodate all the pupils in the Adams school district, ready for use, and only one-half occupied.
How long are the taxpayers of Newton to stand such treatment from the school board? Is this economy? Is this just?

CUBAN RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

YOUNG MEN'S CONGRESSIONAL CONVEN-TION FAVORS INSURGENT CAUSE.

The second annual session of the Young Men's congressional convention of eastern Massachusetts took place at Nonantum hall, Newton, Wednesday evening, and was attended by large delegations from Newton, Boston, Charlestown, Somerville, Malden, Melrose and other cities near Boston. Charles F. Johnson of Boston presided over the gathering as speaker. Charles Field of Boston was clerk and the bill before the convention was

"Resolved, by the Young Men's congressional convention of eastern Massachusetts, and by authority of the same, as follows: Section 1. That the president of the United States be requested to accord to the people of Cuba belligerent rights the inhabitants of that island have organized a Republican form of government and are maintaining a successful struggle against Spanish authority. Section 2. That the people of the United States sympathize with the inhabitants of Cuba in their struggle for independence, and pledge their moral support to the cause in which they are engaged."

The speakers in support of the bill were
E. L. Field of the Somerville congress, Harry Upham of the Boston congress and H. A. Fosdick of Somerville, and those in the negative were Samuel E. Thayer of the Newton congress, Seth Mason of the Somerville organization and George H.
Safford of the Newton congress. The bill was passed by a vote of 22 to 8.

A motion was unanimously adopted by the convention thanking the Newton congress for courtesies extended, also the women who had provided a collation, which was eaten after the adjournment of the convention.

High School Notes.

The officers of the battalion will perform the sword exercise at Lasell Seminary next Monday afternoon before the young ladies' battalion.

A leap year sunlight dance will be given in the drill hall this afternoon by the young ladies of '96.

The base ball nine went to Franklin last Saturday afternoon, and were defeated by Dean Academy by a score of 14 to 2. The game was slow and uninteresting. On Tuesday in a much better played game Newton was defeated by Somerville High at Somerville 19 to 4. The team played a much better game than the score indicates.
Next Tuesday the first Brookline High game will be played at Newton Centre.

A meeting of the Lyceum will be held tomorrow evening in Room 14 for the purpose of selecting three representatives for the annual Brookline-Newton debate, which takes place next month. The subject of the debate will be: Resolved: That the United States should recognize the existence of a state of belligerency in the island of Cuba.

Prof. George has made arrangements for a lecture to be given in the drill hall next Wednesday evening, April 28th, by Mr. C.
R. Ashbee, architect of King's College, Cambridge, England, and master of "The Guild of Handicraft," London, on "Cambridge University." The lecturer has had peculiar advantages for learning much in regard to his subject, by his connection with that famous university, and he is sure to tell many interesting facts. The lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon.

The Cladin Guards will have their headquarters in the drill hall, while the Army at Newton is being moved, and their lockers and gun-racks have been placed about the hall.

The Inter-school Tennis Tournament will take place at Cambridge, on Saturday, May 24, and although coming early in the season will bring out the young players in large numbers from all the preparatory schools. Newton will be represented by about fifteen of the best players in the school, and will endeavor to carry off the banner once more, which they won last year. Owing to the warm weather of the last few weeks many courts are already laid out and the men are in much better condition than ever before.

Lasell Notes.

On Friday, April 17, a number of the German pupils attended, with Franklin von der Kall, the German play given at Boston University by the students of the University.
The play was given under the auspices of the Mass. Society for the University Education of Women.

Prof. Hills escorted a small party to a concert illustrating the use of the clavichord.

The usual symphony party on Saturday evening, Prof. J. W. Davis, acting as escort.

Rev. Mr. Southgate addressed the Christian Endeavor Society on Sunday evening.

Miss Villa Whitney White gave, by courtesy of Prof. J. Water Davis, a concert in Lasell gymnasium, Thursday evening,
April 27, at 8 o'clock. Gentlemen, J. A.
Ablescher, zither, and F. E. Goldstein,
violin, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra;
Ernest Rutell, cello; the Lasell local quartet
and Mr. Joseph A. Hills, pianoforte,
assisting. Friends are cordially invited.

There will be a concert by the Instrumental Department on Monday evening,
April 27, at 8 o'clock. Gentlemen, J. A.
Ablescher, zither, and F. E. Goldstein,
violin, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra;
Ernest Rutell, cello; the Lasell local quartet
and Mr. Joseph A. Hills, pianoforte,
assisting. Friends are cordially invited.

Miss Charlotte W. Hawes will give a lecture at Lasell Seminary, Thursday evening, April 30, at 8 o'clock, upon "The Mysteries of Harmony." Friends welcome.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Mabel Grace
Foster of Boston, talked most entertainingly to the students upon the subject,
"Modern Pictorial Art." Miss Foster explained how it comes about that a particular illustrator has a particular piece of work assigned him, some of the difficulties of the artist meets in the pursuance of this work, and the various processes by which the artistic conception of the illustration finds its materialization, as the picture in magazine or paper. She brought with her as examples a fine selection of original drawings by various eminent illustrators, together with a number of finished magazine plates. The lecture was one of exceeding interest.

The Stieff Piano.

SEVERAL VARSITY MEN PLAY BALL ON THE COLLEGE HILL TEAM.

Tufts Freshmen defeated Newton High on the old campus at College Hill, yesterday, in a one-sided game of five innings.
The Freshmen were helped out by the Varsity battery, Ralph and Meader, and a Crosby man in centre field.
Newton could do nothing with the delivery of the big Tufts freshman. Cotting kept his head well in spite of poor support, and held the college boys down to one hit an inning. The score:

—Mr. F. L. Lyon, who was the guest of his parents on Court street, has returned to his home in St. Paul, Minnesota.

—Mrs. F. S. Hancock is occupying her house on Walnut street for a month and is entertaining friends from New York.

—Mr. William E. Austin, of the firm of Worthington Smith & Co., of New York, was entertained last week by Mr. and Mrs. Binney.

—The stable at the rear of the truck house has been torn down to make room for the temporary tracks of the B. & A. railroad.

—Five applications for admission to membership were received at the last meeting of Newton Lodge, K. P., Monday evening in Denison hall.

—During the storm of Sunday evening the lightning struck the chimney on Mr. F. C. Greenwood's house on Edinboro street, knocking off a portion of the top. No further damage was done.

—There are letters remaining in the post office for Miss Addie Anthony, Joseph Bucknor, Mrs. E. Breck, D. B. Carter, Miss Amelia Hayes, Thomas McNeill, A. Moore, P. J. Rich and Miss Addie Sanborn.

—A new house on Kensington road was struck by lightning during the storm of Sunday night. A portion of the shingles were torn off and several clapboards on one side of the house were thrown into the street.

—The stable of the truck house is being built into the main part of the structure, and the old quarters of the horses at the rear of the building is being torn down to make room for the temporary tracks of the Albany railroad.

—The building in the rear of Partridge's drug store on Walnut street has been purchased by John Cannon. He is tearing it down and will remove it piecemeal to Wellesley where it will be utilized in the construction of another building.

—The council of the Federation of Women's Clubs met Tuesday morning in the parlors of the New Church on Highland avenue. The adjourned meeting will be held Monday morning at the same place when the final arrangements for the annual meeting will be made.

—Charles S. Erskine of Milwaukee, Wis., agent of a Western hosiery firm, was here with several huge cases of samples this week. He has been making a tour of the Newtonville girls who secured a sample "pair" is the envy of her friends.

—At the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, preaching by the pastor, Rev. Franklin Hamilton, both morning and evening. Morning topic at 10:45 "The Singing of Birds," evening topic at 7:30 "Some Heroes Today." The evening service is a popular service for everybody. All seats free. Special solo and music each evening.

—A subscription party, under the auspices of the Lend-a-hand, was given in Denison hall, Tuesday evening. It was a most enjoyable social function, dancing lasting until midnight. Refreshments were served and music was furnished by an orchestra. The hall was tastefully decorated and presented a very attractive appearance. The managers were Mrs. H. C. Fisher and Mrs. H. N. Hyde.

—This is a story of a "copper" who caught a little lad with a peculiar disposition to assimilate a quantity of the metal of that name. The lad was Thomas Malloy, his age 12 years, his position somewhat after the style of the little chaps educated by Fakin the Jew, and so cleverly described in "Oliver Twist" by Charles Dickens. It was on Wednesday morning, Tommie took some copper from the premises of H. W. Orr on Washington street. Patrolman Soule found it out and the sequel was a distressing one for Tommie. He was brought before Judge Kennedy yesterday morning and fined $5.

—The third Baptist Conference was held at Denison hall, Sunday, April 19th, at 3 p. m., with a good attendance. It was unanimously voted to hold a preaching service next Sunday at 3 p. m. There will be a half hour's song service preceding the sermon. Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Briggs, soprano and tenor of the old Cambridge Baptist church, will sing. Mrs. Briggs is singing a solo, Miss Preble of Waltham, pianist. It is expected that the Rev. John A. McElwaine, assistant pastor of Clarendon Baptist church, Boston, will preach. Bring Gospel Hymn Books. The public are cordially invited. Seats free.

—All who knew her will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Mary Abby Brooks, who passed away suddenly and peacefully shortly after rising, on Tuesday morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Tompion of Otis street. Mrs. Brooks was a native of Portsmouth, N. H., and for the larger part of her long life resided there, but since the death of her husband, Mr. Frank W. Miller and Mrs. Elizabeth P. Seavey, has made her home with the family of her only surviving sister, Mrs. Tompion. Possessed of many graces of mind and rare sweetness of disposition, of calm and equable temperament, firm yet gentle, and a stranger to the spirit of censoriousness, she grew old gracefully and beautifully, and was beloved by all who knew her, and most of all by those who knew her best. Her remains were taken to Portsmouth for interment.

—Mr. G. H. Loomis, the Newtonville real estate broker, has recently invented and patented a novelty in the way of a serving tray, a regular "double-decker" with upper and lower sections for serving food and drinks with much more convenience than the old time salver. It is carried with a ball cross handle, requiring only one hand and so capacious as to contain all the dishes needed for a first-class epique. It is so constructed, automatically, that when not in use the upper shelf drops into the lower, appearing as a single tray. It has a device for keeping food warm when sent to the invalid chamber or for summer use to keep cool. Mr. Loomis calls it The Ideal Serving Tray, and for the home, the hospital, hotels, restaurants and dining cars, etc., it must prove a useful and welcome waiter's assistant.

—The Loyal Additional Benefit Association, which is open to members of the Royal Arcanum for additional insurance of $100 or $200, was organized with twenty-five charter members in Denison hall Wednesday evening. This society was instituted by Past Chancellor J. R. Robson. The following officers were installed by sub-chancellor William A. Tomkins of Rutherford, New Jersey: Counselor J. B. Robson; V. C., J. W. Hamilton; orator, Dr. Frank Lord; sitting past counselor, F. H. Ratcliff; recorder, H. E. Sisson; treasurer, F. L. Nagle; collector, George W. Brown; chaplain, H. A. Boynton; marshal, J. A. Evans; guard, M. D. B. S. Jones; sentinel, J. B. Taylor; trustees for one, two and three years respectively, F. B. Jones, D. E. Baker and J. B. Taylor. —The regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held this afternoon in the Unitarian church parlors. The exercises were under the auspices of the class in Current Events. A summary of their work during the past year was given by several members of the class.

—Two boys have already received injuries from playing on the trestle now in progress of construction through Eddy's yard. A little son of Patrolman Kiley fell to the ground, breaking his arm, and the son of William Ahern caught his hand between the timbers, severely crushing some of the bones.

—Bernard Peters, a prominent West Newton vendor of man, died at the Newton Hospital Tuesday morning after an illness of several weeks. He was 28 years old, and had lived all his life in West Newton. He was employed as a freecor at 44 Oliver street, Boston, the county president, occupied the place of a prominent business man of this place.

—A surprise party was given Miss Sarah McDonald, Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mr. J. O'Brien on Cherry street. Miss McDonald was presented with a handsome banquet lamp, to which she responded in a few well chosen words. Whist was enjoyed during the evening. Miss Annie Gibbons and Mr. Sutherland carrying away the first honors.

—The funeral of Mr. John Ghant was held Saturday afternoon in the Myrtle Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Offley, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church, Boston, conducted the services. The remains were taken to Attleboro for interment. Services were held in the Methodist church in that place under the direction of Newton Lodge G. U. O. F.

LOOKED LIKE A LIAR.

BUT THIS WAS A CASE WHERE LOOKS WERE MISLEADING.

A Little Irishman Who Claimed Acquaintance With a Champion Pugilist—His Employer, Who Was Used to the Gloves, Disputed the Claim.

"I was reading a clever little sketch the other day about a man who told big stories which were not believed by his acquaintances, and it reminded me of an experience I had once when I was considerably younger," remarked Robert D. Wilson, the active Orleans county politician, when in a reminiscent mood the other day.

"It was like this: About the first contract I ever took was one to build a church in a small town in western New York near Lake Ontario. My partner and I employed a good force of men, and among others a good natured, rather dapper little Irishman, who applied for work shortly after we got the walls started.

"He was not a skilled workman, but a good, active helper, and he struck me at the time as being one of the most entertaining and cheerful liars I had ever been my pleasure to meet. One of his favorite tales was to the effect that he was for three years trainer and boxing partner of the famous pugilist Jean Mace and had seconded the one time champion in two of his most notable battles. He rattled off names, places, dates and incidents in the most offhand manner imaginable, which, as we had no means of verifying his statements, he was perfectly safe in doing. Of course we took what he said with a large grain of salt and enjoyed drawing him out.

"One thing about the old fellow struck me as peculiar—we could never induce him under any consideration to join in any of the friendly little sparring contests which we occasionally indulged in at the little country hotel, after our day's work was done. By no subterfuge could we induce him to stick his hands in the big mittens, although he was always present at our exercises and took delight in making slighting comments upon our skill.

"This got rather monotonous after awhile, and we set about devising a plan for teaching the old fellow a lesson. When he was sober, we knew there was no chance of getting the gloves on him, but he usually got moderately full on Saturday evenings, and we concocted a scheme to give him an earlier start one Saturday afternoon, so that by the time supper was over he was considerably exhilarated. I was just out of a gymnasium at the time, and was considered a pretty clever boxer. The boys all went to work at him, and after a good many drinks and a lot of coaxing and cajoling they finally got him to put on the gloves and spar a bit with me.

"Sail in, Larry," I said. "Don't be afraid to hit me." And I winked at the boys and went at him. He was easier than I expected. His guard seemed very poor, and several times I rapped him harder than I should, but it seemed a good plan to teach the old blowhard a good lesson. After awhile I got a bit tired of the one sidedness of it. I registered about every time I found an opening, while the Irishman's punches were all wild and of no account. Finally I decided that we had had fun enough and made up my mind to give him a good chin-chopper, lay him out and quit. So I watched for an opening, and when I saw one a minute later, I aimed as heavy a blow as I could strike and let go.

"Well, say, I don't know even to this day what became of that punch, for at that moment something struck me on the neck, and for the next 30 seconds I experienced all of the sensations of Don Quixote when he had the mix up with the windmill, for that little Irishman was dancing around me and delivering undercuts, overcuts, chin choppers, side-winders, ear-muffs, straight drives and long arm body blows faster than I could feel them, while I panted the air in an attempt at defense.

"I think the boys said it was 42 seconds before I was lying in the corner, limp and entirely out, but it was three days before I was out—at work again. I was sorry to find that the agile little Irishman had disappeared immediately after I dropped asleep. He evidently feared trouble, but I never would have made any. In fact, I'd have liked to take a few lessons from him, but I've never had the mitts on from that day to this.

"I don't know now whether that little Irishman was telling the truth or not, but I have my suspicions about the matter."—Medina (N. Y.) Cor. New York Press.

Easily Bused.

The business depression of the past few years has been the evolution of a large crop of employment seekers. One of them last week accosted a gentleman in this city. He was ragged, dirty, good natured, evidently hungry enough to eat a cow if it were in his way. But his soft slouchiness of gait rendered any active exertion on his part highly improbable. This impression was strengthened by the dialogue that followed:

"Good morning, sir," said he. "I'd like a job with you, sir."

"Well, there is not much doing just now—hardly anything, in fact, in my line. I couldn't give you much to do. I couldn't keep you busy."

"Indeed, sir, it would take very little to keep me busy."—New London Telegraph.

Intermittent Ownership.

"Do you own your own home?" asked the passenger with the yellow diamond, who makes a business of selling real estate.

"I do every Thursday," said the other passenger.

"Eh—what?"

"I own it every Thursday. That's Mary Ann's afternoon out."—Indianapolis Journal.

THEIR OWN PHYSICIANS.

Self Doctoring Promoted by the Use of Medicines in Compressed Tablets.

Not only has the general introduction of medicine in the form of compressed tablets simplified the work of the doctor, but it has also vastly promoted self doctoring. The number of remedies put up in this form for popular use constantly increases. Many druggists make a specialty of these things. You see them displayed near the soda water fountain, put up in small bottles and sold at prices that must yield a handsome profit. Half a dozen remedies for indigestion are thus sold, some containing pepsin as the active principle, others containing soda mint, some bismuth, some charcoal or more powerful disinfectants. Some are intended to remove acidity of the stomach; others to attack a catarrhal condition. Others are to provoke appetite, and still others are to promote one or another natural function. A dozen headache cures are sold in this fashion, and the different emollients for the throat are almost innumerable. There are grip tablets, liver tablets, heart, lung and brain tablets.

Persons who have eschewed patent medicines all their lives buy these tablets of one sort or another, because most of them are supposed to be well recognized remedies. Most of the tablets are advertised only in medical journals, in accordance with the requirements of the medical code, and many of them, no doubt, have obtained their popularity through their use by reputable physicians.

Quinine, which is now extremely cheap, is sold largely in the form of two grain pills or in larger pills containing iron. Although believed by many physicians to be a dangerous remedy, it has long been self prescribed by all sorts of persons, especially in malarial regions, and it is one of the remedies most frequently bought without prescription. It is self prescribed for malaria in its many forms, to check a cold in its early stages, and as a tonic.

Stimulants of one sort or another are sold in this form, but more especially perhaps at the soda fountain, which has become a sort of medical dispensary. Many headache remedies are dispensed at the soda fountain. Some are recommended or suggested by the attendant, but many persons have their favorites among the various sedatives and febrifuges, and some are called for as regularly as the fruit sirups. New remedies are constantly introduced through the soda fountains, and many old ones have long been included in the annually lengthening list of the soda water dispensers.—New York Sun.

IN A BALLOON.

The Sensations That Are Superinduced by Its Rising and Falling.

A dim sunlight strikes us in the balloon. Suddenly we realize we are in bright sunshine again, with fleecy white clouds below us and a deep blue sky above. Look at the shadow of the balloon on the clouds! See the light prismatic colors like a halo around the shadow of the car. Here we are all alone, in perfect silence, in the depths of a great abyss—massive clouds towering up on all sides, a snowy white mass below. But no sign of earth—no sign of anything human. Not a sound, not a sign of life! What peace! What bliss! Horrors! What's that report? The balloon must have burst. Oh, nonsense! Keep still! It's only a fold of the stuff nipped by the netting being suddenly released; that's all.

Well, we are falling, for see the bits of paper apparently ascending. And we must take care, for the coldness and dampness of this cloud will cause the gas to contract, and we shall fall rapidly. So get a bag of ballast ready, for we are already in the darkness of the cloud. Now the gas bag shrinks and writhes, and the loose folds rustle together, and it gets darker. You can feel the breeze blowing upward against your face or hand held over the edge of the car. Well, that's not to be wondered at, for remember we are falling, say 1,000 feet a minute, which is the same thing as if we were going along ten miles an hour sitting in a dogcart. Not quite the same, you say—you'd sooner be in the cart? Well, perhaps if the horse were going straight at a wall, without the possibility of being able to stop him, you would think otherwise. But look! There is the earth again; so out with your ballast. Go on! Pour out plenty; there's no good economizing.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Mark Twain's Latest.

The authorship of "The Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc," which has been appearing serially in Harper's Monthly during the last year, and which has been credited to nearly every well known author, is finally determined. Volume 6 of the National Encyclopedia of American Biography, a work of great accuracy that it may be considered official, contains a new biography of Mr. Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) which enumerates this work in the list of his publications.

Good Digestion.

A good digestion is as truly obligatory as a good conscience; pure blood is as truly a part of manhood as a pure faith; a vigorous brain is as necessary to useful living as a vigorous will, which it often helps to make vigorous, and a well ordered skin is the first condition of that cleanliness which is next to godliness.—H. W. Beecher.

Daddy—I believe you. I never lay down a rule at the store but most of the clerks take exception to it.—Boston Transcript.

A Misleading Report.

"I hear the colonel is a hard drinker."

"Huh! He's the easiest drinker I ever saw in my life."—Detroit Tribune.

WOMAN TO WOMAN.

Women are being taught by bitter experience that many physicians cannot successfully handle their peculiar ailments known as female diseases. Doctors are willing and anxious to help them, but they are the wrong sex to work understandingly.

When the woman of to-day experiences such symptoms as backache, nervousness, lassitude, whites, irregular or painful menstruation, bearing-down sensation, palpitation, "all gone" feeling and blues, she at once takes Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, feeling sure of obtaining immediate relief.

Should her symptoms be new to her, she writes to a woman, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., who promptly explains her case, and tells her free how to get well.

Indeed, so many women are now appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, that a score of lady secretaries are kept constantly at work answering the great volume of correspondence which comes in every day. Each letter is answered carefully and accurately, as Mrs. Pinkham fully realizes that a life may depend upon her reply, and into many and many a home has she shed the rays of happiness.

St. Bernard Dogs.

Mr. I. W. Conney of Oakland street has entered his fine string of St. Bernards in the Dog Show held in Boston this week. Besides giving a picture of the dogs in a group the Boston Herald has the following to say of them:
Perhaps the strongest string to be shown is that of Waban Kennels, which includes Jim Blaine, Jr., Gov. Russell, Dictator, Lady Elspeth and Landseer—all magnificent specimens of the genus. An idea of the appearance of this collection of handsome St. Bernards may be obtained from the accompanying cut. Jim Blaine, Jr., although not yet 3 years old, is the chief winner of the lot. He is a "chip of the old block"—Jim Blaine, a noted imported St. Bernard. The son was special at the Boston show last year, first at Providence and second at Danbury. "Gov. Russell" was whelped Nov. 3, 1891, the day that William E. Russell was elected Governor over Halle. He (the dog) has a very fine, typical head, well marked, and his legs and feet are perfect. He stands 33 1/2 inches at the shoulder and weighs in the neighborhood of 170 pounds. Dictator is the largest in the kennel and also the tallest, and will be the giant dog of the show. He is only 22 months old, but weighs 180 pounds and stands 33 1/2 inches. Erect on his hind legs, he is taller than a man. In the recent New York show he took fourth in the open class, and a silver medal for best under 3 years of age. His sire is Ch. Kingston Regent—dam, Aradene. He is rich in color, well marked, and when he attains his growth will crowd the best for first. Lady Elspeth is a handsome little sister of Dictator, is perfectly marked and took second at Providence, the only time shown. Landseer, a son of Gov. Russell, although entered, will not be shown, owing to a sprained leg.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything, but it will cure piles. That's what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People does. It has done it in hundreds of cases. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; W. P. Thorne, Auburndale.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. MARY M. ANDERSON GRANT.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mary M. Grant were held at the family residence, Nevada street, on Saturday, April 18, at 2 p. m. Rev. J. M. Dutton of the Central Congregational church officiated. Favorite hymns of the departed were rendered by young ladies of the Karma Koterie, assisted by Mrs. Freda B. Fisher. An address in eulogy of the deceased was made by Mr. F. F. Davidson of Auburndale, in which tender allusions were made to the womanly virtues of her whose many friends had gathered to do honor to her memory. Mr. Davidson took for the keynote of his remarks the thirty-first verse of Proverbs xxxi: "Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her in the gates." Mrs. Grant had been for three years past a sufferer from bronchial consumption and since the sudden death of her husband in May '95 had gradually but surely failed. In spirit she had been present with him and longed daily for the perfect rest that should take her from her weakness and the weariness of living without his visible presence.

Kind friends, relatives and neighbors, sought by every means to minister to her comfort, but all realized that she lived only in the hope of going hence. She had always been most kind and active and helpful toward others, and when weakness prevented further ministrations she felt that God had ended her life work and that she had only to wait patiently for Him to take her home.

The interment was made at Newton's beautiful cemetery, where amid sunshine and the singing of birds tender friends looked for the last time upon the face that never before had failed to respond cheerily to their look. Prayer was offered by Mr. Davidson and each friend dropped into the grave upon the casket a little spray of evergreen taken from the trees that stand before the windows of her late home. Masses of beautiful flowers from loving friends were laid upon the grave.

"They only know that God is love Who learn that God is rest."

"Half a span of angry steel" will produce no more fatal results than a neglected cold or cough. For all throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy. It is invaluable in cases of croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and influenza.

Will of Late John W. Carter.

The will of the late John W. Carter of West Newton, who died in the summer of 1895, provided that if the estate of the testator exceeded $250,000, after allowing for certain legacies and a bequest in trust for the education of his children, the excess to the amount of $50,000 should be given to a number of educational and charitable institutions named in the will, the sum to be paid to each being designated. Among the legatees was Harvard College, $25,000. The Institute of Technology was also one of the beneficiaries.

The executors of the will have filed their account, from which it appears that the entire estate is valued at $255,040.10, which will probably leave less than $20,000 for paying the public bequests. The will provides that in case there is not a sufficient sum to pay all the public bequests, each bequest shall abate proportionally.

R. H. Stearns' Reception to Rev. Mr. Davis.

Rev. William H. Davis, D. D., the new pastor of the Eliot church had the pleasure Tuesday evening of meeting 300 prominent business men and clergymen of Boston, Newton and vicinity. Mr. R. H. Stearns, the well known dry goods merchant of Boston, who is an active member of the Eliot church, gave a reception in honor of Dr. Davis at Hotel Vendome, Boston, at which the new pastor received a cordial welcome to his new field of labor. The reception party which greeted the guests of the evening in the white room, consisted of Mr. Stearns, Mayor Henry E. Cobb and Dr. Davis. The Boston Ideal Banjo, Guitar and Mandolin Club furnished music, and refreshments were served during the evening. Through Mr. Stearns' kindly forethought the new pastor, who comes here from Detroit, and who was installed only last week, was enabled to make many new acquaintances, and enjoyed to the utmost this example of New England hospitality.

Among those present were: Deacon A. A. Sweet, G. D. Gilman, William J. Rollett, Hiram E. Barker, Charles O. Tucker, Thomas Weston, Fred L. Trowbridge, Charles S. Ensign, Kirk W. Hobart, G. B. —Rev. Edward M. Noyes was elected a director of the Congregational Sunday school society at its annual meeting held in Boston this week.
—The fire department was called out Monday afternoon on a brush fire on the Wardwell estate which was extinguished without damage.
—Mrs. Clark of Newtonville assisted by Mr. John W. Threshie gave a very pleasing entertainment in Clark's hall, Monday evening, before an appreciative audience.
—The electricists did a very lucrative business Patriots day in carrying spectators to the N. A. A. grounds. On one car with a seating capacity of forty, over a hundred fares were rung in.
—There are letters in the postoffice for Joseph J. Cooper, Dennis Hooley, Mrs. J. R. Hurd, Hannah McCarthy, Henry McLean, A. A. McSherry, Chas. F. Randall, Annie B. Stewart and C. E. Stiles.
—Rev. Luther Freeman, the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, preached his first sermon in that church Sunday morning. In the evening Rev. Dr. Huntington offered prayer.
—The Newton Y. M. C. A. held its "Hayseed Karnival" before a small audience in Bray's hall last evening. The size of the audience did not affect the performers however, and they sustained the good reputation which they won by their excellent work at Newton.
—Most of the residents of this place celebrated Patriots day by attending the athletic meets and base ball games of the different associations and watching the golfers on Institution hill. An account of the different sports will be found elsewhere.
—Master Harold Plimpton, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Plimpton, of Summer street, was struck on the head by a base ball while playing with some companions, Monday morning. The ball struck him just back of the ear and the wound will prove very severe if not dangerous.
—A public meeting of the Newton Christian Endeavor Union will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the First church. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Lansing of Boston, Rev. H. C. Farrar, D. D., of Albany and Rev. E. M. Noyes the newly elected president. The exercises will be followed by a reception and social.
—The Newton Centre Athletic Club, composed of a large number of boys residing in this place, held a meet on the playground Monday morning. The sports were very interesting and attracted a large number of spectators. The principal events were the one mile bicycle and the 100 yards dash. The former was won by Master Carl Knapp and the latter by Master John Powers.
—The Golf Club held a members' tournament Monday afternoon, to determine handicaps for the coming season. The course was over the club grounds, on the eastern slope of Institution hill, and medal display was followed. The course is nine holes, and in the tournament women went around once and men twice. Fifty members competed. The first men's prize was won by C. W. Royce in 138 strokes and the first for women by Mrs. E. R. Bishop in 117 strokes.

—The Newton Amateur Association held its first meet on the playground on the afternoon of Patriots day. All the events were closed and the results recorded as very satisfactory by the management in view of the condition of the grounds. A large number were on hand to encourage the contestants and applaud the winners. The judges were Messrs. Geo. C. Armstrong and R. G. Huggard; starter, Albert Reed; time keeper, J. W. Beverley. The events were as follows: the winner of each receiving a silver medal. Shot won by R. Ross, distance 31 ft. 5 in.; L. H. Griffith, second; one mile bicycle race won by Norman Griffith, time 2 m. 55 s.; W. McAskill, second; two mile bicycle race won by E. Armstrong, time 7 m. 5 s.; L. Russell, second; 100 yds. dash won by R. W. Polly, time 13 s.; J. F. Fennessey, second; hop, skip and jump won by N. H. Armstrong, distance 36 ft. 10 in.; E. Armstrong, second; 440 yds. run won by R. W. Polly, time 1 m. 5 s.; T. F. Hurley, second; broad jump won by J. F. Fennessey, F. Fitzpatrick, second. The meet was closed by a ball game between the Association nine and the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. the visitors winning by a score of 18 to 4. The home team was handicapped by the absence of three of its best men and as this was the first game it has played this season, nothing better could be expected. The Newton team did not propose to stay in this condition long and there is no doubt that their opponents in the next game will be given a hard rub.

REAL ESTATE.

At present there is quite a demand for seashore property, and in consequence a number of lots have found new owners. Hyde's real estate agency has just sold for William O. Tuttle of Newton a lot of about 600 square feet on R street, Point Allerton, Hall, to Maud L. Blood of Somerville, who buys for investment on private terms. The same agency has also sold a vacant lot containing about 25,000 square feet on Needham street, near the corner of Winchester street, Newton Highlands, belonging to Mary E. Hale, the buyer being Henry W. Crowell, who also owns the property adjoining. The property has a fine location, and will be developed by Mr. Crowell for his business. The consideration was private.

—The members of the Shakespeare Club, who have recently been making a thorough study of Macbeth, attended the Tremont Theatre last evening to see that play as rendered by the Irving-Terry company.

—The new sewer development on Columbus street is attracting a good deal of attention, being the first to be obtained from surface water overflow at the lower end of the street will be fully appreciated by the residents of that vicinity as well. By Mrs. Cobb and Mr. Holmes who have built so many houses in that district.
—The entertainment at the Clubhouse on Monday evening by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Highland Club was a rattling success, especially when "A Cook" dropped all her dishes on the floor, and pleased the large audience to a high degree. Young Mr. Charlie Johnson's impersonations were finely rendered. There is still room for forty or fifty more members in the Highland Club. Now is the time for gentlemen to send in their names for membership. The fortnightly entertainments as given by the club, free to every member and their ladies during the last two years, have been most highly appreciated.

They have been making preparations since Christmas, and all articles placed on sale will be the results of their own handwork. The proceeds will be devoted to some charitable object.

—Mr. Edward Saltonstall, who left here some weeks ago with his family for his former home in England, to recover his health, died in Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England, Friday of last week. The deceased had been a resident of this place for over five years, and an employee of the Benis mills during that time. When he left his fellow employees and friends presented him with a purse of $95. He had been suffering with consumption for some time, which ultimately caused his death.

The Waltham Hospital Fair.

Newton people are cordially invited to pay at least one visit to the worthy charity, the Waltham Hospital Fair, during the coming week. The physicians on the staff give their services gratuitously for the benefit of the patients, and hundreds of poor people in the city of Waltham can testify their return to health was brought about through the excellent care and nursing while in that establishment.

In many, many instances their recovery would have been impossible had they been obliged to submit to the poverty and privations of home surroundings.

The depression of business during the past few years, has seriously crippled the revenue of the Hospital, and the finance committee of the Ladies' Hospital Aid finally decided to hold a grand fair, inviting each church and society in Waltham to co-operate with them by furnishing a table. The appeal met with the heartiest response, every denomination in the city being represented. The management hope to see Newton people well represented during the week of the fair, and we have no hesitation in saying their appeal will not be made in vain.

West Newton Houses.

Two handsome new houses on the hill at West Newton will be sold at public auction on Saturday, May 2. See advertisement.

Death of Robert L. Day.

Mr. Robert L. Day, senior member of the banking house of R. L. Day & Co., Boston and New York, died at his home at Framingham at 3 p. m. Sunday, aged 76 years. Mr. Day was noted for his philanthropy and gave with a liberal hand to all church and charitable objects. His end was quite sudden, as he dropped dead in the bathroom at his house.

He was born in Lansingburg, N. Y., his parents being on a visit to that place at the time, but he was practically a Boston boy, having lived within the city and its environs all his life. He was first employed by C. A. White, a Boston dry goods merchant, and afterward became bookkeeper for the Shoe and Leather Dealers bank, where he remained until 1853, when he accepted the position of cashier of the Eliot National Bank, Boston, resigning in 1855, when he founded the banking house of R. L. Day & Co., one of the most prosperous banking houses in Boston.

For the past 10 years Mr. Day had not been actively connected with the house which bears his name, his two sons assuming charge of the firm.
Mr. Day was a resident of Newton from 1847 until 1874, when he bought a valuable estate at Framingham. He owned $60,000 worth of real estate in Framingham, and was worth several hundred thousand dollars besides. The sons surviving him are Henry L. and Frank. His wife died about two years ago.

He was a member of Grace Congregational church, and was greatly interested in missionary and benevolent objects, giving very liberally. Two weeks ago, on Easter Sunday, he subscribed $500 to the foreign missions collection at Grace church. He also contributed largely to the support of Dwight L. Moody's Bible training school at Northfield.
